

unjust discrimination; that from all nominees to the legislature, pledges should be exacted to carry out the passage of laws to regulate freights and fares; that Senator Fair and Congressman Cassidy are entitled to the thanks of their constituency for their labor in Congress; that the platform adopted by the republicans of the State, and the candidates nominated by the convention at Reno, warrant the charge that both the platform and ticket have been consecrated to the dictation of railroad managers. Jewett W. Adams was put in nomination for Governor amid applause. The nominations closed and Adams was declared the nominee by acclamation. Hon. Geo. W. Cassidy was nominated for Congress, and Col. M. N. Stone, of Virginia, was nominated for Judge of the Supreme Court by acclamation.

CHICAGO, 7.—A Cleveland special gives the following story of the owner of a new fast horse developed yesterday: "I'll show you fellows that I have got no dollar horse," said Ritchart the owner of the brown gelding, St. Louis, at the race track. His tone was that of virtuous indignation. Ritchart is a sport-loving farmer who lives two miles and a half out of Foster, Ia. Some time ago he went down into Kentucky and bought his piece of horse-flesh. He entered it in the 223 class. As it was a stranger here the turfsharps were inclined to laugh at Ritchart for a green. In the pools St. Louis was shunned by the regulars at one dollar against the field, in which were such horses as Mollie Middleton, Allegheny Boy, Fanny Wilkes, Ben Star and others, to the number of 12 starters, but as pool selling proceeded Ritchart was observed filling his pockets with slips buying his own horse at one dollar, which against the field made an average equal to one against $150. Ritchart took all he could get and the race began. It was for three out of five. The first two heats were won by Fanny Wilkes, Ritchart's horse, St. Louis, lagging away in the rear scarcely saving his distance, but he won the last three heats with the greatest ease in remarkable time and leaving the rest away behind.

In conclusion, the proclamation exhorts all Egyptians to obey the Khedive.

Gen. Drenteln pointed out that many Jews had been obliged to return from Africa, and were starving in Palestine, but that they would be better off in Russia than anywhere else if they only knew it.
