LITTLE GIRL'S SAD PLIGHT.

Jane Warbuck, Deaf and Dumb, Lost During Snow Storm.

Jane E. Warbuck, a 15-year-old deaf and dumb girl, was found in a most pitiable condition on west North Temple street last night wandering about in the cold and snow. She was taken to a house and cared for until the police arrived where she was taken to the station and kept there until her home was located on Tenth West and Twelfth North.

The girl was on Main and First South street waiting for a North Salt Lake car. She walked into the street and got lost, and then started down North Temple. She was found about 8:30 crying piteously. Unable to speak she could not tell anyone of her plight, but after being warmed at the station, she managed to make the police understand by writing on a piece of paper as best she could where her home was. She was then quickly taken to her home.

Book Announcement.

Each Christmas season finds us with a larger, more varied and a better selected stock of books. We are encouraged each year by the growing taste for good books and we are compelled to buy heavily to meet the increasing demand.

Our purchases were made early, so we are ready for the early buyer who likes a large and complete stock to select from.

There are thousands of things whose value is limited. Many of them hardly last through the holiday season. But a book is more likely to be cherished and to be read and reread long after Christmas has become a memory.

For this season the giving of books is becoming increasingly popular. This demand has encouraged us to make a steady improvement in our stock.

SPECIAL RATES FOR WOOLMEN'S MEET

National Convention of Wool-growers' Association to be Held at Pocatello.

HOLD THREE DAYS' SESSIONS

Prizes Offered for Best Exhibit of Thoroughbreds—Official Call Issued by National Officers.

Special excursion rates for the National Wool Growers' convention, to be held at Pocatello, Idaho, Jan. 14, 15 and 16, 1909, have been announced by the Oregon Short Line and allied lines of road, and before many days it is safe to say all roads in the country will follow with corresponding reductions in their passenger rates for this occasion. As far as can be learned, the rate will approximate 2 cents per mile each way, and selling dates and time limit will be fixed according to the distance to be covered in getting to and from the convention city.

The Oregon Short Line has also announced a half fare rate and inter-state shipments of exhibits for the mid-winter sheep show, held at the same time and place as the national convention. The Interstate commerce commission permits all railroads to make half rates for such shipments for exhibition purposes, and the prospects are that the coming sheep show at Pocatello will surpass anything in this line ever conducted by any railroad organization. Hundreds of thoroughbreds have already been entered for the exhibition, and the prizes offered, including $1,500 in cash, and a silver cup bearing the name of the wool growers' association, have been offered for the best exhibit, will stimulate competition in entries.

The following official circular has been issued by W. Gooding, president of the National Wool Growers' association, and George S. Walker, the national secretary:

To members of the National Wool Growers' association, and all others engaged in the wool growing and breeding industry in the United States: Under the constitution and by-laws of this organization, it becomes my pleasure, generally to officially notify you that in accordance with the action of the association in convention assembled at Helena, Mont., on Jan. 16, 1908, the fifty-fifth annual convention of the National Wool Growers' association will be held in Pocatello, Idaho, on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Jan. 14, 15 and 16, 1909.

This meeting is most important to the sheep and wool industry of the entire country, because of the possibility of changes in the tariff on wool and hides, proposed legislation to improve service, and lower freight rates on the wool. It is also an important occasion for the conservation of our natural resources, grazing, depredations of predatory wild animals and best methods of exterminating the pests, the great central stock and market movement inaugurated by this association, and it will be well for the sheepmen to meet at this time and let their views be known on these various questions. No wool grower should neglect action of the association to express himself and assist in the formation of plans for the future. The association has accomplished much good for its members and the industry engaged in sheep and wool growing, but there remains much yet to be accomplished.

All these subjects will be discussed by able speakers, and the meeting will unquestionably be one of the greatest gatherings of stockmen ever held in this country.

The people of the city of Pocatello have been very amply in the way of accommodations and entertainment, and very low rates have been granted by the railroads for the occasion.

The midwinter sheep show, which has been an annual feature of the annual conventions, will be held in connection with this meeting. The cash premiums aggregate $1,500, and a valuable silver cup bearing the association emblem in gold will be given for the best exhibit. A number of special prizes have also been added. More than 400 animals are already entered and the show promises to eclipse all previous exhibitions of this kind.

All sheep and Angora goat raisers and breeders, wool and mohair growers, feeders and all others engaged in the business are cordially invited to attend this meeting. It matters not whether you are a member of the association. Come and be a part of this great gathering and assist in the work of putting your business on a better basis. Bring your family and friends. Very truly yours, FRED W. GOODING, President.

GEORGE S. WALKER, Secretary.
