He traced the various steps taken of late leading in the direction of government landlord-ism and characterized President Roose-vell's manosition. When the committee on ordentials reported it was found that 498 delegates were accredited to Celorado, 145 to Wyoming, and the balance of states scarcely 100. Colo-rado's representation was later cut to 396, it being stated the first figures were an error. It developed that all Colorado's accredited delegates, whether present or not, had been counted, while in the case of the other states only those present were to be counted, while in the case of the other states only those present were to be allowed to vote. The report was sent back to the committee with instruc-tions to bring its report according to the call of the convention. This com-mittee's report will be heard the first thing tomorrow morning, and if it obeys its instructions it will give a vote for every person whose credentials have been sent to the convention, whether they are present or not.

erbe of Arizona.

PUBLIC LAND POLICY. The first subject on the program today was "The Public Land Policy, Past and Present," the discussion be-ing opened by Congressman Robert W. Bonynge of Colorado. Mr. Bonynge said it was not in ac-cordance with the Constitution or with the history of the administration of the law, for the government to hold control of a large area of land for an indefinite period. The powers of the mational government, he said, must be found in the Constitution, Mr. Bonynge claimed that if the plan of the admini-istration for withdrawing 150,000,000 acres of land for forest reserve, 64,-000 acres of grazing land is carried 000 acres of grazing land is carried out it would have the effect of with-drawing five-sixths of the public lands from entry

WITHDRAWAL OF COAL LANDS.

Thomas J. Walsh, of Mantana, read the withdrawal of coal lands, and also the plan to lease public lands for grazing purposes. He contended the gov-ernment had no right to lease such lands, and expressed the opinion that the forest reserve is a "burden and a blight". olight.

blight." C. P. Arnold of Wyoming made a sarcastic speech on the work of the forestry reserve in Wyoming. The final report of the committee on credentials precipitated a lively debate when it was discovered that the com-mittee had given to Colorado one vote for every delegate accredited, making a total of 496. With the other states, only those present were given votes. only those present were given votes.

REPORT ATTACKED.

Murdo McKenzie, president of the American National Livestock associa-tion, and an adherent to President Roosevelt's leasing policy, led the at-tack on the report. Senator Warren of Wyoning seconded McKenzie. He demanded to know whether the con-vention was a meeting of the Colorado

The necessity for any radical de-parture from the part policy of gradu-aly passing public lands into the hands norrow

To encourage private ownership of land has been our policy from the be-ginning. Our people are not inclined to look with much greater favor on to look with much greater favor on government than on private landlord-ism. The western states were admitted into the Union with the understanding that the public lands were, by passing into private ownership, to become tax-able. If the system of permanent gov-crument ownership and control is to be established, we must fundamentally re-adiust our fiscal radios as as to more or changed ownership and control is to be established, we must fundamentally re-adjust our fiscal policy so as to support our commonwealths from other sources than the taxation of lands. We must change our views relative to land own-ership and depend for our growth in population and wealth not upon indi-vidual land ownership, but on a sys-tem of tenantry at the will of the agent of a federal landlord. It it is proposed to do this we should enter upon the en-terprise with full knowledge of what it means. If the federal government is to be invited to permanently control, particularly where that control is not limited, by provision of law, we should understand the possibilities of such con-trol, how far reaching and fundamen-tal its effect may be in changing the character of our institutions and the condition of our people."

THE "OTHER SIDE'S" VIEWS. There was a demand from some of the delegates at the conclusion of Mr. Mondell's address that some of those from "the other side" be heard, and the chairman called upon Gen. Irving

Hale of this state. Gen. Hale spoke of the great importance of preserving the timber in order to conserve the water for irriga-tion. The forest preserves the snow, he said, and in this way it becomes a natsaid, and this way it before a nat-ural reservoir. Important as the for-ests are for the timber in them they are much more necessary as reservoirs. He thought that the work of the forest-ry department was of greatest use to Congressman Mondell of Wyoming, Thomas Carter of Montana and several other prominent men dellvered speeches, but the vital issues before the convention were only lightly touched upon. Seay, Garfield gave a hint of his views concerning the demands of the west by saying that the west had traveled from the Pacific coast across the ocean to the orient, and, that the government, in dealing with national affairs, recog-nized no east, no west, no north and no south. Montague, a metallic furniture expert of New York, testified before the capi-tol investigating commission today that the state had not only been grossly overcharged for the metallic furniture supplied by the Pennsylvania Construc-tion company under its $2,000,000 con-tract with board of grounds and build-ings, but that he had bored into the "burglar-proof valit" in the state treasurer's office in four hours with an ordinary eight-inch breast drill. Mr. Montague said the four safes in the capitol, for which this concern was paid $66,000 by the_state, were worth only $27,000, and that there was no chrome steel or steel rails in the valit, only ordinary steel, which anyone could bere into with ease. ## LOCAL CONTRACT SYSTEM.

Denver, June 19.—The convention of the Western Federation of Miners continued today the discussion of the amendment to the constitution pro-hibiting the local unions from making hibiting the local unions from making labor contracts with the operators. There was a bitter controversy be-tween the conservatives, who opposed the amendment, and the radicals. Many locals have contracts with the operators, the Butte union having one for five years. The discussion developed over a resolution introduced by Delegate Robert Randall of Goldfield union No. 220. The resolution reads as fol-lows:

"Contracts entered into with the

"Contracts entered into with the employing classes are of benefit only to the employer. Such contracts di-vide the workers in their struggle with the exploiters; place one body of workers in subjection while war is being waged upon another body; often compel one union to scab upon an-other union; destroys the class in-stinct of the workers by a faise sense of temporary security to cease tak-ing an active interest in the affairs of their organization while such con-tracts are in force and have abso-lurely no place in a progressive labor organization. Therefore, be it: "Resolved, by the fiftheenth annual convention of the Western Federation of Miners that any and all signed contracts or verbal agreements for any specified length of time that may have been entered into by sny local union.

any specified length of time that may have been entered into by any local union or unious of the Western Fed-cration of Miners are by this conven-tion declared null and vold." Delegate John McMullin, of Butte, Mont., was on the floor in defense of the contract system for some time. He explained that the Butte union had entered into contracts because He explained that the party and had entered into contracts because it was decided to do so by a great ma-jority of the members, who voted in favor of contracts. Former Judge J. C. Campbell, the mayor's chief counsel, said today to the Associated Press:

mayor's chief counsel, said today to the Associated Press: "Mr. Schmitz is mayor of San Fran-cisco and he does not propose to yield his office to Supervisor Gallagher or any other Spreckles operative unless forced to by the courts. He rests his position on two main grounds; first, that the board of supervisors is without legal right to bestow the functions of the mayorality upon another; second, that its attempt so to do tends to create a state of anarchy in San Francisco. "If the district attorney is allowed to pursue the course laid down for him. Mr. Spreckels and his associates, an emergency mayor will presently call for the resignations of the chief of police, the police commissioners, the commis-sioners of public works, the fire com-missioners and other important munici-pal officials. The incumbents, hacked up firmly by Mayor Schmitz, will re-fuse. They will then be removed by Mr. Spreckels' emergency mayor, 'who will appoint men at the district attor-ney's order to succeed them.' What will be the result? Just as we how have two mayors, we shall then have two chiefs of police, two boards of public works, two sets of all municipal depart-ment afficials, each essaying to perform the fanctions of office and refusing to works, two sets of all municipal depart-ment officials, each essaying to perform the functions of office and refusing to recognize the other. When it comes to this, we shall have reached anarchy. "I have simply to repeat that under no circumstances will Mayor Schmitz yield to his political opponents, for as such, and such only, Messrs. Spreckels, Langdon, Heney, et al. how stand ex-posed by their own acts. Having thrice at the poils failed to forestall a Schmitz administration, they have adopted bold-er and more desperate measures. Mr. Schmitz and his municipal appointees will do everything in their power to keep these measures from becoming successful."
