

TELEPHOTOGRAPHY.

Photographic Reproductions Over

Long-Distance Wires in Germany.

Consul Thomas H. Norton, of Chemnitz, reports as follows concerning the German development of telephotography:

Much attention is now paid in Germany to the remarkable measure of success which has attended the installation of Professor Korn's invention for the transmission by wire of photographic reproductions over long distances. His latest experiments show that nearly as satisfactory results are secured by making use of ordinary telephone wires as on lines specially constructed for the purpose. The only difficulty encountered on telephone wires results from calls on adjoining wires. These cause the formation of zigzag lines on the reproduced picture at the receiving station, which are easily corrected by retouching. Alterations in current intensity by ringing on or ringing off, as well as during conversations over adjoining wires, are without effect. It is further shown that the wire employed for photographic reproduction can simultaneously be utilized for telephonic conversation. The advantages thereby accruing, to journalists more particularly, are self-evident. In these days when so many newspapers have private wires or lease a wire to a distant city for a certain time during the night a correspondent can telephone his dispatches and at the same time transmit the desired illustrative material. The first journal to utilize the new invention is the Copenhagen daily Politiken, which has ordered a complete installation for telephonic and telegraphic communication with its Berlin office.

ALWAYS THE POLITENESS.

A Germantown woman was not long ago watching a workman as he put up new window fixtures in her house. "Don't you think that you have placed those fixtures too high?" asked she, having reference to the curtain rolls last put in place. The workman, a solid German, made no reply, but continued to adjust the fixtures. "Didn't you hear my question?" demanded the lady of the house. "How dare you be so rude?" Whereupon the German gulped convulsively, and then replied in the gentlest of voices: "I had my mouth full of screws, and I could not speak till I swallow some—Harper's weekly."

AN OPTIMIST FROM MICHIGAN.

"To the pessimists of the east who fear for the future of our country I say: 'Come out to the middle west and we will convert you into optimists.'" James H. Angell, for 38 years president of the University of Michigan, recently uttered the foregoing words and then proceeded to prove his position. He maintains that there is no reason for any but the most glowing hopes for this country and says that the young men of the middle west are today setting forth in their life's work with more hope and loftier ideals than ever before in our history. Because he has known the young men of the past as well as those of the present generation, Dr. Angell is an optimist, he says, and adds that university departments dealing

ANOTHER VICTIM.

The late Senator Pugh of Alabama practiced law for many years in Eufaula. A Eufaula man said of him the other day:

"In an eloquent speech, on circumstantial evidence, I once heard Senator Pugh drive home the danger of this sort of evidence with a good story. 'He said that a Eufaula woman made one of those corn pone puddings for which the ladies of our state are famous. She put the pudding on a shelf to cool, and then she went out to have a dress fitted. Her little son Jabez was left alone in the house. 'Jabez played with his toys till he got hungry. Then he put a chair beneath the shelf, climbed up, and ate all of the delicious pone pudding that his small interior would possibly hold. To conclude, he did a strange thing. 'He caught the cat, dabbled her four paws in the soft yellow custard in the bottom of the dish, and then set her down. She scampered through the kitchen into the dining-room and parlor, and thence out of doors. On the bare boards of the kitchen, on the dining-room's red carpet, and on the parlor's carpet of green she left impressively small golden footprints. Very neat, very conspicuous. The boy smiled softly to himself. 'And that evening, on his father's return, he heard a wild scampering below, the banging of the front door, a terrified mewling, and the sharp crack of a rifle. 'Then little Jabez smiled softly to himself again. 'Ah me,' he said, 'there goes another victim of circumstantial evidence.'"

WAS IN POOR HEALTH FOR YEARS.

Ira W. Kelley, of Mansfield, Pa., writes: "I was in poor health for two years, suffering from kidney and bladder trouble, and spent considerable money consulting physicians without obtaining any marked benefit, but was cured by Foley's Kidney Cure, and I desire to add my testimony that it may be the cause of restoring the health of others. Refuse substitutes. For sale by F. J. Hill Drug Co., 'The Never Substitutes'." with municipal problems have been inaugurated, because it is in municipalities that great reforms must be begun in order to spread them throughout the entire governmental fabric. He decries the pessimism of the east, although born in Rhode Island, and says that narrowness of mind is responsible for all gloomy forebodings.

THE INVIOLENT RULE.

Joseph H. Choate, the famous lawyer, adverted at a dinner in New York to the English club rule that no club servant may ever, on any account, be tipped.

"When I lived in London," said Mr. Choate, "I heard of an amusing incident based upon this rule."

"There was a certain club which did not permit gambling; but four members, at a loss one night for something to do, decided to have a quiet game of bridge—a small game—half a crown a hundred, or something of that sort."

"So they sought out a secluded corner and fell to. Soon, though, they noticed one of the club waiters hovering round them, casting a stern and suspicious glance at their tables. He was a veteran waiter, a club landmark, and they grew a little alarmed. He might tell. Finally they called the man over."

"Joseph," said the general, "what you suspect is true. We are indeed gambling. And we want you to keep mum. After all, Joseph, you have been with the club a good while, and I don't suppose this is the first time you have seen the rules broken."

"General," said Joseph, quietly, "I have served the club 47 years, and I have seen, sir, every rule broken but one."

"And what one is that?"

"That one, sir, against tipping the club waiters."

"Joseph then had the pleasure of seeing that rule broken, too."

Drug Dept., 112 and 114 South Main Street.

makers are the victims of their own loose business methods and it is likely that a rule will be established, to be followed throughout the country, whereby a recognized racegoer will be obliged to issue daily written credentials to any persons whom he may employ to lay wagers for him when cash is represented by "markers." And incidentally "society" pretends to be shocked at the size of the wagers taken in Dr. McDonald's name, he being merely a racegoer and not an owner whose privilege it would be to back his own horses heavily.

TURF RULES MAY BE CHANGED.

When a man can, by the lifting of a finger, record bets on race horses and then, if he loses, repudiate the transaction, the Metropolitan Turf association believes that the time has come when the rules of betting should be revised. This conclusion has been reached because of the charge that an alleged betting commissioner of Dr. Carlos F. McDonald, expert alienist and physician to the four hundred of New York, has recorded $20,000 worth of wagers on the metropolitan course and that Dr. McDonald declines to pay the lost "markers." The physician says he was in the Canadian woods fishing when the commissioner made the wagers and that he was not authorized to so act. It would appear that the book-

WHERE FOLLY BEATS WISDOM.

Dr. Emil Reich, the famous lecturer, and historian, was once discussing marriage at a dinner in New York.

"That was a wise saying of the old Greek philosopher," murmured an elderly man. "Whether you marry her or not, you will regret it." "I knew an old maid in my native Eperjes," said Dr. Reich, "who once got off a saying almost as good as the immortal Greek one. 'Auntie,' said her little niece to her, 'what would you do if you had your life to live over again?' 'The lonely spinster with a sour smile answered: 'Get married before I had sense enough to decide to be an old maid.'"

THE GLOVED GAMBLER.

Eugene Higgins, whose yacht, Yarn, lay in the harbor of Nice, was entertaining at dinner at Ciro's, in Monte Carlo, a party of Americans.

The talk turning to play at the Casino, Mr. Higgins described an incident that he had witnessed the night before.

"In one of the gold rooms," he said, "a gentleman in lavender gloves was playing in wonderful luck, winning nearly every stake. As a great stack of plaques—gold pieces called 'plaques'—was pushed to him by the croupier, I heard a young lady whisper in his ear: 'It is very odd, monsieur, to wear gloves at play. What do you do it for? Luck?' 'The fortunate player smiled grimly. 'Not at all,' he replied. 'I promised my wife on her death-bed never again to touch a card.'"

YOUR LIVER.

Is out of order. You go to bed in a bad humor and get up with a bad taste in your mouth. You want something to stimulate your liver. Just try Herbine, the liver regulator. A positive cure for Constipation, Dyspepsia and all liver complaints. Mrs. F. A. Worth, Texas, writes: 'I have used Herbine in my family for years. Words can't express what I think about it. Everybody in my household are happy and well, and we owe it to Herbine. Sold by Z. M. I. Drug Dept., 112 and 114 South Main Street. B' try has been pushing forward too rapidly and that a temporary cessation will be the best remedy for the people of the whole country. "There cannot, of course, be too great prosperity," he said, "but there can easily be too much business for the money with which to do it."
