APEX SALOON IN BAD LIGHT

More Charges of Robbery Under Investigation by the Police.

JAPS IN BLOODY BATTLE.

Report of State Industrial School—City Board of Education—District Court—Big Damage Suits.

Ogden, Jan. 5.—The attention of the police has again been called very forcibly to the Apex saloon and its proprietors up on the charge of robbery. This time the case seems to be as strong as the Goff case, which is still pending in the courts. A warrant for the arrest of Blamlett, McGuire and Garrett, proprietors of the Apex, was issued and served last week and their arraignment will be had when Judge Murphy returns.

CACHE VALLEY CREAMERY PLACED IN PROPER LIGHT

In the Salt Lake Herald of Jan. 1 appeared an article under the caption of "Here are Official Figures on Weight, Quality and Coloring of Various Brands of Butter," which purports to be a report of State Chemist Herman Harms, made public by John Peterson, state food and dairy commissioner. The article, which is not signed, appears to be an advertisement, and bears the earmarks of a prominent butter manufacturer in Utah, the object being to boom its product to the detriment of other manufacturers, the Cache Valley Creamery in particular. In view of the publication of this purported report, the following is self-explanatory and places the Cache Valley Creamery before the people in its proper position. The correspondence follows:

Salt Lake City, Jan. 5, 1909.
 Mr. John Peterson, State Dairy and Food Inspector, Salt Lake City, Utah:

Dear Sir:—Referring to the report published in the Salt Lake Herald under date of Jan. 1, on the eighteen samples of butter analyzed by State Chemist Herman Harms, will you please inform us whether or not this is your official report?

In this report we are adversely criticized for the supposed use of Azo dyes, or local tar butter color. For your information we will state that we use but two brands of butter color, viz., Cr. Hansen's, which is guaranteed under the national pure food and drugs act of June 30, 1906, serial No. 177, and Wells Richardson's color, guaranteed under the national pure food and drugs act, serial No. 2092.

We hand you herewith a report from Chemist Harms dated Jan. 5, showing analyses of three samples of butter made at our Salt Lake City, Logan

The new charge is against Bob McGuire, who is charged with robbery. The complaint is by J. W. Cline, who alleges that he gave McGuire $45 to keep for him and when he called for it, McGuire knocked him down and kicked him out of the place. Later McGuire met Cline and threatened to "queer" him with the railroad company if he (Cline) did not withdraw the complaint which Cline had filed against McGuire. Cline thinking that McGuire had some "pull," met Chief Browning and attempted to have the complaint withdrawn.

An investigation of the case was made by City Attorney Devine, with the result that Cline was held at the police station upon the charge of attempting to obtain money under false pretenses. A warrant was also issued for McGuire upon another charge of robbery, the complaining witness being Edward Crouch, an elderly man, who claims that he left some money with McGuire, and it was never returned to him.

BATTLE BETWEEN JAPS.

Insulted Husband Stabs Man Who Eluded With His Wife.

Ogden, Jan. 6.—About 7 o'clock last evening, a bloody battle occurred in a Japanese cafe on Twenty-fourth street. O. Hisayama, was stabbed five times by M. Otsu, after the latter had shot at Hisayama several times without effect.

The trouble is the outcome of bad blood between the two, beginning some months ago in Seattle, where Mrs. Otsu became enamored and eloped with Hisayama. Otsu traced his runaway wife to Ogden, where she was living with Hisayama, and caused their arrest. By paying a heavy fine Hisayama secured his liberty, but the woman was held in prison, it being charged that she had deserted her two children in Japan and was supposed to be subject to deportation. On Monday last the immigration officers ordered the woman's release, and she left the jail in company with her husband. Last evening Otsu and his wife were seated in a cafe when Hisayama and some of his friends entered. Hisayama said something to Otsu about the latter paying some of the expense incurred by his recent arrest when Otsu attacked him with a large knife. The first blow struck Hisayama in the forehead, inflicting a long gash. As he turned to escape further attacks Otsu stabbed him four times in the back and then pulled out a gun, firing two shots at the wounded man, neither of which took effect. Otsu then ran from the place along Twenty-fourth street, closely pursued by his victim. Leaving Wall avenue, he turned and fired another shot at Hisayama, which also missed the mark. From loss of blood Hisayama dropped on the sidewalk, and while he was being cared for Otsu escaped.

In the excitement following the cutting affair, Mrs. Otsu separated from her husband and disappeared with one of Hisayama's friends.

INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL REPORT.

In his annual report to the governor and the trustees, H. H. Thomas, superintendent of the State Industrial school, states that the establishment of detention homes in each of the seven judicial districts of the state would have a tendency to put the industrial school more on the plane of a reform school than anything else.

The report states that the appropriation for the school given two years ago was $142,570.11, of which amount $15,331 is unexpended. The next legislature is asked to appropriate $162,000; $1,500 is needed for the completion of the installation of the waterworks system, $1,000 for books for the library, and $2,000 for the building of fire escapes.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.

Nevertheless, it is the thing to do.

In the first action Michael Ferrino, as administrator of the estate of Meriona Ferrino, deceased, sued for $10,000 due as the result of the death of the deceased who was a boss of rock gang and killed while filling a hole for a blast. The plaintiff claims that the blast was not warned of the danger. The other case is that of Michael Ferrino administrator of the estate of Michael Mirionici, deceased, against the same defendants and in which $13,000 damages are asked. The complaint's allegations are similar to those of the foregoing action.

THE PURE FOOD LAW.

Secretary Wilson says: "One of the objects of the law is to inform the consumer of the presence of certain harmful drugs in medicines. The law requires that the amount of chloroform, opium, morphine, and other habit forming drugs be stated on the label of each bottle. The manufacturers of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy have always claimed that their remedy did not contain any of these drugs, and the truth of this claim is now fully proven, as no mention of them is made on the label. This remedy is not only one of the safest, but one of the best in use for coughs and colds. Its value has been proven beyond question during the many years it has been in general use. For sale by all druggists."

DEATH OF MRS. H. F. THOMAS.

Mervin Bowen Spends a Night in a Snowdrift—County Poultry Show.

Special Correspondence.

Provo, Jan. 6.—Mrs. Sofronia Jans Thomas, wife of Councilman H. T. Thomas of the First ward, died last evening of pneumonia, complicated with heart trouble. The deceased was born in Spanish Fork in 1860 and lived there till she moved to Provo 14 years ago. She was a devoted wife and mother, and her sudden demise will bring grief to a large circle of acquaintances. Her husband and six children are left to mourn her demise.

A NIGHT IN A SNOWDRIFT.

News has reached Provo of the near approach of death to Mervin Bowen, formerly of this city, but for many years a resident of Colton. Christmas day he left Provo to go to his home in Colton by team. When out about six miles from Provo he concluded the trip was too hard and attempted to turn back. In doing so his wagon was upset in a snowdrift. One of his horses broke loose and returned to Provo, and a searching party was formed. Mr. Bowen was found, nearly dead. He had been kept alive by huddling close to the remaining horse, and by the efforts of his dog to keep him moving. Mr. Bowen was sent to his home at Colton and is now recovering. The horse that spent the night in the snowdrift is dead, and the dog is a hero.
