

JUDGE TANNER HAD NO AUTHORITY.

Writ of Certiorari Issued by Judge Hall in the District Court.

ASKS THAT ORDER BE SET ASIDE.

Twentieth Ward Co-op Takes Action Against City Court and Frank Davi.

A petition for a writ of certiorari was filed in the district court today by the Twentieth Ward Co-operative Mercantile Institution directed against Judge H. S. Tanner of the city court, and Frank Davi, in which it is asked that an order made by Judge Tanner on July 5, 1904, setting aside a judgment rendered in favor of plaintiff and against Davi in Justice of the Peace Lochrie's court in 1901, be reviewed by the district court and be declared null and void.

The affidavit in support of the petition recites that judgment was rendered by Justice Lochrie on March 27, 1901, in favor of plaintiff for the sum of $12.15 against Davi and other defendants. It is further alleged that Judge Tanner on July 5 of this year made a pretended order setting aside said judgment as against Davi. Such order, it is claimed, is void and beyond the jurisdiction of said court because the act purporting to make the city court the successor of the said justice court does not authorize the city court to set aside a judgment of the justice court, and said judgment cannot be set aside except upon motion for a new trial made within 10 days after the entry of the judgment.

A writ of certiorari was issued today by Judge Hall.

MRS. FARROW GETS $4,000.

Widow and Two Children of Motorman Are Awarded Damages.

Judgment by stipulation in favor of plaintiffs for $4,000 was rendered by Judge Hall today in the damage suit of Clara M. Farrow et al against the Consolidated Railway & Power company. The action was brought by Mrs. Farrow and her two children to recover $25,150 as damages for the death of her husband, Walter Farrow, who received fatal injuries on a Third Street car on Feb. 21, 1903, from which he died two days later.

The deceased was a motorman on a Third Street car, and owing to a dense fog which prevailed on the day of the accident, his car collided with a South Temple street car on the single track on South Temple street just east of the Alta club. Farrow's injuries resulted fatally and several passengers on both cars were injured pretty badly also.

AFTER MANY YEARS.

Aged Mrs. Carlson Seeks a Divorce from Her Cruel Husband.

After 29 years of married life, Anna E. Carlson, a woman over 60 years of age, now seeks a divorce from her husband, Carl August Carlson, who is 57 years of age, on the ground of cruelty. In the complaint, which was filed in the district court yesterday, Mrs. Carlson alleges that her husband has on frequent occasions while intoxicated called her and abusive names, choked her and threatened to shoot her. About three months ago she claims that he threw her out of their house at Hingham and she was compelled to come to Salt Lake to live. She asks for a divorce, for attorney's fees and costs of suit, and that her husband be restrained from disposing of any of his property until this case is determined. They were married in Sweden 29 years ago.

Estate of J. R. Bennion.

Emma J. Bennion filed a petition in the probate division of the district court today, asking that letters of administration of the estate of John R. Bennion, deceased, be issued to herself and Samuel O. Bennion. The estate consists of 35 shares of stock in the Taylorville, Iowa, and 43 acres of land in Taylorville. There are seven heirs to the estate. The petition will be heard by Judge Hall on Friday, July 29.

Personal Injury Suit.

Marie V. Pickett has filed suit in the district court against Henry Newell, to recover $25,000 as damages for personal injuries caused by plaintiff falling down the stairs in the Morlan block, at 15 West Second South street. It is alleged that defendant negligently caused the hardwood floor of said building to be excessively oiled and, on the evening of Feb. 12, 1904, plaintiff came out of her room and slipped on the floor and fell down the stairs, receiving permanent injuries, for which she asks damages, as stated above.

HISTORIC BEEHIVE.

One That Surmounted President's Mansion for So Many Years, Replaced.

President Joseph F. Smith has presented to the Utah State Historical society the old-time beehive which President Brigham Young had made and placed on the old President's mansion in 1855, and which has been there ever since. But it has now been restored to its full "pristine beauty" by Hon. Spencer Clawson, in whose possession the famous old relic is at present. A new beehive has been placed on the site of the old one, which was beginning to show the ravages of time.

POLICE MAKE SEVERAL ARRESTS

Four Suspicious Looking Characters Are Gathered in After Considerable Trouble.

MAY BE DAYLIGHT BURGLARS.

Were Overheard Making Plans—After Arrest One Tries to Break—For Liberty.

The police had a busy time of it last evening in shadowing and arresting four suspicious looking characters. One of them, J. E. Driscoll, is under charge of attempting to smuggle opium into a prisoner at the city jail.

Last evening Chief of Police Lynch heard some one at the rear of the jail talking to a colored prisoner. Upon investigation he found that it was Driscoll, who had been released but a day or two before. He sent in a pair of hose to the colored man, and wrapped neatly in the bundle was a quantity of what the police call "enshee." It is a formation of gum opium, and the smuggling of the stuff into a prison is a felony. Chief Lynch had the man shadowed and placed under arrest. A complaint has been filed against him and he will have a hearing before Judge Tanner.

Last night three men, giving the names of Will Cramer, W. Mason and Ed Harris, were arrested by Detectives Raleigh and Chase, and Officers Taylor and Preece. They are only charged with vagrancy, but the officers are convinced that the men were contemplating a big job of burglary when arrested.

They were overheard talking over part of their plans, and one of the men was saying to another: "We will have to do that job tonight and get out of town as quickly as possible. I have to go to Ogden, as I have something on there."

Chief Lynch sent an officer to shadow the fellows, and Detectives Chase and Raleigh took up the trail. They located the men on Third South, between East and West Temple streets. Fearful that the men might give them "the slip" the officers placed them under arrest and took them to the station. While in the desk sergeant's office, one of them feigned drunkenness, and tried to make his escape. He darted behind the jail and started for the alley. But quick as he was, he was not fast enough for Detective Raleigh. The latter made a jump for the fleeing man and caught him before he could get to the street. Raleigh nearly pulled the man's head off. All of them were landed behind the bars, and will be tried for vagrancy.

They are part of the gang of ten men arrested several days ago and given "floaters" by Judge Tanner. The police are confident they have some of the daylight burglars in the gang, and in a singular fact that since the fellows' arrest the first time, there has not been a case of robbery reported.

CRUISE ON THE LAKE.

Sunday School Workers Will Have a Great Time Next Thursday.

It will be pleasing news to intending Sunday school excursionists to learn that arrangements have been made with the owners of the yachts at Salt Lake beach to make excursions to and from Antelope Island on Thursday next. No doubt many will take advantage of this opportunity of having an hour's sail on the waters of the Great Salt Lake, and of visiting the island of buffaloes. The fare for the round trip will be nominal.

The Wallace brass band will be in attendance at the beach, and will furnish music for the children's dance during the forenoon. For the afternoon and evening dances a select orchestra has been engaged. Over 20 Sunday school workers have been appointed to act as committee and every detail of the great excursion is receiving careful attention. On the arrival of all the excursionists, the committee will find committees waiting to receive them, and every possible assistance will be cheerfully rendered.

BROKE HIS COLLAR BONE.

Lester Blackner Meets With Accident While Wrestling on Roof.

Lester Blackner, an elevator boy in the main building of the Deseret News, met with a serious accident last evening on the roof of the building. A number of young boys had gone there to wrestle, and Blackner and Guy Harris were in the midst of an interesting exhibition when the former was thrown. He landed in such a manner as to break his collar bone, and while it did not hurt him too badly, he was unable to get up. He was carried to the hospital, where he received medical attention, and later the young man was carried to his home.

INFORMATION WANTED.

David McEwen, residing at 445 Twentieth St., Niagara Falls, New York, has written to President Joseph F. Smith, making inquiry respecting the whereabouts of David Wilkie, late of Paisley, Scotland. Mr. Wilkie (if alive) or his relatives are requested to place themselves in communication with Mr. McEwen, who intimates that it may be to their advantage to do so.

Elder J. H. Branton, whose mission address is 29 Alma street, Blackburn, Eng., writes for information concerning the whereabouts of Henry Wilson and wife Jane, who left Glasgow, Scotland, for Utah, in 1852 or thereabouts, and lived in Salt Lake four or five years ago. Mr. Wilson was a grinder by occupation, and his oldest son was named William. Any information concerning him would be gladly received, as his brother David is very anxious to hear from him.

HON. J. C. CUTLER IS IN THE RACE.

Makes Formal Announcement of His Candidacy for Gubernatorial Nomination.

WHERE THE OTHERS STAND.

Mr. Cutler's Appearance in the Contest Will be Watched With Interest by Other Candidates.

Ever since the meeting of the Republican state committee Saturday afternoon, there has been considerable activity in party politics, so that laymen hardly know what the situation really is. In order to enlighten the public mind on one question—that of just who and who are not candidates for governor on the Republican ticket, the "News" today sought interviews with the men mentioned, the result of which will be seen below.

Hon. John C. Cutler was seen by a "News" reporter shortly after noon today, and in response to a direct question as to whether or not he was a candidate for governor on the Republican ticket, said:

"Well, I suppose I may as well tell you just where I stand in the matter. For some time past I have been asked by my friends to become a candidate, and have at last yielded to their desires. Consequently I am a candidate for the gubernatorial nomination and hope by fair means and the assistance of my friends throughout the state, to be successful in the convention, and just as successful at the polls next November."

The name of Hon. T. R. Cutler has also been mentioned in this connection, but the "News" is authorized to state that this gentleman is not a candidate and never has been.

Hon. E. H. Callister, who has been regarded by many as one of the leading candidates for the place, was also seen, but he refused absolutely to enter the arena or deny his reported candidacy. It may be that Mr. Callister, being a federal office holder, is "out of politics," hence his reticence in the matter.

Governor Wells, who has been urged by many to consent to become his own successor, is playing Parker-like, a silent game. This far he has failed to make any statement as to what he intends to do.

Joseph M. Smith, who was mentioned in last evening's "News" as a candidate for the governorship, is in Montana, and there appears to be no one in Salt Lake with authority to speak for him.

POLITICAL STRAWS.

Charles D. Rookledge, the mining man, announces his candidacy for the Republican nomination for county treasurer.

Senator Simon Bamberger has returned from the St. Louis convention. He is enthusiastic over the work of that body, and believes that since Cleveland was elected the second time, the Democratic party has not had reason for greater encouragement than it has at present.

The committee on arrangements for the Young Men's Democratic club's outing at Salt Lake on Aug. 4 is hard at work. An effort will be made to secure a national speaker for the occasion. If possible, William Trent and his wife, engaged. Henry M. Teller has also been mentioned.

The Young Men's Republican club has about completed its arrangements for the big celebration at Calder's park next Saturday.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

Several engagement announcements of interest to many friends are made, including those of Miss Annette Ferguson and Ralph Ainsworth McBroome, Miss Margaret Trent and William S. Trent, both formerly of this city, and Amy R. Hagman and George E. Carpenter. The wedding of each couple will take place early in the fall.

The many friends of Miss Mary V. Cox, formerly of this city and now of Seattle, will be glad to welcome her return to Salt Lake, she being here for a short visit with relatives and friends. Miss Cox is at the home of her uncle, Herman Hill, during her stay.

Miss Lulu Gates leaves this week to spend some time in Provo Canyon.

Miss Phoebe Scholes left today for Sioux City, where she will visit with relatives for the summer.

Miss Eliza Curtis left yesterday for San Francisco.

The family of H. G. Whitney leave this week to spend the summer in their cottage at Brighton.

Dr. E. D. Woodruff and daughter Leslie have returned after an absence of six weeks, during which time they visited the world's fair, Washington, New York, and other eastern points. The family left yesterday to spend the summer at Silver Lake.

Miss Mary Sharp entertained at a linen shower yesterday for the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard R. Romney.

AT THE RESORTS.

The Salt Lake and Grand theater stage hands will indulge in a benefit at Uthman park Wednesday evening, July 28. A fine vaudeville program is being prepared.

BRANCH POSTOFFICES.

Through the efforts of Postmaster Thomas, substation No. 7 has been established at 324 south East Temple street, with W. D. Malbis as clerk in charge; also, substation No. 12, at 371 west Seventh South street, with Mrs. Elizabeth Griffiths as clerk in charge. EIGHT YEARS OF BARBOUT H.

Disastrous Result of Lack of Precipitation in Arizona Forest Reserve.

EVEN HARDY TREES PERISH.

Ten Years Ago the Section Was Well Watered and Lands Were Successfully Farmed.

The disastrous result of eight years of drouth in a region that has only a limited water supply is the most impressive lesson contained in professional paper No. 23, recently published by the United States geological survey. "Forest Conditions in the Black Mesa Forest Reserve, Arizona," is the title of the paper, which was prepared by Mr. F. G. Plummer from notes furnished by Messrs. Theodore F. Rixon and Arthur Dowdell.

The reserve comprises an area of 2,785 square miles and includes parts of Yavapai, Coconino, Gila, Navajo, Apache, and Graham counties, Arizona. It is an irregular strip of land running from central Arizona in a general southeasterly direction to the New Mexico boundary. It follows and lies principally on the north slope of the Colorado Gila divide. The character of this divide, known as Black Mesa, is that of a southward-facing escarpment of nearly perpendicular rock, 1,500 to 2,400 feet high, which is inaccessible, except by a few places, to the most daring climber. It is the south edge of the great Colorado plateau. The topography of the reserve is in general rough and broken, though the southern portion is more rolling, with several high plateaus.

Water is very scarce. Eight years ago the reserve was comparatively well watered, but successive seasons of drouth have rendered it exceedingly dry, and unless a change for the better occurs cattlemen and sheepmen will desert the country. Numerous small areas were once profitably grazed, but in recent years the lack of rainfall has caused a marked decline in agriculture. Grazing, the main industry of this and adjacent regions, has also suffered greatly from continued drouths. The only remaining areas which are used solely for cattle ranges are on Blue and Salt rivers and Eagle creek. The best growths of wild forage grasses are nearly always found at some distance from water, and are consequently not available for stock which is unable to make the trip from water to pasture.

The Verde slope, in the Beaver creek watershed, is an example of repeated overstocking. This district was formerly a source of great wealth to settlers in that vicinity, but the excessive number of cattle and horses grazed in the district have gone to the point where the land is no longer capable of supporting the stock.

Yellow pine is the principal timber tree of the reserve and the only lumber at present used for manufacturing purposes. The drouth of the last eight years has affected even trees like the yellow pine, alligator, juniper, and Arizona cypress, which, as a rule, stand dry weather very well. Hundreds of thousands of these trees will be lost unless immediately logged.

LATE LOCALS.

Concrete footings are being laid for the new agricultural fair building at the state fair grounds.

President Wallace and General Manager Murray of the Bell Telephone company have gone to Montana on a tour of inspection.

Contractor Morah resumed work today on the grading of First South street and Second East streets, preparatory to asphaltting.

Local showers are expected tonight by the weather office, which will cool the air and make the atmosphere more pleasant, to say nothing of laying the dust.

The over head wires of the Bell Telephone company in the paved district are fast disappearing, and the poles will be either cut down in height, or removed altogether.

Life Pence of Boise, is here, enrouteing some well known eastern investors around town. In the past he has been in the city as a partner in the M. M. Gunn of Chicago, C. C. Ault of Denver, and Nelson Fritz of Denver.

A local business house essayed this morning to fly a streamer advertisement attached to a great cloth kite, over the city, but the streamer caught in the wires, and was torn beyond redemption, so that the experiment "came to an untimely end."

Dr. Odell has received some money from the parents of John Kell, whom he recently treated, addressed to the latter. The young man seems to have dropped out of sight very suddenly and the doctor is endeavoring to find him to turn over the remittance.

Dr. Byron Kesler, D. D. S., a Utah boy, who recently graduated with high honors from the Ann Arbor medical school, is in this city to obtain a certificate from the state board of medical education, which he has not yet obtained, where he will locate and hang up his shingle.

The Tenth and Thirty-third ward Sunday schools spent yesterday at Lagoon, much to the delight of hosts of the little folks. Baseball, races, tug-of-war, boating, and the rest of the day's amusements, while in the evening parents, officers and teachers enjoyed themselves in the dance till a late hour.

The Central station of the Utah Light & Railway company is being put in such perfect shape that when the arrangement is completed it will be unsurpassed by any other station in the United States. The heavy feed wires now strung overhead between the station and the street will eventually be relaid under ground, and the heavy wires continued underground for four blocks north and south on West Temple street.

C. F. Annett, the wellknown electrical expert, is visiting in this city for a few days, and is stopping at 221 Second street. Mr. Annett has perfected an invention whereby the same railway wire can be utilized either for telegraph or telephone purposes, or both at the same time, and the invention has been successfully tested on the Short Line. It was tried between Nampa and Prosser, and worked all right. In fact, the device has passed the experimental stage, with its adoption on the Illinois Central. Mr. Annett was formerly a resident in this city, and an official of the old telephone company, and member of the Alta club, so that he is well known here.

CLANNISHNESS IN NEW ENGLAND

In Vermont Canadians Are Fast Taking the Place of the Old Puritan Stock.

LATTER HAS DRIFTED WEST.

Prohibition Question Has Assumed a New Phase There—Mr. Cosgriff's Observations.

President J. E. Cosgriff of the Commercial National bank returned last evening from his extended eastern trip. He was a delegate to the national Republican convention, and from there he went to his old home at Burlington, Vt. Mr. Cosgriff found business conditions rather quiet down east, on account of its being presidential year, and business men were complaining about closeness of margins of profit.

Mr. Cosgriff was much interested in a subject that has for some time past been the theme of discussion in the New England and other papers, viz., the decadence of the New England hill towns. He found the old Puritan stock rapidly disappearing. Many of this stock have moved into the west, where they have proven the bone and sinew in building up the newer parts of the country. Then the people of the old stock are largely children, which is also a strong factor in the diminution.

To fill the vacancies, the French Canadian element is drifting heavily in from the north, filling up the country villages and factories, and the French Catholic churches are more and more in need of repair, and their congregations are dwindling away. Mr. Cosgriff noted in conversation with ex-Gov. Barre and other prominent Vermonters, that a mistake had been made in holding aloof from the new element, and not taking them into public or social consideration. It is pointed out that an increased clannish feeling among the Canadians, and the result will be that when the latter come to be in the majority, and realize the power they "hold" in the offices and the political plums themselves, Mr. Cosgriff has also noted the difference in the west, where people of all nationalities and the eastern Americans have assimilated together. Each regards the other as equal, and the result is a much quicker adoption of the foreign element. American ideas prevail in the New England states, and the practical disappearance of national clannishness.

The prohibition question has assumed a new phase in Vermont. The people find they "hold" the liquor license, and are preparing to return to the former system of prohibition which obtained for 50 years. The people became so used to this style of things, that any change has proven unpopular to them. It is noticeable that the name "saloon" is tabooed entirely in Vermont; and in localities where liquor selling is allowed by the new local option system, other than the "saloon" as a name to designate where drink may be sold.

NEARLY A MILE A MINUTE

Rate of Wind in Salt Lake Today—Rain Tonight—Hottest Day Sunday.

This has proven a decidedly squally day, with the wind blowing from the northwest as high as 55 miles per hour. Of course it has been stirring up immense clouds of dust which have made it very very unpleasant all over town. The weather office predicts, however, that the wind will die down about sundown, to be followed later by local rains.

The maximum thermometer was 55 degrees, which height was reached at 11 a. m. The highest thermometer reading was 52 degrees, which was registered last Sunday afternoon.

MILITIA AND REGULARS.

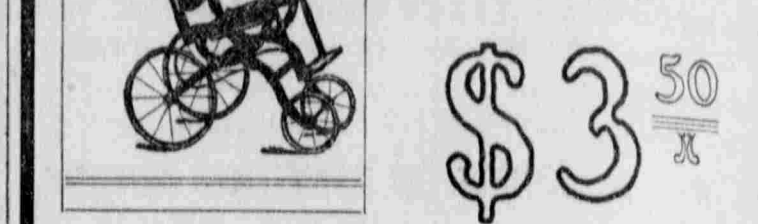

Effort to Get National Guard Batteries Out to Strawberry Encampment.

General Baldwin is much in favor of close association of the regulars, both officers and enlisted men, with the members of the national guard in encampment and on practice marches. And in accordance with this policy, there has been an interesting correspondence between Gov. Wells and Adjutant-General Burton with the officers at department headquarters and at Fort Douglas. The latter officers in particular have heartily seconded the suggestions of General Baldwin and are ready to extend in every possible way such help as may be called for.

It is now proposed that certain officers and enlisted men of the local battery accompany the regular artillery on the Strawberry march and target practice; but up to this afternoon, it had not been ascertained whether the guards-

He suggested that they call on National Chairman Cortelyou in New York with the resolutions, but they declined to accept the suggestion. They left immediately for home to report to a convention which now is in session at Pittston, Pa.

Will be a Total Loss.

New Orleans, La., July 12.—Advices received today by the agents of the steamer Chamblais, which struck a snag below Natchez last night, says the boat with its cargo will prove a total loss. The steamer was bound to St. Louis with a cargo valued at $30,000, and with about 40 New Orleans passengers en route to the exposition. The boat was valued at $50,000. No lives were lost.

GEMS IN HER STOCKINGS.

Search of Martha Elyson Sablin Proved She Had Them There.

Stockton, Cal., July 12.—Diamonds worth about $5,000 have been found upon the person of Martha Elyson Sablin, arrested here yesterday with Henry J. Kendall, for a Chicago diamond robbery. The woman objected strenuously to being searched, but finally permitted the wife of Jailer Benjamin to search her in her stockings and corsets. There are four rings with diamond settings. One is worth $200, two are worth $200 each and one is a small one valued at $100. There are also numerous brooches, pins and other jewelry with magnificent diamonds set in them.

The jewels answered the descriptions of some of those stolen in Chicago. Kendall is still in jail, being unable to secure $5,000 bail, but the woman is out on $2,000 cash bail. The two were held on a fugitive warrant. Today, however, Chief of Police Walker received a telegraphic warrant, and an officer is now on the way here from Chicago.
