

THROUGH an error in the making up of the matter for the article on Temples in the WEEKLY, that portion commencing on the first column, page 525, with the words, "5000 of whom lived in the capital," and down to the end of the fourth paragraph following, was misplaced. It should have appeared in the centre column of the same page following the line which reads, "consisted of about 30,000 souls, nearly."