

WHY EVELYN THAW TESTIFIED

Had Her Husband's Family Done The Right Thing, Never Would Have Taken the Stand.

WOULD HAVE BEEN FAR AWAY

Future Uncertain—Can't Return to Stage—Her Notoriety Would Prohibit That.

White Plains, N. Y., July 15.—Evelyn Nesbit Thaw went on the stand here today and gave damaging testimony against her husband, Harry K. Thaw. It was the strongest point scored so far by the state in its fight to keep Thaw in the asylum for the criminal insane at Matteawan. He demands his release through habeas corpus proceedings on the ground that he is a sane man.

When today's session was concluded, adjournment was taken until July 26.

For three days the state has been trying to bring out that Thaw threatened his wife's life on one of her visits to Matteawan. The state wished to show irrationality on Thaw's part. Blocked at first by objections which were sustained by the court, Thaw's attorney at last failed to show that the alleged conversation at Matteawan was confidential as between man and wife.

Before leaving White Plains for New York this evening Evelyn Thaw discussed her testimony.

WHY EVELYN IS ANGRY.

"If the Thaw family had done the right thing by me, I would never have taken the stand to testify against my husband," she said. "But they would not guarantee me the allowance I asked for when the annulment proceedings were begun. If they had done that I would have been far away from here today and Harry would have a better chance of getting his liberty. I don't know what I shall do now. I have no idea what my future course will be. I must go out and get a living somehow. I can't go back to the stage. My notoriety would prohibit that. The public would say I testified against my husband to make myself notorious. I will try to get work as a model. I can do it, too, I am sure. After I feel sorry that I ever saw the stage at all. As a model I can be a good girl and earn enough to keep me. I can hope for nothing from my husband's family, and that's my position in a few words.

"If I had not been compelled, I would never have testified against Mr. Thaw. But when my husband cut my allowance to $70 a week and $200 a month, he left me with many debts on my name. I used my allowance to clear off my debts. My studio cost $36 a month, and I have to buy food and clothing, and the money I get is not more than enough to get along on.

"The questionable fame of this trial will follow me wherever I may go for years and years, and I am living as cheaply as I can. I am Harry Thaw's wife, but I pay the rent. The landlord sends the bills to me. I don't know whether or not my husband will harm me if he is released. He has made one threat, though, and that has terrified me.

"Do you think he is insane?" she was asked.

"I cannot answer that question," she replied. "I don't want to."

Mrs. Thaw was almost flippant as she answered the questions of her husband's lawyers. As one letter was handed to her she read it, smiled broadly and then blushed perceptibly and hid her face behind her pian leaf fan. She caught her husband's eye at this time and he smiled back and then hastily looked away.

THAW'S COMMENT.

Thaw was asked about his wife's

HEWLETT'S -TEAS- ALWAYS GOOD

testimony after court, and he was not surprised at her attitude, but he emphatically denied that he ever threatened her life.

"It is plain to every one that her story is not true," he said. "I never threatened to kill her. First she says one thing and then another."

"Is it true that you made an attempt on White's life on the day before the homicide was committed?" he was asked.

"If I had you would have learned about it before this," replied Thaw.

COMSTOCK'S TESTIMONY.

Anthony Comstock, president of the New York Society for the Suppression of Vice, described his efforts to assist Thaw to get sufficient evidence of White's practices to prosecute him criminally. Up to within a day or two of the tragedy the witness said, he saw Thaw and obtained data from him in regard to White's conduct. He was of the opinion that Thaw was sane.

DR. MEYER'S EVIDENCE.

Dr. Otto Meyer of New York was the first witness in the Thaw hearing today. Mr. Meyer testified that he saw Thaw four times in the White Plains jail on Oct. 8, 1908, and discussed with him the episode included in a hypothetical question the witness had prepared on which to base an opinion of the prisoner's sanity. On subsequent visits to the White Plains jail and in the Matteawan asylum the physician talked freely with Thaw he said, and tried to tell the story of his boyhood days. Dr. Meyer related a conversation when Thaw told him he feared he was going to have typhoid fever and suggested that his room be cooled off. The jail should be cooled off with 20 tons of ice, Dr. Meyer said he discussed music, art, sociology and politics with Thaw, and in regard to the latter Thaw remarked "I helped to elect Jerome." The witness said he approached the subject of insanity with Thaw and in this connection referred to the crime. "I asked him what the motives were, which prompted him to shoot Stanford White, and he said there were no improper motives." In answer to a question as to what the effect or result of White's death had been Thaw replied that there "was less danger now than before" and "my mind thought he had acted properly under the circumstances.

On the second and third interviews with Thaw, Dr. Meyer said they talked on the subject of "young girls" or "innocent girls."

"You did not give any of those conversations in your direct examination, did you?" asked Mr. Clark.

"No," said the witness.

The witness told Thaw that he had read of several instances where men had enticed young girls away and robbed them of their virtue.

Thaw said that White was given to such practices and laid his traps for young girls.

"He named several names, but he said he had not all the evidence necessary to institute criminal proceedings against White."

SHAH OF PERSIA IS NOW REFUGEE

He Flees to the Russian Legation, Seeking Protection from The Nationalists.

INSURGENTS IN ASCENDANT.

Reported in St. Petersburg That Nationalists Have Had Foreign Legations Under Fire.

Teheran, Persia, July 15.—The shah has just taken refuge in the Russian legation. A deputation from the British and Russian legation is now on its way to inform the Nationalist leaders of the fact.

Despite efforts of Gen. Liakhoff, military governor of Teheran, to open negotiations with Nationalist leaders and the agreement on both sides to cease hostilities, street fighting was in progress throughout the day between the Persian Cossacks and the Nationalists around Artillery square and between the Royalist Bakhtiari and the newly arrived Nationalists and revolutionary Bakhtiari.

Insurgents continue in the ascendancy, and reinforcements are continually reaching them, the outcome in their favor appears to be foregone. The shah's troops are disheartened and will probably insist upon holding out until the Nationalist guns are trained on the shah's palace.

Control of the Royalist troops has really passed from the hands of the shah into those of Gen. Liakhoff, who again today tried to stop hostilities. Through the Russian legation, Gen. Liakhoff approached the Nationalist leaders and agreed that the Cossacks should not fire except upon the unruly soldiers of the shah, who were looting houses in the vicinity of Central square.

Fighting around the Cossacks' barracks ceased this afternoon and negotiations for their surrender are now being carried on with Gen. Liakhoff. The shah's troops are disheartened on account of insufficient food and pay. Fighting today centered around the British legation. A number of Royal Bakhtiari, gaining an entrance to the city, took up position on the tops of houses in the vicinity of the legation and near the Nationalist camp, which they bombarded with heavy rifle fire. The Nationalists responded, and for several hours the British telegraph offices and other foreign houses in which they had taken refuge were under fire. During a lull the women were removed to the British legation. The shah's night has been the Cossacks besieged in Artillery square and the Nationalists who attempted to dialogue them were exceedingly fierce.

Non-combatants were compelled to seek shelter in cellars, as shells were bursting everywhere. The Cossacks succeeded in holding their position and, on the withdrawal of the attacking party, opened fire with their artillery on the parliament building. Under cover of this they made an attack on national headquarters, but were repulsed by a small force of Bakhtiari, who took up a position with a Maxim gun in front of the British legation. There is no way of estimating the casualties, but so far as known no foreigners are among the killed or wounded. The telegraph operators, who are sticking to their posts, have the windows of their house barricaded.

LEGATIONS FIRED ON.

St. Petersburg, July 15.—The Novoe Vremya has received a sensational dispatch from Teheran stating that the foreign legations were under fire by the Nationalists. The dispatch says that the Russian legation was partly demolished and that the entire staff of the various legations were removed to safety outside the city.

CRUELTY TO A BABY CHARGED.

Fresno, Cal., July 15.—E. A. Lieb-scher of Sonoma, Cal., was arrested this evening at Madera on a charge of cruelty to his 13-months-old baby. To stop the infant from sucking its lips it is alleged that Lieb-scher pierced the child's tongue with a needle and sewed a button on either side. When arrested the man was carrying the baby in a barley sack, but the buttons had been removed from the tongue.

WARNING AGAINST HATPINS.

Hanover, Germany, July 15.—The president of the police has issued a decree warning women against the dangers of wearing long hat pins. He points out that several deplorable accidents have occurred recently from this cause, and he announces that if in the future an accident occurs to another through a woman's hat pin, she will be liable to arrest and prosecution for assault.

CRIPPLE CREEK RESERVED FOR AMERICANS

Cripple Creek, Colo., July 15.—Henceforth the Cripple Creek mining district will be reserved for American labor. This is the effect of the action taken by the county officials in the matter of the employment of foreign labor by some of the largest mines in the district.

Several days ago Sheriff von Phil issued an ultimatum that foreign workmen employed at some of the mines must leave. Immediately the foreigners armed themselves and today when the deputies sent by the sheriff to disarm them reached the camps they found their quarry had dispersed to the valley towns.

MOROCCAN SITUATION SERIOUS.

Tangier, July 15.—The internal situation in Morocco occasions the deepest apprehension, and it is believed here that international intervention cannot long be delayed. The entire country is the prey of complete anarchy. Whether Roghi is actually master of Fez is not yet certain, but Mulai Hafid is manifestly helpless and a prisoner in the capital, and Mulai el Kebir, brother of the shah, who has been proclaimed sultan in Zemur, is advancing at the head of a large force on Moquines.

A Great Serial of the Air

The conquest of the air and the invention of a practical aeroplane are yet in the future, but many believe that we are on the threshold of these events. Herbert Quick has written for the Cosmopolitan a serial dealing with the air that is as thrilling as it is odd, quaint and unusual.

268 Pages

More "Aunt Jane" Stories

It is more than ten years since "Aunt Jane" began telling her stories in the pages of this magazine, and there is still call for them from all quarters of the globe. "Aunt Jane" is the "real thing" and her tales are the "real thing." We are going to have more of them during the coming year, and they will be the best things Eliza Calvert Hall has ever done. Once you read them, you never miss any.

Elbert Hubbard

The writings of Elbert Hubbard on the opening pages of our issues are among the magazine's most popular features, and will be continued during the coming year.

A great feature of the coming year will be a life of Charlemagne by Charles Edward Russell, whose forceful and picturesque writing are always welcomed.

Ellis Parker Butler

"Pigs Is Pigs," and Ellis Parker Butler is Ellis Parker Butler. No one can give the quaint turn and the chuckle-compelling twist to a ludicrous situation like Mr. Butler. He will be heard from in the Cosmopolitan this year, and a broad grin is bound to follow the reading of his tales.

Edwin Lefevre on Wall Street

There is no writer that understands Wall Street as Edwin Lefevre understands it. Mr. Lefevre, like the Admirable Crichton, has "played the game." He knows every angle of it. Mr. Lefevre will contribute to the magazine in the course of the year a series of articles dealing with financiers and Wall Street methods. He will show how the game can be and is constantly being beaten.

Depew's Reminiscences

What names, what majestic figures, what great events, are visualized in the camera-like mind of Chauncey M. Depew! The tale of these men, the moving recital of these great events, will be told in the Cosmopolitan with all the anecdotal filip and the comprehensive and telling effect of this master orator and raconteur.
