The witnesses were exsmined in relation to the objections of the contestee's attorneys to the recounting of the hallots of 11 different districts of Weber county, where the sals had been found to be loose or the esvelopes worn through at the edges, Through all the proceedings the attorneys for Howell have taken care to ming out the fact that various persons had access to the vault where the balhad access to the vault was shown that hots were kept. It was shown that hewspapermen, abstractors and attor-hors frequently went in there in search of data, and that sometimes they were of data, and that sometimes they were aft alone in the vault. Judge Powers and C. C. Richards, the attorneys for Himer, therefore sprung a mild sensition by calling to the stand the attorneys for Howell and Howell hinself and interrogating them on the question whether they had been in the habit of satering the vault, and if they saw the billots there; also if they opened any of the packages, if they handled the tallots, or if they knew who had. Rockland, Oneida Co., Idaho, Feb. 20.—
Our Old Folks' party, held some few week ago, was a decided success. All our aged parents and grandparents were shown due honor and respect.

An entertaining program was prepared and rendered.

Among the pleasing features of the day were many beautiful verses composed and recited by John N. Morris, a man nearly $2 years of age. While he recited with such vim and vigor we little knew that it would be only a few minutes ere he would be suramoned to the other side. After meeting he complained that he felt sick and when taken to his daughter's, Mrs. H. P. Houtz, he expired in a few minutes without pain. He was buried Jan. 30, a large gathering of the people coming to pay their last respects to the departed.

The deceased was well known here and throughout Malad valley and Brigham City. He was quite a poet and took great pleasure in the gift. Elder Morris was a traveling Elder in Wales seven years before he came to Utah, 49 years ago.

Feb, 19, 1905.

Most of the members of the family and a few invited guests were in attendance, and an interesting program was rendered, which lasted until late in the evening. The couple again went through a ceremony of marriage, and their five-year-old grandson gave away the bride. A letter from their daughter, Mrs. Gamble, who was unable to be present; and one from Mrs. Guild's brother, Paul Cardon, of Benson, Cache county, Utah, in which the couple were invited to spend their honeymoon in Benson, were read. A reminiscent peem, written by Miss Mamle France, aged 10 years, of Centerville, Utah, was read.

Presents appropriate for the occasion were prepared by the children, grand-children, and great-grandchildren, during the presentation of which the old folks were overcome with joy and gratitude. Mrs. Guild related an interesting narrative of her experiences during the Journey from Italy to Utah; while Elder Guild invoked Divine blessings upon his posterity. He was born in Dundee, Scotland, April 14, 1826, and joined the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-duy Saints, in December, 1853, and left his native land for Utah, the following April. —The people of Jewett now have a comfortable house to meet in and it looks as though they were going to progress spiritually as well as temporally.

They have here a rich and well watered little valley with a good climate and what is now wanted are a few more pushing, enterprising citizens who will aid in developing the resources of the place. Ranches can be purchased at a reasonable price that will soon, by proper cultivation, pay for themselves.

The climate is very equable, the temperature rarely goes below zero, and yet in summer it rarely gets excessively hot. Melons and tender fruits and vegetables grow to perfection, and the apples are unexcelled for quality and flayer.

The valley is about five miles long by a mile and a half wide, and the soil is light colored clay and sandy loam, rich and fertile.
