

DESERT EVENING NEWS

WEATHER REPORT.

Record at the local office of the weather bureau for the 24 hours ending at 6 a. m. today:

Barometer reading at 6 a. m., 25.63 inches. Temperature at 6 a. m., 31 degrees; maximum, 36; minimum, 27; mean, 31, which is 4 degrees above normal.

Excess of daily mean temperature since the first of the month, 13.2 degrees. Accumulated excess of daily mean temperature since Jan. 1, 12.5 degrees. Precipitation since the first of the month, 2.12 inch, which is .39 inch below the normal.

Accumulated deficiency in precipitation since Jan. 1, 1.34 inch.

FORECAST FOR JAN. 6 P. M. FRIDAY.

Local forecast for Salt Lake City and vicinity:

Threatening weather and probably rain or snow tonight and Saturday.

Forecast for Utah, made at Denver, Colo.:

Threatening tonight and Saturday; probably rain or snow tonight.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

An area of low pressure covers the northern Rocky mountain slope, while another "low" is apparently central along the northern California coast. An area of high pressure extends from the southern Rocky mountain slope northward to Utah. Pressure is also high over Washington.

Precipitation has occurred over Washington and along the coast as far south as San Francisco, over Oklahoma and the lower Mississippi valley. It is warmer over southern Utah, but elsewhere temperature changes have generally been slight.

L. H. MURDOCH, Section Director.

TODAY'S TEMPERATURE.

10 a. m., 40; 11 a. m., 41; 12 o'clock noon, 45; 1 p. m., 49; 2 p. m., 47.

NEWS TELEPHONE NUMBERS.

City Editor (2 rings) . . . 359

Business Office (2 rings) . . . 389

Business Manager (3 rings) 389

To-day's Metals.

SILVER, Bar, 55 cents

LEAD, $3.50

CASTING COPPER 71.5 cents a lb.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

Fish Commissioner John Sharp will ship 100,000 young trout to Rich county early next week to be planted in the local streams.

The officers and teachers of the Second Ward Sunday school will hold their regular monthly meeting tonight at the residence of Counselor L. Frank Branting, 665 Fourth East street at 8 o'clock.

Congressman Sutherland has just been assured by the treasury department that the site of the new federal building will not be changed, and that advertisements for bids will be published not later than March 10, with actual work to begin not later than June 1.

Manager Vireo returned last night from Pocatello, where he has been to look after his sporting well. Gas and sulphur water are still coming from the bore, and as the casing will not be on hand before ten days, nothing can be done until it arrives. The bottom of the well has caved in where there is no casing.

Rev. Wildman Murphy, the Methodist pastor at Eureka, is a guest at the hotel. He says the religious situation down there is hopeful, and that a Christian Endeavor society of 40 members has been organized in his church to include members of various other denominations, as all will unite under that head where they would not under a strictly denominational title.

Little George Wood, the four-year-old son of William Wood, Jr., was painfully hurt yesterday afternoon while playing at his home on the corner of Sixth North and First West streets. While engrossed in his play he accidentally fell off the porch. The result of the fall was a severely cut lip. Dr. Wilcox was called and he found it necessary to take several stitches in the flesh. The little fellow is now getting on all right.

The new life-size portrait of Mayor Thompson which is to adorn the walls of the council chamber has just been completed by George Henry Taggart. The painting, which has been seen by several of the mayor's friends, is considered one of the best that the artist has ever done, and is an unusually lifelike.

The picture will be on exhibition at Mr. Taggart's studio for several days, while it is taken to the city and county building and placed beside the pictures of former mayors of this city.

The only matter of importance that was acted upon by the council committee last night was the rejection, by the committee on claims, of the claim of James L. Wraithall for $370. The claim is for damages caused by the sale of horses belonging to Wraithall, which had been taken up by the city pound keeper. The claim was turned down because the committee held that the horses were lawfully taken in by the poundkeeper and were lawfully sold after failure of the owner to redeem them.

The members of the council committee on public grounds and Jordan canal and irrigation, which was headed by Mayor Thompson and Land and Water Commissioner Westerfield, will make a tour of inspection of the old Jordan canal bed on Sunday. The object of the visit is to determine the advisability of selling back the ground to the farmers through whose land the canal originally passed. Condemnation has been appointed commissioner and a good lunch is looked for. The start will be made from the Knutsford hotel at 11 o'clock Sunday morning.

Peter S. Martin of Milford, brother of William Martin, the Alaska miner who died at the Cullen hotel Wednesday, is a guest at the hotel, and says that in his opinion the main cause of his brother's death was that he had received to his head in Alaska. While crossing the ice on one of the rivers, Mr. Martin broke through and was carried several hundred feet down stream. In coming to the surface he struck his head against loose cakes of ice, and though rescued, and apparently restored to health, has always had trouble with the head, and for a long time has been unable to sleep.

Rev. Frederick F. Johnson, the newly chosen pastor of St. Paul's Episcopal church, arrives from California tomorrow morning to take the place of Rev. Milfred Walker, whose poor health necessitated his removal to southern California. Mr. Johnson is a native of Connecticut; he is a relative of Bishop Doane, and was a former fellow student with Rector Ellis Bishop, and graduated from the Episcopal Divinity school at Middleton, Conn. Mr. Johnson will be the guest for a few days of Bishop Leonard, whom he visited three years ago when passing through his city.

A very interesting program is in progress at the High school this afternoon. The affair is an oral contest conducted under the auspices of the English and the Sons of the American Revolution. There are eight contestants, and a medal will be awarded to the boy who acquires himself the best, and one to the girl who is the champion orator. The orations are all on patriotic subjects and the students of the school are evincing great interest in the matter. A large number of the patrons of the school are present and they, too, are taking a keen interest in the contest.

The beauty of the two fountains which adorn the grounds of the city and county building, has been heralded abroad. A letter to the county commissioners was received yesterday from William Easley, who is now at Ontario, Cal., asking for a photograph and the dimensions of one of the fountains to submit to the city of Auburn, Indiana, which contemplates the erection of a fountain. Mr. Easley was in this city last November and was deeply impressed with the beauty of our fountains. It is quite a compliment to our city to have such a request coming at it did from a man who has traveled from ocean to ocean and seen many beautiful designs and then decide upon ours as the most beautiful.

The twelve window car scheme has been given up for the present anyhow by the street railway management, and instead, six more nine window, double truck cars will be built from the old six window, four wheeled cars. Nine of the latter have already been used up in this way, and with nine more gone, something of a curtailment will have been made in the old equipment. The street car has given excellent service. John Stephenson was, years ago, the most noted of all street car builders, and his cars were sent all over the world. But the Stephenson got old and died after a while, and a good many others have and will, and his "heirs and assigns" failed to keep up the establishment. So there are no more Stephenson cars being built.

Zion's Savings Bank and Trust Company was established in 1873, and has since opened more than 39,712 savings accounts. Have you an account? If not, start one NOW.

JOSEPH F. SMITH, President.

GEORGE M. CANNON, Cashier.

UTAH COMMERCIAL AND SAVINGS BANK.

Interest paid on savings. W. F. Armstrong, president. P. W. Madsen, vice-president. J. E. Caine, cashier.

WHERE VOLUNTEER FIREMEN WILL CELEBRATE WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY.

At 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon there will be a joyous gathering of veterans at the Volunteer Firemen's hall, 271 Canyon road, for the purpose of celebrating the double event of Washington's birthday and the first anniversary of the occupancy of the present elegant quarters of the association.

Nearly 100 members and their families are expected to be present and today the good housewives are actively engaged in preparing toothsome dainties for the impromptu lunch which will be served in the clubroom upstairs, and which will be not the least of the features.

Promptly at two o'clock the program will commence. It will consist of speeches, graphophone selections and vocal and piano solos, after which the picnic will be served under the direction of R. J. Knight, the house steward. The general program is in the hands of President George M. Ottlinger and Secretary R. H. Hardy and associates. It is not anticipated that the happy gathering will break up until late in the evening after a second concert which is to be held.

The organization which celebrates tomorrow is numbered among the oldest in Salt Lake. In 1833 Jedediah M. Grant, then mayor of the city, signed an ordinance for the organization of a fire brigade and from that date until October, 1833 Salt Lake City depended upon the patriotism of her citizens who volunteered for fire protection and fire service. Three dozen leather buckets were purchased, and twenty-one fire ladders constructed, and bucket companies formed in each ecclesiastical ward.

Since the institution of a paid department the members of the old pioneer organization have associated and kept up the traditions of the past. One year ago tomorrow they moved from their lumber quarters on East South Temple street into their present commodious home which had been erected through the efforts of George M. Ottlinger, that old "silver gray" in the service, and his associates. Here are stored on the lower floor the old fire engine, buckets and other paraphernalia that has seen service in the old days. Upstairs there is a commodious hall wherein entertainments are held from time to time and the men gather at their leisure and read or talk over old times when they would have to answer the fire bell and rush shouting and panting for one or two miles hailing the cumbersome fire apparatus by means of long ropes.

At 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon there will be a joyous gathering of veterans at the Volunteer Firemen's hall, 271 Canyon road, for the purpose of celebrating the double event of Washington's birthday and the first anniversary of the occupancy of the present elegant quarters of the association.

Nearly 100 members and their families are expected to be present and today the good housewives are actively engaged in preparing toothsome dainties for the impromptu lunch which will be served in the clubroom upstairs, and which will be not the least of the features.

Promptly at two o'clock the program will commence. It will consist of speeches, graphophone selections and vocal and piano solos, after which the picnic will be served under the direction of R. J. Knight, the house steward. The general program is in the hands of President George M. Ottlinger and Secretary R. H. Hardy and associates. It is not anticipated that the happy gathering will break up until late in the evening after a second concert which is to be held.

The organization which celebrates tomorrow is numbered among the oldest in Salt Lake. In 1833 Jedediah M. Grant, then mayor of the city, signed an ordinance for the organization of a fire brigade and from that date until October, 1833 Salt Lake City depended upon the patriotism of her citizens who volunteered for fire protection and fire service. Three dozen leather buckets were purchased, and twenty-one fire ladders constructed, and bucket companies formed in each ecclesiastical ward.

Since the institution of a paid department the members of the old pioneer organization have associated and kept up the traditions of the past. One year ago tomorrow they moved from their lumber quarters on East South Temple street into their present commodious home which had been erected through the efforts of George M. Ottlinger, that old "silver gray" in the service, and his associates. Here are stored on the lower floor the old fire engine, buckets and other paraphernalia that has seen service in the old days. Upstairs there is a commodious hall wherein entertainments are held from time to time and the men gather at their leisure and read or talk over old times when they would have to answer the fire bell and rush shouting and panting for one or two miles hailing the cumbersome fire apparatus by means of long ropes.

At 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon there will be a joyous gathering of veterans at the Volunteer Firemen's hall, 271 Canyon road, for the purpose of celebrating the double event of Washington's birthday and the first anniversary of the occupancy of the present elegant quarters of the association.

Nearly 100 members and their families are expected to be present and today the good housewives are actively engaged in preparing toothsome dainties for the impromptu lunch which will be served in the clubroom upstairs, and which will be not the least of the features.

Promptly at two o'clock the program will commence. It will consist of speeches, graphophone selections and vocal and piano solos, after which the picnic will be served under the direction of R. J. Knight, the house steward. The general program is in the hands of President George M. Ottlinger and Secretary R. H. Hardy and associates. It is not anticipated that the happy gathering will break up until late in the evening after a second concert which is to be held.

The organization which celebrates tomorrow is numbered among the oldest in Salt Lake. In 1833 Jedediah M. Grant, then mayor of the city, signed an ordinance for the organization of a fire brigade and from that date until October, 1833 Salt Lake City depended upon the patriotism of her citizens who volunteered for fire protection and fire service. Three dozen leather buckets were purchased, and twenty-one fire ladders constructed, and bucket companies formed in each ecclesiastical ward.

Since the institution of a paid department the members of the old pioneer organization have associated and kept up the traditions of the past. One year ago tomorrow they moved from their lumber quarters on East South Temple street into their present commodious home which had been erected through the efforts of George M. Ottlinger, that old "silver gray" in the service, and his associates. Here are stored on the lower floor the old fire engine, buckets and other paraphernalia that has seen service in the old days. Upstairs there is a commodious hall wherein entertainments are held from time to time and the men gather at their leisure and read or talk over old times when they would have to answer the fire bell and rush shouting and panting for one or two miles hailing the cumbersome fire apparatus by means of long ropes.

At 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon there will be a joyous gathering of veterans at the Volunteer Firemen's hall, 271 Canyon road, for the purpose of celebrating the double event of Washington's birthday and the first anniversary of the occupancy of the present elegant quarters of the association.

Nearly 100 members and their families are expected to be present and today the good housewives are actively engaged in preparing toothsome dainties for the impromptu lunch which will be served in the clubroom upstairs, and which will be not the least of the features.

Promptly at two o'clock the program will commence. It will consist of speeches, graphophone selections and vocal and piano solos, after which the picnic will be served under the direction of R. J. Knight, the house steward. The general program is in the hands of President George M. Ottlinger and Secretary R. H. Hardy and associates. It is not anticipated that the happy gathering will break up until late in the evening after a second concert which is to be held.

The organization which celebrates tomorrow is numbered among the oldest in Salt Lake. In 1833 Jedediah M. Grant, then mayor of the city, signed an ordinance for the organization of a fire brigade and from that date until October, 1833 Salt Lake City depended upon the patriotism of her citizens who volunteered for fire protection and fire service. Three dozen leather buckets were purchased, and twenty-one fire ladders constructed, and bucket companies formed in each ecclesiastical ward.

Since the institution of a paid department the members of the old pioneer organization have associated and kept up the traditions of the past. One year ago tomorrow they moved from their lumber quarters on East South Temple street into their present commodious home which had been erected through the efforts of George M. Ottlinger, that old "silver gray" in the service, and his associates. Here are stored on the lower floor the old fire engine, buckets and other paraphernalia that has seen service in the old days. Upstairs there is a commodious hall wherein entertainments are held from time to time and the men gather at their leisure and read or talk over old times when they would have to answer the fire bell and rush shouting and panting for one or two miles hailing the cumbersome fire apparatus by means of long ropes.

At 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon there will be a joyous gathering of veterans at the Volunteer Firemen's hall, 271 Canyon road, for the purpose of celebrating the double event of Washington's birthday and the first anniversary of the occupancy of the present elegant quarters of the association.

Nearly 100 members and their families are expected to be present and today the good housewives are actively engaged in preparing toothsome dainties for the impromptu lunch which will be served in the clubroom upstairs, and which will be not the least of the features.

Promptly at two o'clock the program will commence. It will consist of speeches, graphophone selections and vocal and piano solos, after which the picnic will be served under the direction of R. J. Knight, the house steward. The general program is in the hands of President George M. Ottlinger and Secretary R. H. Hardy and associates. It is not anticipated that the happy gathering will break up until late in the evening after a second concert which is to be held.

The organization which celebrates tomorrow is numbered among the oldest in Salt Lake. In 1833 Jedediah M. Grant, then mayor of the city, signed an ordinance for the organization of a fire brigade and from that date until October, 1833 Salt Lake City depended upon the patriotism of her citizens who volunteered for fire protection and fire service. Three dozen leather buckets were purchased, and twenty-one fire ladders constructed, and bucket companies formed in each ecclesiastical ward.

Since the institution of a paid department the members of the old pioneer organization have associated and kept up the traditions of the past. One year ago tomorrow they moved from their lumber quarters on East South Temple street into their present commodious home which had been erected through the efforts of George M. Ottlinger, that old "silver gray" in the service, and his associates. Here are stored on the lower floor the old fire engine, buckets and other paraphernalia that has seen service in the old days. Upstairs there is a commodious hall wherein entertainments are held from time to time and the men gather at their leisure and read or talk over old times when they would have to answer the fire bell and rush shouting and panting for one or two miles hailing the cumbersome fire apparatus by means of long ropes.

At 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon there will be a joyous gathering of veterans at the Volunteer Firemen's hall, 271 Canyon road, for the purpose of celebrating the double event of Washington's birthday and the first anniversary of the occupancy of the present elegant quarters of the association.

Nearly 100 members and their families are expected to be present and today the good housewives are actively engaged in preparing toothsome dainties for the impromptu lunch which will be served in the clubroom upstairs, and which will be not the least of the features.

Promptly at two o'clock the program will commence. It will consist of speeches, graphophone selections and vocal and piano solos, after which the picnic will be served under the direction of R. J. Knight, the house steward. The general program is in the hands of President George M. Ottlinger and Secretary R. H. Hardy and associates. It is not anticipated that the happy gathering will break up until late in the evening after a second concert which is to be held.

The organization which celebrates tomorrow is numbered among the oldest in Salt Lake. In 1833 Jedediah M. Grant, then mayor of the city, signed an ordinance for the organization of a fire brigade and from that date until October, 1833 Salt Lake City depended upon the patriotism of her citizens who volunteered for fire protection and fire service. Three dozen leather buckets were purchased, and twenty-one fire ladders constructed, and bucket companies formed in each ecclesiastical ward.

Since the institution of a paid department the members of the old pioneer organization have associated and kept up the traditions of the past. One year ago tomorrow they moved from their lumber quarters on East South Temple street into their present commodious home which had been erected through the efforts of George M. Ottlinger, that old "silver gray" in the service, and his associates. Here are stored on the lower floor the old fire engine, buckets and other paraphernalia that has seen service in the old days. Upstairs there is a commodious hall wherein entertainments are held from time to time and the men gather at their leisure and read or talk over old times when they would have to answer the fire bell and rush shouting and panting for one or two miles hailing the cumbersome fire apparatus by means of long ropes.

At 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon there will be a joyous gathering of veterans at the Volunteer Firemen's hall, 271 Canyon road, for the purpose of celebrating the double event of Washington's birthday and the first anniversary of the occupancy of the present elegant quarters of the association.

Nearly 100 members and their families are expected to be present and today the good housewives are actively engaged in preparing toothsome dainties for the impromptu lunch which will be served in the clubroom upstairs, and which will be not the least of the features.

Promptly at two o'clock the program will commence. It will consist of speeches, graphophone selections and vocal and piano solos, after which the picnic will be served under the direction of R. J. Knight, the house steward. The general program is in the hands of President George M. Ottlinger and Secretary R. H. Hardy and associates. It is not anticipated that the happy gathering will break up until late in the evening after a second concert which is to be held.

THE NEW STATE PRISON ADMINISTRATION BUILDING

How the Utah Penitentiary, Now Being Added To, Will Look When Completed—A Handsome Though Uninviting Edifice, Being Built by Convict Labor—L. D. Martin, One of the Prison Guards, is Architect.

The public do hereby notified that the Utah Penitentiary, now being added to, will look when completed—a handsome though uninviting edifice, being built by convict labor—L. D. Martin, one of the prison guards, is architect.

The public do hereby notified that the Utah Penitentiary, now being added to, will look when completed—a handsome though uninviting edifice, being built by convict labor—L. D. Martin, one of the prison guards, is architect.

The public do hereby notified that the Utah Penitentiary, now being added to, will look when completed—a handsome though uninviting edifice, being built by convict labor—L. D. Martin, one of the prison guards, is architect.

The public do hereby notified that the Utah Penitentiary, now being added to, will look when completed—a handsome though uninviting edifice, being built by convict labor—L. D. Martin, one of the prison guards, is architect.

The public do hereby notified that the Utah Penitentiary, now being added to, will look when completed—a handsome though uninviting edifice, being built by convict labor—L. D. Martin, one of the prison guards, is architect.

The public do hereby notified that the Utah Penitentiary, now being added to, will look when completed—a handsome though uninviting edifice, being built by convict labor—L. D. Martin, one of the prison guards, is architect.

The public do hereby notified that the Utah Penitentiary, now being added to, will look when completed—a handsome though uninviting edifice, being built by convict labor—L. D. Martin, one of the prison guards, is architect.

The public do hereby notified that the Utah Penitentiary, now being added to, will look when completed—a handsome though uninviting edifice, being built by convict labor—L. D. Martin, one of the prison guards, is architect.

The public do hereby notified that the Utah Penitentiary, now being added to, will look when completed—a handsome though uninviting edifice, being built by convict labor—L. D. Martin, one of the prison guards, is architect.

The public do hereby notified that the Utah Penitentiary, now being added to, will look when completed—a handsome though uninviting edifice, being built by convict labor—L. D. Martin, one of the prison guards, is architect.

The public do hereby notified that the Utah Penitentiary, now being added to, will look when completed—a handsome though uninviting edifice, being built by convict labor—L. D. Martin, one of the prison guards, is architect.

The public do hereby notified that the Utah Penitentiary, now being added to, will look when completed—a handsome though uninviting edifice, being built by convict labor—L. D. Martin, one of the prison guards, is architect.

The public do hereby notified that the Utah Penitentiary, now being added to, will look when completed—a handsome though uninviting edifice, being built by convict labor—L. D. Martin, one of the prison guards, is architect.

The public do hereby notified that the Utah Penitentiary, now being added to, will look when completed—a handsome though uninviting edifice, being built by convict labor—L. D. Martin, one of the prison guards, is architect.

The public do hereby notified that the Utah Penitentiary, now being added to, will look when completed—a handsome though uninviting edifice, being built by convict labor—L. D. Martin, one of the prison guards, is architect.

The public do hereby notified that the Utah Penitentiary, now being added to, will look when completed—a handsome though uninviting edifice, being built by convict labor—L. D. Martin, one of the prison guards, is architect.

The public do hereby notified that the Utah Penitentiary, now being added to, will look when completed—a handsome though uninviting edifice, being built by convict labor—L. D. Martin, one of the prison guards, is architect.

The public do hereby notified that the Utah Penitentiary, now being added to, will look when completed—a handsome though uninviting edifice, being built by convict labor—L. D. Martin, one of the prison guards, is architect.

The public do hereby notified that the Utah Penitentiary, now being added to, will look when completed—a handsome though uninviting edifice, being built by convict labor—L. D. Martin, one of the prison guards, is architect.

The public do hereby notified that the Utah Penitentiary, now being added to, will look when completed—a handsome though uninviting edifice, being built by convict labor—L. D. Martin, one of the prison guards, is architect.

The public do hereby notified that the Utah Penitentiary, now being added to, will look when completed—a handsome though uninviting edifice, being built by convict labor—L. D. Martin, one of the prison guards, is architect.

The public do hereby notified that the Utah Penitentiary, now being added to, will look when completed—a handsome though uninviting edifice, being built by convict labor—L. D. Martin, one of the prison guards, is architect.

The public do hereby notified that the Utah Penitentiary, now being added to, will look when completed—a handsome though uninviting edifice, being built by convict labor—L. D. Martin, one of the prison guards, is architect.

The public do hereby notified that the Utah Penitentiary, now being added to, will look when completed—a handsome though uninviting edifice, being built by convict labor—L. D. Martin, one of the prison guards, is architect.

The public do hereby notified that the Utah Penitentiary, now being added to, will look when completed—a handsome though uninviting edifice, being built by convict labor—L. D. Martin, one of the prison guards, is architect.

The public do hereby notified that the Utah Penitentiary, now being added to, will look when completed—a handsome though uninviting edifice, being built by convict labor—L. D. Martin, one of the prison guards, is architect.

The public do hereby notified that the Utah Penitentiary, now being added to, will look when completed—a handsome though uninviting edifice, being built by convict labor—L. D. Martin, one of the prison guards, is architect.

The public do hereby notified that the Utah Penitentiary, now being added to, will look when completed—a handsome though uninviting edifice, being built by convict labor—L. D. Martin, one of the prison guards, is architect.

The public do hereby notified that the Utah Penitentiary, now being added to, will look when completed—a handsome though uninviting edifice, being built by convict labor—L. D. Martin, one of the prison guards, is architect.

The public do hereby notified that the Utah Penitentiary, now being added to, will look when completed—a handsome though uninviting edifice, being built by convict labor—L. D. Martin, one of the prison guards, is architect.

The public do hereby notified that the Utah Penitentiary, now being added to, will look when completed—a handsome though uninviting edifice, being built by convict labor—L. D. Martin, one of the prison guards, is architect.

The public do hereby notified that the Utah Penitentiary, now being added to, will look when completed—a handsome though uninviting edifice, being built by convict labor—L. D. Martin, one of the prison guards, is architect.

THE NEW STATE PRISON ADMINISTRATION BUILDING

How the Utah Penitentiary, Now Being Added To, Will Look When Completed—A Handsome Though Uninviting Edifice, Being Built by Convict Labor—L. D. Martin, One of the Prison Guards, is Architect.

The public do hereby notified that the Utah Penitentiary, now being added to, will look when completed—a handsome though uninviting edifice, being built by convict labor—L. D. Martin, one of the prison guards, is architect.

The public do hereby notified that the Utah Penitentiary, now being added to, will look when completed—a handsome though uninviting edifice, being built by convict labor—L. D. Martin, one of the prison guards, is architect.

The public do hereby notified that the Utah Penitentiary, now being added to, will look when completed—a handsome though uninviting edifice, being built by convict labor—L. D. Martin, one of the prison guards, is architect.

The public do hereby notified that the Utah Penitentiary, now being added to, will look when completed—a handsome though uninviting edifice, being built by convict labor—L. D. Martin, one of the prison guards, is architect.

The public do hereby notified that the Utah Penitentiary, now being added to, will look when completed—a handsome though uninviting edifice, being built by convict labor—L. D. Martin, one of the prison guards, is architect.

The public do hereby notified that the Utah Penitentiary, now being added to, will look when completed—a handsome though uninviting edifice, being built by convict labor—L. D. Martin, one of the prison guards, is architect.

The public do hereby notified that the Utah Penitentiary, now being added to, will look when completed—a handsome though uninviting edifice, being built by convict labor—L. D. Martin, one of the prison guards, is architect.

The public do hereby notified that the Utah Penitentiary, now being added to, will look when completed—a handsome though uninviting edifice, being built by convict labor—L. D. Martin, one of the prison guards, is architect.

The public do hereby notified that the Utah Penitentiary, now being added to, will look when completed—a handsome though uninviting edifice, being built by convict labor—L. D. Martin, one of the prison guards, is architect.

The public do hereby notified that the Utah Penitentiary, now being added to, will look when completed—a handsome though uninviting edifice, being built by convict labor—L. D. Martin, one of the prison guards, is architect.

The public do hereby notified that the Utah Penitentiary, now being added to, will look when completed—a handsome though uninviting edifice, being built by convict labor—L. D. Martin, one of the prison guards, is architect.

The public do hereby notified that the Utah Penitentiary, now being added to, will look when completed—a handsome though uninviting edifice, being built by convict labor—L. D. Martin, one of the prison guards, is architect.

The public do hereby notified that the Utah Penitentiary, now being added to, will look when completed—a handsome though uninviting edifice, being built by convict labor—L. D. Martin, one of the prison guards, is architect.

The public do hereby notified that the Utah Penitentiary, now being added to, will look when completed—a handsome though uninviting edifice, being built by convict labor—L. D. Martin, one of the prison guards, is architect.

The public do hereby notified that the Utah Penitentiary, now being added to, will look when completed—a handsome though uninviting edifice, being built by convict labor—L. D. Martin, one of the prison guards, is architect.

The public do hereby notified that the Utah Penitentiary, now being added to, will look when completed—a handsome though uninviting edifice, being built by convict labor—L. D. Martin, one of the prison guards, is architect.

The public do hereby