

EDITORIAL NOTES.
 The New York Legislature has passed a bill to retire and pension school teachers over seventy years of age.
 The United States Supreme Court disposed of 387 cases—some of them very important ones, involving real estate—at the last term.
 It is strange, but nevertheless true, that Arkansas has doubled its population in the last ten years, and is ranked as the fourth cotton State in the Union.
 The Mexican Government has contracted with a French firm for improving Vera Cruz harbor at a cost of $10,047,000. The work is to be finished in twelve years.
 In ten years the wheat acreage of the United States has nearly doubled, 19,000,000 acres being the number reported at the beginning, and 38,000,000 at the end of the decade.
 The Boston Herald remarks that it is estimated that there are 1,000 cases of divorce pending in this State. There is a great deal of rottenness in Massachusetts outside of Tewksbury.
 People who have wondered what Jay Gould would do if he were a yachtsman at the Atlantic, are informed by a western writer that he is intended for use in getting around among his watered stock.
 If a fellow feels disposed to burn his own house out in Arkansas, he cannot be punished for arson. The courts have decided that the offense to be criminal, according to State laws, must be committed on the property of another.
 Senator Edmunds is expected to pass through Ogden shortly on his way to the Pacific Coast. The Omaha Bee advises him to stop at Salt Lake. We echo the advice without endorsing the Bee's reasons for it. The Senator might learn something profitable on the "Mormon" question, providing that he would look at things with his own eyes and find out facts for himself, instead of giving himself up to unscrupulous anti-"Mormons" to be stuffed full of fiction, as is the usual custom with travelers. Generally twenty-four hours' sojourners in Salt Lake City know less of the true position of the "Mormons" than they did before arriving.

LITERARY NOTICES.
 The Magazine of Art continues to be a first-class work in every respect; the engravings it contains are beautifully executed and it is a genuine treat to grace any table or library. By the way, Cassell, Pether, Galigny & Co., the publishers of New York London and Paris, have organized into a joint stock company under the firm name of Cassell and Company, Limited. They announce the publication of the following works: Modern Masters, their trials and triumphs, by Robert Young, with introduction by Rev. James H. Wilson, D. D. Edinburgh, containing over 450 pages, with map and illustrations, in one large 12mo volume Price $2.00. My Object in Life, by Canon Farrer; My Work for God, by Bishop Cotterill; My Aspirations, by Rev. Geo. Matheson, D. D.; My Emotional Life, by Rev. Fred Chadwick, D. D.; My Body, by Prof. W. G. Blake, D. D.; My Debt to the Divine Life, by Rev. Dean Boyle. Each volume contains 128 pages, neatly bound in cloth, red edges, price 40 cents each; the series, called Heart Chords, will consist of about 12 vols. in all.

The June number of the Modern Age comes to us from New York City. It has succeeded so well that it has changed its headquarters to the commercial capital. The change of locality has made no change in the excellence of the magazine. It is entertaining, chaste and bright, and good judgment is displayed in its selections and arrangements. Modern Age Publishing Company, New York; $1.00 per annum.

The June number of the North American Review opens with an article by Joseph Nimmio, Jr., Chief of the Treasury Bureau of Statistics, on "American Manufacturing Interests," in which is given a full and instructive historical sketch of the rise and progress of manufactures in the United States, together with a very effective presentation of their present condition, and of the agency of tariff legislation in promoting the inventive genius of the people. Should this author's advocacy of protective legislation prove distasteful, the reader finds the needed corrective in an article by the Hon. Wm. M. Springer, on "Incidental Taxation," which is an argument for free trade. "Present Aspects of College Training," "Abuse of Circumstances," "Herbert Spencer's Facts and Inferences" in social and political science, "A Few Words about Public Singing," and a symposium on "The Moral Influence of the Drama" are the other articles of this interesting number. New York: 30 Lafayette Place; Salt Lake City, James Dryer.

The Overland Monthly for June is full of good things, printed on fine paper, in a clear readable type. Its current comments and reviews are on a par with the general excellence of the magazine. It is the monthly for readers on the Pacific Coast, and is worthy the patronage of the public all over the continent. Samuel Carson, publisher, San Francisco. For sale at Jas. Dryer's.

A CAUSELESS RUMOR.

THE San Francisco Chronicle, always alive for sensations, seized upon the arrival of some "Mormon" immigrants from New Zealand, who were joined at Hawaii by some Sandwich Islanders, to work up an excitement over an alleged case of leprosy among the latter. The company was in charge of Elder William Burnett, returning missionary to New Zealand. All passed the quarantine officer without detention, but some officious person who claimed to know all about leprosy, called upon Brother Burnett, and insisted upon examining a boy who he claimed was affected with that terrible disease. Having no authority to back his impudent demand, he was not permitted to do so, and the reporter was informed that the boy in question had nothing the matter with him but some fever sores.

The company arrived here to-day, the Sandwich Islanders being relatives of Kanakas residing here. An attempt had been made to raise a scare in this city on the ground, work laid by the Chronicle, who requested some gentlemen who had resided on the Sandwich Islands and who are familiar with the language of the people and the symptoms, signs and characteristics of the disease, to meet the train and examine the boys. They unanimously decided that the eruptions on his arms have no resemblance to leprosy. The lad is evidently in poor health and needs attention, but he is not a leper. It is not probable that the President of the mission on the islands would allow a leper to emigrate to Utah with the members of the Church, and if such a case should occur he would certainly send word of it to this city. There need be no alarm on that head.

Another point that should be looked at is the rumor that certain persons are trying to spread, to the effect that leprosy is a contagious disease, likely to be communicated by merely touching the clothes of the patient, and that the mere presence of a leper in a company of persons is enough to spread the disease among the community. There is nothing in it. If lepers should come here and the people were as corrupt and ignorant as some of these blabberers and alarmists, there might be danger of the spread of the loathsome disease. It is in consequence of the licentiousness of the Kanakas that it is so prevalent among them. But ordinary contact will not cause infection. Our Elders have mingled with the natives, eaten food prepared by persons afflicted, slept in blankets that they have used, visited the leper settlements, shaken hands with the victims in every stage, conversed with them, and placed themselves in a condition to contract the disease if it could be received by ordinary contact. But no one has ever heard of an Elder being afflicted with the dread disease. Many whites, however, have been smitten because they had no regard for virtue or self-respect. It is possible to be infected by inoculation. An open wound or sore touched by the virus might imbibe the poison, but ordinary mingling with its victims is not dangerous.

So much on this disagreeable subject. The sufferings and wasting away of the native population of the Sandwich Isles are the natural effects of the seeds of vice they have sown in their own bodies. Only a remnant will be saved. And the work of this redemption will be accomplished through the labors of the devoted Elders of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, who preach and set an example to the natives of personal chastity and cleanliness, proclaim the Gospel of Christ, teach industry and guide them in by practice, and by permission of the native authorities gather a few of them to Zion, where they can learn the ways of God and enter in the great plan of redemption for the living and the dead of their own fallen race and kindred.

AN IMPORTANT MEDICAL DISCOVERY.
 In the town of Lake, near Chicago, there have been a number of deaths recently from pulmonary, or "consumption," fever. They attracted general attention. Several of them occurring about the same time were inquired into, and it was found that the same doctor had attended the unfortunate cases.

It is now claimed that pulmonary fever is contagious. This is denied by the physician who lost these cases, but others maintain that the contagion is so exceedingly subtle that it can be carried in the physician's hair, also, that there is very little difference between pulmonary fever and pertussis. The Chief of the Board of Health has requested the physician who lost the patients to desist for awhile to practice in such cases.

Doctors differ about a great many things, and their views are not always to be relied upon. But whether this often fatal disease is contagious or not, in view of the possibility thereof and the exceedingly sensitive condition of ladies just become mothers and their consequent liability to contagion, would it not be wise for doctors and midwives attending persons afflicted with that disorder, to use the same precautions as to disinfection as in cases under their care which they know to be contagious? We think this matter worthy the attention of our local physicians, for if there is one kind of mortality more afflictive than another, it is the taking away of a fond mother just rejoicing over her new-born babe.

 CINCINNATI, 22.—Saw on the hill tops fall last night and lay on the roofs and trees to a depth of one to two inches. Many branches of trees were broken down. Snow is still visible this morning, but was about all gone by 10 o'clock leaving no sign of blight on leaves or fruit. The temperature has risen to 44; still cloudy.

MURDEROUS INTENT.

WILLIAMSBURG, O., 22.—Mrs. R. J. McMillin, of Louisville, Kentucky, while in a fit of temporary insanity drowned her two children in a well, then took poison herself. There is no hope of her recovery. The children were aged 3 and 6 years.

Washington, 22.—Interior Secretary Thompson's presence of Richard Croker in Washington, and the fact that he spent some time with President Arthur this evening, has caused some comment among politicians. It was reported not long since that a breach had occurred between the President and Croker, and that the latter would not soon, if ever be absented. The cause of the trouble was never made clear, and afterward Croker denied that any difference existed between him and the President. It is stated to-night, however, that a conference did spring up between the two as to a misunderstanding regarding some matters of importance to Croker's constituents, and that Attorney General Croker helped to widen the gap. The statement, however, is very indefinite and the fact that Croker has been seen at the White House very recently, and in close conversation with the President strengthens the belief that the rumor of disruption has little if any foundation; but the long interview of to-night has given any other class of gossip—the cabinet makers and breakers—a theme. They say Arthur has been for a long time very anxious to get Croker out of the cabinet, but Folger has been so largely sacrificed since he has been in the cabinet, the President does not feel like throwing him overboard altogether. He is therefore about to withdraw Minister Lowell, against whom there has been made a complaint on account of Irish troubles, and send Folger to the Court of St. James. This, the gossip says, would be a new way to provide for Folger, and then he will give him the Croker portfolio. It is actually asserted that the President sent for Croker to come and see him, and that the proposed change in the cabinet was the subject of their interview to-night.

An Ambitious Reply.
 PARIS, 22.—Cardinal Laviegras, Archbishop of Algiers, has been authorized by the Pope to make an appeal to the French government to the difficulty the Pope has in preventing the tension between the Vatican and France from becoming an open rupture, and to assure him, to the effect that the French government made an amicable reply to the cardinal's communication.

Berlin, 22.—A report, which is not yet confirmed, comes from St. Petersburg, that previous to the departure of the Emperor for Moscow an explosion occurred under the wash stand in the fire-place in his dressing room, but no one was injured, the Emperor and Empress dining in the dining room at the time.

The Czar's Passage from the Petrol. The Emperor's entry into Moscow this morning for the entry into Moscow of the Czar was splendid. The whole route from the Petrofsky Palace to the Kremlin, for a distance of about 100 Yards, was crowded with people. At every point Imperial standards were displayed and the balconies were hung with gay colored bunting and Russian colors. The only foreign flags allowed to be displayed are those over the various embassies. Along the road which the procession traversed are 100 Yards, and the Emperor's carriage was flying, and all the domes and spires of the principal buildings in the city are decked with Russian standards and Russian colors. Thousands of persons passed the night out of doors so that they might secure good places to witness the procession. Multitudes of others thronged the churches praying for the safety of the Emperor.

Moscow, 22.—The Czar left Petrofka palace at noon and reached the Kremlin at 12.05 o'clock. There was a slight fall of rain during the march of the procession, but otherwise the affair was a complete success. The enthusiasm of the people along the route was unbounded. The Emperor wore the uniform of a general and was mounted on a general's charger. His robes a little in advance of four generals who were directly attending him.

The War in Africa.
 CAIRO, 22.—The Governor of Sudan, General Kitchener, is reported as having been severely wounded at the battle of April 29th, the rebel forces were pursued two years, commanded by Hicks Pasha and others, who cut off their retreat at the passage of the Nile. The majority of the native chiefs have submitted to the Egyptian Government, and the Governor is sanguine that the war will for them be at an end.
