

SIX DELEGATES WERE CHOSEN.

Utah to be Well Represented at the National Republican Convention—Resolutions Consistent With Republican Doctrine Are Unanimously Adopted.

It was evening yesterday when the Republican state convention began balloting for delegates to the national convention, resulting in the selection of the following gentlemen:

HEBER M. WELLS,
ARTHUR BROWN,
GEO. SUTHERLAND,
THOMAS KEARNS,
C. E. LOOSE,
GEO. M. HANSON,

previous to the balloting, the report of the resolutions committee was read by Fred W. Adams of Ogden, as follows:

"This convention, representing the Republican party of Utah, congratulates the people of the State on the change that has come with national Republican ascendancy.

It is a change from darkness to light; from despair to exultation and hope; from a fearful depression to such progress and prosperity as the State never knew before.

We congratulate the farmer, the miner, the manufacturer, the merchant, the stock-raiser, the wage-prover, and every class of the laborer who depends upon employment for the means to live.

We are proud of the fact that in all the grand circuit of industries there is not one grounded wire.

We rejoice in the passage of the people's act and in the greatly improved prosperity of the people which has followed.

We glory in the triumphs of the Spanish war, both on land and sea, and in the great victories of our navy and military heroes.

We heartily support the administration in the annexation of Hawaii and in the acquisition of Porto Rico, Guam and the Philippines.

We trust the future government of our new possessions to Congress and the President, believing that they may wisely control and govern them as they deem best, and feeling assured that they will give to these possessions the same measure of local self-government for which they may show themselves fitted.

Our experience in the recent war with Spain and the protection of our possessions in the Pacific ocean have demonstrated the necessity of the completion of the Nicaragua canal. We favor its speedy completion and its control, if not ownership, by this country.

We point to the treatment of Cuba by our government as something which will go into history as a golden page.

We urge that all trusts, combines of capital, when established to bring out natural profits from consumers, are to be punished alike by State and national laws.

We favor gold and silver as the money of the Republic. We favor every enlightened advantage to labor to shorten his hours, to enlarge its wage and to add to the material prosperity and social and intellectual advancement of the wage-earner.

We thank the soldiers and sailors of the Republic, and especially the soldiers of Utah, for their valor, devotion and patriotism. They kept "the flag full and advanced," they have exalted the nation.

We deplore the terrible calamity in the coal mines at Sefton and deeply sympathize with the sufferers.

We rejoice at the thought which we are calling The Hague peace conference, and hope that the same spirit will quickly move the nations to offer mediation to stop the sacrifices of the brave lives that are going down in the South African war.

We approach with confidence the coming campaign, confident of success, relying

FIVE THOUSAND WOLVES.

War of Extermination Against the Predatory Brutes a Success.

The last legislature appropriated the sum of $25,000 for bounty on predatory wild animals. The sum became available in March, 1899, and was intended to cover a period of two years, but was exhausted during the early part of last April. The State auditor has compiled a statement showing the number of wild animals killed in each county of the State and the amount of money received by each.

During the life of the appropriation there were killed 10,388 coyotes, 4,871 gray wolves, 37 black wolves and 10 mountain lions. Nearly one-half of the gray wolves were from Crook county, which joins Montana on the north, and it is believed that many of the animals were killed in Montana and the pelts brought over the line. The largest number of coyotes were killed in Natrona county, in the central part of the State.

With the slaughter of the 15,000 wild animals cost the State only $25,000, it is estimated that their pelts represent the expenditure of not less than $100,000. In almost all parts of the State stock associations paid, in addition to the State bounty, $20 per head on wolves and $10 on coyotes. After collecting the bounty the hunter disposed of the skins at from $1 to $5.

This would bring the total value of each wolf killed up to about $26 each, and coyotes to $2.50 each. Then adding the money expended for traps, poison and ammunition, it will readily be seen that an enormous sum could be realized in the killing of 15,000 wild animals.

Stockmen assert that these 15,000 wild animals had they been permitted to roam the prairies, would have destroyed thousands of head of cattle, sheep and horses, valued at many times the amount of money expended in the killing of the pests. Aside from the direct benefits derived from the slaughter of so many wolves and coyotes each month that it will now be an easy matter to exterminate them altogether on the plains of Wyoming.

It will be noticed that Albany county, or Big Horn county, the former at Crook county, has more taxable wealth than any other county, got only about one-twenty-fourth of the bounty. It would almost seem that some enterprising trapper in the northern part of the State had been a little too sharp for the officials, whose duty it is to receive the hides and issue bounties for the same.—Laramie Boomerang.

HANDLING THE PLAGUE IN HONOLULU.

The disease had prevailed in Honolulu for more than a month before shipments of the serum were received from the surgeon-general at Washington. Since it has been given a trial, it is believed that the serum has been beneficial. Altogether about 100 patients have recovered; and, as I am informed, but one, a young Chinese boy, has suffered permanent

RAILROAD TEAMS

PLAY TOMORROW

Rio Grandes and Short Lines the Contestants.

STANDING OF THE CLUBS

At Present the Rios are in the Lead, and Are Confident of Winning League Championship.

Lovers of baseball will have a chance to witness a professional game tomorrow afternoon at Walker's park, where the Rio Grandes and the Short Line teams will line up for another game in the series of the Utah-Idaho State league.

The present standing of the clubs give the R. G. Ws. the lead, and the prospective fair chance to carry off the championship honors. They met their first defeat last Sunday at the hands of Ogden, but they had the satisfaction of defeating that team by a good score the day previous. The Short Line team has played but two games so far and lost both but the story may be different next Sunday and the record undergo a decided change. The boys from the Short Line have been practicing faithfully and have succeeded in materially bolstering up their weak points. They are also confident of the weak places of their opponents and are certain to take every advantage of them.

Two games will be played, one tomorrow and the other Sunday afternoon. The teams will line up for both games as follows:

Rio Grandes. Short Lines.
Sears Berkley
Shannon Kimerer
McFarland Washburn
Edwards Waller
Martin Miller
Donovan Barnes
Hopkins Griggs
Bunn Taylor
Sub for Short Line, Kidder.

BANKERS WERE BEATEN.

The Railroaders Played With Them Until the Sixth Inning.

The monied men were unable to cope with the railroaders yesterday afternoon at Walker's park, and as was expected they were defeated. The game had been "knocked out" as one for society, but society was distinctly conspicuous in its absence. The crowd that saw the Rio Grandes run up a score of 10 in the sixth inning and then win out by a score of 12 to the Bankers' 19, was very small and unenthusiastic.

Possibly not 150 people were present. All that the Bankers made were in the first five innings during which time the Rio's knocked about carelessly, making but one run. But in the sixth inning it was different. They woke up and showed the situation entirely.

Following is the summary:

A Very Remarkable Remedy.

It is with a good deal of pleasure and satisfaction that I recommend Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," says Druggist A. W. Sawtelle, of Hartford, Conn. "A lady customer, seeing the remedy exposed for sale on my show case, said to me: 'I really believe that medicine saved my life the past summer while at the shore, and she became so enthusiastic over its merits that I at once made up my mind to recommend it in the future. Recently a gentleman came into my store so overcome with colic pains that he sank at once to the floor. I gave him a dose of this remedy which helped him. I repeated the dose and in fifteen minutes he left my store smilingly informing me that he felt as well as ever.'"

When the liver fails to secrete bile, the blood becomes loaded with bilious properties, the digestion becomes impaired and the bowels constipated. Chamberlain's has a direct action on the liver and excretory organs, and a few doses will cure any case of biliousness. Price, 50 cents. Z. C. M. I. Drug Dept.

CORBETT SAYS

HE WILL WIN.

But Jeffries is the Bigger of the Two Contestants.

STAKE IS ABOUT $33,000.

Odds are Said to be 2 to 1 on the Champion—How the Sports are Figuring.

Jeffries and Corbett, who are to meet at the Seaside Sporting club, Coney Island, tonight, to contest for the heavyweight pugilistic championship and sixty per cent of the receipts—the winner to have seventy-five per cent of that, which will not be far from $33,000.

Jeffries left his training quarters early today for hotels close to the prospective scene of the conflict, says a New York dispatch this afternoon. Both men seemed to be, as they said they were, in the best physical condition possible, and both professed the utmost confidence of winning. The party that accompanied Jeffries from Asbury park to Coney Island comprised William A. Brady, his manager, and Ross O'Neill, Sam Thall, Tommy Ryan, Ed. Dunkhorst, Jack Jeffries and Dick Walters.

Brady assured Jeffries that he would be able to put Corbett to sleep in three rounds.

Corbett, who has done his training at Lakewood, N. J., was up at 7 o'clock, took a bath and was given a rub down, after which he ate a hearty breakfast.

A little later he and his trainers took a train for New York. Mrs. Corbett was one of the party, and she professed unbounded faith in her husband's ability to win.

"He's not a bit worried," she said to a reporter. "My; he did sleep last night."

"I know I'm going to win," said Corbett, "and will be horribly disappointed if I don't. You can bet if I don't lose quick I won't. Around the 15th or 20th round look out for the fall of Jeffries. I'm prepared for any kind of a fight, and it may be over in the first, with James J. Corbett the winner."

There is plenty of Jeffries money in sight, but Corbett's currency is hard to find. Jeffries' admirers have entire confidence in the champion.

The men have agreed that there will be no hugging or holding. Each print will enter the ring at 9:45 o'clock and promptly at 10 o'clock will begin fighting. Jeffries has many points of advantage over Corbett. To begin with, he is nine years younger than the champion, and is an inch taller. He will go into the ring weighing 210 pounds and Corbett's weight is 183. The normal girth of Jeffries' chest is 44 inches; expanded, Jeffries' chest measures 48 inches, and Corbett's 44 inches.

With arms extended, Jeffries' reach is 74 inches and Corbett's 74 inches. Jeffries' biceps measure 16 and Corbett's 14 inches.

There has been little betting on the result of the fight up to this time, but both the pugilists have friends who are anxious to back their favorites freely later in the day and at the ring side.

The odds are said to be 2 to 1 on Jeffries, at which price Brady says he is ready to place $35,000 on the champion. Milton Rockett, of San Francisco, has $500 to place against $1,200 of Jeffries money.

Charley Mahoney has $500 of Jeffries money, but will give no better than 2 to 1.

Dan O'Rourke has bet $2,000 that Jeffries will win in fifteen rounds, Fred Williams taking the long end of the proposition.

THE FIGHT TONIGHT.

Who Will Win, Corbett or Jeffries?—Little Interest Felt.

New York, May 10.—James J. Jeffries and James J. Corbett will fight twenty-five rounds tomorrow night in the arena of the Seaside Athletic club for the heavyweight championship of the world, now held by Jeffries. They will wear five-ounce gloves and Queensbury rules will govern, except that there shall be no hitting in the clinches.

Charles White will be the referee. Absence of a prominent betting interest is a conspicuous feature of the contest, several reasons being advanced for the lack of big wagers. One is that the leading sporting men are afraid to bet because of the stultia concerning

WINE VS. COFFEE.

A Test Case.

"A wine maker's wife on whom I was calling a year or two ago, urged me to drink a large cup of very strong coffee when I had declined to take a glass of wine for the reason that the wine affected me unpleasantly. The coffee was so strong that my head reeled and I rolled for two or three days, and I decided the wine would have been the more temperate drink, after all."

Had been a moderate user of coffee but had been suffering from sick headaches for some time and was becoming very suspicious that coffee was the cause of them. After this experiment the drug power of coffee was made so plain that I abandoned it altogether and had a long season of no water drinking which is not enjoyable, as you will admit.

"After while I was introduced to Postum Food Coffee, and it proved a joy and promise of pleasure to come. It tasted so much like coffee that I waited for some of the evil effects to develop. They did not come, so I drank it three times a day and still continue. The habit spread from me to the rest of the family. Even father, a confirmed coffee drinker, 84 years old, now drinks Postum with great relish, and his health has been better the past winter than for several years."

"On Christmas we had a reunion of several old-time friends and served Postum instead of coffee. One of the boys, who holds an important educational position and must care for his nerves, said, 'Give me the smallest cup. I dare not drink coffee.' She was told that it was not coffee but was Postum. After drinking a little of it, she said, 'I never liked Postum before. The way we made it, it was so colorless and flat, but this is delicious,' and she passed up for the second cup."

"I explained that she could always have Postum delicious if she would follow the directions as to the amount to use and the time to boil." Mrs. M. P. Haines, Prospect Park, Cal.

Absolutely Pure

For the third of a century the standard for strength and purity. It makes the hot bread, hot biscuit, cake and other pastry light, sweet and excellent in every quality.

No other baking powder is "just as good as Royal," either in strength, purity or wholesomeness.

Many low-priced imitation baking powders are upon the market. These are made with alum, and care should be taken to avoid them, as alum is a poison, never to be taken in the food.

Corbett's wonderfully improved condition. While the friends of the former champion hope for the best, they believe that the alleged improvement in Corbett's soundness is not as marvelous as his admirers say it is.

There is plenty of Jeffries money in sight, but Corbett's currency is hard to find. Jeffries' admirers have entire confidence in the champion.

TRACK TEAMS CONTEST.

Princeton University and California Aggregations to Meet Saturday.

A Princeton, N. J., dispatch today says:

The members of the University track team, who will compete with the California men in the dual meet on Saturday morning, are bending every energy to win the contest. Both teams have been hard at work every day this week and all the contestants appear to be in fine condition. It is now the opinion among the undergraduates that the meet will be very closely contested by both teams.

Capt. Cregan when interviewed said: "The meet will certainly be very closely contested. We ought to prove better than the California men in the sprints and distance events, but they will have everything in the field events practically their own way. If Jarvis, who has been disabled with an injured ankle, is unable to enter more than the 100-yard dash, the chances for winning the meet are against us."

The association will present a handsome banner to the team winning the larger number of points and the point winners will each receive medals. Only those winning first place will gain points.
