

G. A. R. ENCAMPMENT

Women's Headquarters Thronged With Workers

MRS. GENEVIEVE LONGFIELD-LANE.
National President, Ladies of the G. A. R.

The Canyon hotel is truly the women's headquarters and it is a most inspiring sight to see the throngs of brave, silvered haired women who suffered privations and sorrow during the great conflict still hard at work to support the unfortunate, heal ancient wounds and promote peace and happiness.

Despite their long journey to the great encampment in the valleys of the Wasatch, this morning found officers of the various organizations at their desks working uncomplainingly and with that zeal peculiar to the gentler sex.

One of the most important of these organizations is the "Ladies of the G. A. R." institution composed of wives and blood relatives of the Grand Army of the Republic. The officers are: Mrs. Genevieve Longfield-Lane, national president; Mrs. Emma Crane, senior vice-president; Mrs. Elizabeth Garvin, junior vice-president; Mrs. Catherine Ross, Treasurer, and Mrs. Nellie Ross, press correspondent. The latter has held the position for nine years.

The organization has a representation from 28 states and there are 300 delegates here. It has a membership of 60,000, 10,000 veterans belong to the order and there are 1,000 sons of veterans enrolled.

The principal work of the order is to help the sons of veterans along educational lines and college have been dowed for that purpose. During the present encampment it is proposed to establish a permanent fund with the above object in view.

The first real meeting of the ladies of the G. A. R. will be held at 8:30 this evening at the Armory at which time President Mrs. Longfield-Lane will deliver an address. Meetings will then be held from time to time throughout the encampment and the regular order of business transacted.

"AUNT TWISS" YOUNG.

Funeral Yesterday of This Estimable Woman and Pioneer.

"AUNT TWISS" YOUNG.

The funeral services over the remains of late Mrs. Naamah Jenkins Carter Twiss Young, familiarly known as "Aunt Twiss," were held yesterday at 4 o'clock at the Eighteenth ward chapel. Ward Counselor Fay Whitney conducted the exercises, and the music was furnished by the Eighteenth ward choir, under the leadership of George D. Pyper, the selections being favorite and appropriate old-time Mormon hymns. Former Ward Counselor Burton offered the opening prayer, Elder Heber J. Grant pronounced the benediction, and Elder Henry P. Richards dedicated the grave. The speakers were Elders Hamilton G. Park, David McKendle, Orson F. Whitney and President Joseph F. Smith, all of whom, being personal and long-time friends of the deceased, testified to her many sterling qualities of mind and heart, and spoke comforting and instructive words to the large audience, who had gathered to show their respect. The chapel was tastefully draped, the stand and auditorium were filled with sympathizing acquaintances and friends.

"Aunt Twiss" enjoyed a wide reputation for culinary skill, and some of the "Lion House dinners," prepared by her during President Young's lifetime, will not soon be forgotten. But her activities ranged far beyond the kitchen, and many a tribute could be paid for her motherly kindness and gentle charity. For many years she was a trusted officer of the ward Relief society, and from every point of view deserves to be remembered as a good woman and a true friend.

Our Tribute to G. A. R. Men Convened this Week in National Encampment.

And We Salute You Too!

¶ Not only salute you but we go further; our earnest aim is to make you feel the impress of the city's welcome—Utah's welcome if you please for the whole state is your host,

¶ Back of these flags and decorations and music and entertainment is a full appreciation of your struggles and privations and a deep reverence for your achievements.

You saved our Country.

¶ The plaudits of a Nation are prone to ring in the ears of those who were fortunate in being officers, but the rank and file—the matchless young men of long ago, those scarred, old veterans of tomorrow, the emoluments of war is a worthy crown rightfully yours to wear, emoluments worthy the hero! Your deeds are praised, your presence will be cheered in line of march. Individually how little has been your reward! Among us this week are unknown heroes, men who knew no fear, who stormed the heights, who suffered the torments of Andersonville—how little has been your reward!

¶ But on the occasion of this memorable gathering, lack of individual recognition is forgotten. You meet to mingle with your kind who know sympathy, whose hand shake springs from the heart. Brave old men! Mingle one with the other, recount your experiences, renew old friendships!

¶ We of a younger generation can only look upon you in awe—because of you we enjoy the benefits according from a United Nation—to us it is only history. We cannot feel the thrill which possesses you as the martial music breaks forth, and the old army songs lift you to your feet.

¶ But were another crises imminent millions of young men, inspired by your loyalty and bravery, would rush to arms.

¶ For we like you are Americans.

¶ Though entertainments are being crowded upon you, during your leisure, an hour may be instructively and pleasantly spent inspecting the finest store in the inter-mountain West, where every courtesy will be extended the men who wear the little bronz button.
