Elder Joseph-E. Taylor was called upon and said in substance: After 70 years of proclaiming the Gospel of Jeyears of proclaiming the Gospel of Je-sus Christ of Latter-day Saints, when they attempts to make plain that Gos-pel to the stranger, they find it neces-sary, even at this late day, to remove some of the errors and debris that sur-round it in order that the Gospel in its simplicity may be made known. The speaker had recently heard in the Bureau of Information on the Temple block, the question propounded by a block, the question propounded by a visitor who evidently belonged to the Catholic church, "How long has your Church existed?" The reply was per-haps startling to the questioner, but nevertheless absolutely true—"Prom eternity." Not always in its present form but before Adam was placed in form, but before Adam was placed in the Garden of Eden, the plan of salva-tion was outlined by the Father. When-ever it has in any age been made known to the children of men, it has carried with it laws which require acts of obedience. It can never be said of the Father in the final judgment that He lacked in warning His children of the coming of calamities. John, the beloved disciple of Christ, was permit-ted to see in panorama what should occur in the future. One scene that he saw and wrote of was an angel flying through the midst of heaven bearing the everlasting Gospel to all nations of the earth. This message was one of the earth. This message was one of warning. The opportunity would at this time be given the inhabitants of the earth to subscribe to the Gospel, and escape, or else in all justice suffer punishment at the hands of God.

punishment at the hands of God. Elder Taylor related an incident in his early boyhood, and referred to the belief of the Latter-day Saints in vi-carlous work for the dead as being one thing that led his mother to embrace the Gospel. The speaker said that faith in God, in the Savior, and in His atonement, were basic principles, which all must have faith in. Not a faith without works, but a faith exhibiting obedience to the commandments of bedience to the commandments of God.

In referring to the beliefs of the world regarding the Latter-day Saints and their teachings on virtue, he ex-plained the high regard which the Latplained the high regard which the Lat-ter-day Saints have for virtue. He said they believed that those who do not live up to the teachings of the Gospel on this principle will forfeit their rights to the highest degree of glory in the hereafter. The speaker congratulated the Saints of the Pioneer stake upon the completeness of their organization, and invoked the blessings of the Lord and invoked the blessings of the Lord upon them. President Francis M. Lyman of the President Francis M. Lyman of the Council of the Tweive Apostles was the last speaker. He said Paul had said: "The Gospel is the power of God unto salvation." for the living as well as for the dead. It was more valuable to men-than the wealth of this world, bringing salvation for us now as well as in the future. It brings a certain knowledge of God the Father, Jesus Christ whom He sent, and the Holy Ghost, which heads the way to eternal life. At the present time the world is in confusion, even as in the days when Christ was born in Judea, and sent forth His dis-ciples proclaiping that "He that be-lieveth and is baptized shall be saved, and he that believeth not shall be damned." Now, as then, the vital point of the Gospel is obedience. Man may reject falsehood and not be condemned, receive it, and not be saved; but he cannot reject the truth and be saved. Therefore it behooves all to know of a surely the they are embracing the truth. Those who listen to the Cospel and reject it will be condemned, as

Nor will it apply to the Gospel taught by the Prophet Uallifed, would find that the Lord qualify them if they put their in Him. Especially would this be the people would sustain them. ## SOAKED IN COFFEE

Until too Stiff to Bend Over.

When I drank coffee I often had sick headaches, nervousness and billousness much of the time but about 2 years ago I went to visit a friend and got in the habit of drinking Postum.

"I have never touched coffee singe and the result has been that I have been entirely sured of all my stomach

She was not able to do her work and could not even mend clothes or do anything not even mend clothes of do anything at all where she would have to bend forward. If she tried to do a little hard work she would get such pains that she would have to lie down for the heat of the day. "I persuaded her at last to stop drink-ing coffee and try Postum Food Coffee

William Kearn, who resides in Mill Creek, will no doubt be rather backward in the future about trading horses, as he had a little experience in that line on Friday afternoon with some horse traders at State and Tenth South streets, with the result that he got a "leaded" horse in the deal, which couldn't navigate more than 100 yards without falling over. Kearn was driv-ing home yesterday afternoon, and as he passed the camp of the horse traders he was tackled for a trade. He was not inclined to make a trade at first, but he finally saw a large black horse which looked all right to him, so he made the trade. Before he drove away from the camp the men informed him that the horse was "leaded." Kearn then wanted them to trade back and offered them al kinds of inducements to get his hors back. They refused to accommodate him, so he came back to town notified Sheriff Emery of the affair Deputies Steel, Cowan and Sharp were Deputies Steet, Cowan and Sharp were detailed to attend to the matter. They went to the camp and compelled the traders to give Kearn his horse and they then ordeed the traders out of the county and gave them 24 hours to make their departure. It is thought the out-fit went north Saturday.
