LOCAL NEWS.

Lectures at East Bountiful.—An East Bountiful correspondent, Brother Henry Rampton, writes as follows: "Justice demands that we make mention of the rich treats East Bountiful Ward has had of late in the shape of excellent lectures, in which some have failed to be mentioned in your valuable paper. We would make honorable mention of Brother Charles W. Stayer's lecture on 'Britain, Past and Present,' which was handled in a masterly manner. On Sunday evening, Feb. 17, Brother Arthur Stayer gave us a rich treat in his genial style on the 'History of the Reformation,' which was listened to with pleasure by all."

An Omission.—In noticing the 17th Ward Concert of Monday night, last evening, we made mention of a number of performers, not connected with the Ward, who kindly gave their services for the occasion. From this list the names of Miss Agnes Olson, Miss Louie Wells, Mr. George D. Pyper and Mr. McIntyre were unintentionally omitted. The first, by special request, rendered the ballad "O loving heart, trust on," very beautifully, and also took part in the quartette and quintette. Miss Wells and Mr. Pyper also sang in the latter two pieces very effectively, while Mr. McIntyre efficiently assisted Professor Krouse in a piano duett which was among the very best features of the evening.

Park City Notes.—We are indebted to Mr. Ernest S. Penrose for the following interesting notes: The thermometer at Park City registered 23 degrees below zero on the night of the 12th inst. A horse that had been ridden up to the Rebellon mine and turned loose, as usual, to go back to the owner's stables, was frozen to death while on the way.

The snow in Park City was about 4 feet deep. Everything there was on runners. Coal and all the rest of the hauling to and from the mines was done with sleds. The Park City Express from Ogden on Monday night, had to take two locomotives to run one express and one coach, on account of the snow drifting.

Almost a Fire.—Shortly before 3 o'clock this afternoon the job department building of the News Office was discovered to be on fire. Mr. James Cushing was passing at the time and seeing the flames issuing from the south end of the roof, rushed in and gave the alarm. The fire department was at once notified, and in the meantime a number of the employees of the office, headed by Charlie Hyde, mounted the roof and did effective service with buckets.

The firemen were soon on the scene and the flames were quickly extinguished. Falling sparks, from a long pipe leading from the engine room below, were the cause of the blaze. It was only slight and but little damage was done.

In Minnesota.—Elder A. B. Strickland, writing to Brother Richard G. Lambert, from Monticello, Wright County, Minnesota, states that he is eight miles south of Osakis, laboring among some families where he found kind-hearted souls who never before saw an Elder or heard one preach, and were greatly surprised at the doctrines he advanced.

Many thought that if Congress would legislate against debauchery, secret societies, capital riots, and religious leagues to put down polygamy, and admit all the Territories that have inhabitants enough, it would confer great blessings upon many of the citizens. Some thought that large salaries, political blisters and hobby riding were only the croppings of a harvest of blood. The poor man would not stand it much longer, although they themselves were largely at fault; many would sell their manhood for a paltry sum and a drink of liquor, and such deserved to have demagogues rule over them.

THAT MYSTERIOUS DEATH.

FRED HOLST THE MAN'S NAME—THE ALLEGED CAUSE OF HIS DEATH, ALCOHOL.

It was stated in this paper last evening that a Scandinavian, formerly an employee of John Hill, had been picked up for dead and taken to the tenement row back of the Thirteenth Ward Meeting House, where, although diligently labored over, and evincing signs of life as late as 10 o'clock yesterday morning, he finally expired, never once waking from the heavy stupor in which he was found.

An investigation was expected last evening, but owing to the absence of witnesses, Coroner Taylor was unable to proceed with it then and it was therefore postponed until 4 p.m. to-day. Certain alleged facts have transpired in the meantime, which if true, throw a very disagreeable light upon the matter, which may eventually to the serious embarrassment of one person at least, concerned indirectly in the fatal event we have recorded.

The name of the dead man is given as Fred Holst. He was a Danishman about 25 years of age, employed at Hill's ice pond, cutting ice and taking care of the horses. His parents are in Denmark, but he had an aunt living in the tenement referred to, a Mrs. Sophia Holst, on whom he called last Monday evening, and remained there until about 10:30 o'clock.

He then left her and went up to Louis Benites' saloon, where, after taking several drinks with some acquaintances, a banter was made to Holst that he could not drink a quart of liquor without his hurting him. He accepted the "dare" and the bartender handed out the whiskey, a companion of Holst agreeing to pay for it if he would drink it. A stranger present warned Holst against doing so and told him it would kill him. However, he drank it off, it is alleged, and said afterwards that he experienced no unpleasant effects from it, and soon afterwards left the saloon for his place of residence.

This was the last that was seen of him alive, so far as known. He was picked up between 3 and 4 o'clock yesterday morning, in a stupified condition, and taken to his aunt's abode where he died some time before noon. Everything was done to resuscitate him, without effect. Further particulars, if any, will be elicited at the investigation being held this evening.

Without vouching for the absolute correctness of the above, and reserving our comments until the real facts have been established, we will say that in our opinion a bartender who would act as the one in this instance is said to have done, putting a quart measure of burning alcohol before a half drunken man, or one without sense enough to keep him from drinking it, would be guilty of an act of cruelty and brutality deserving of the heaviest penalty if not of criminal prosecution, and for the sake of common human nature is to be hoped that the allegation made in this case may prove to be without foundation.

KATE HOMER CLAYTON.

A DISTINGUISHED LECTURER AND LITERATURE.

A representative of the News had the pleasure of calling on Kate Homer Clayton in her parlors at the Continental this morning, and was received with frank and pleasant cordiality. Mrs. Clayton is a handsome, polished and intellectual lady of 41 years.

In answer to a question as to her recent movements in the States and Territories, she stated that she had spent several months in Colorado, gaining information respecting its resources for the eastern press, of which she is a representative.

"I suppose you will lecture in this city?" asked the reporter.

"I believe so," she replied, "and I shall choose for my topic 'The National Evil.'"

"When will you lecture?"

"I have been requested to deliver a lecture in the Salt Lake Theatre next Sabbath evening."

Her denunciation of the extravagant evils of the nation, is said by the press to be spirited and outspoken and replete with matter for reflection; she has earned a reputation as an eloquentist of the finest type. She ranks among the most effective and entertaining speakers. This is probably largely attributable to the fact of her having graduated from the Boston School of Oratory, and been a special pupil of Professor Hamill.

Apart from her labors as a lecturer, she devotes much of her time to educational work, being connected with the National Educational Society.

She is an honorary member of the Grand Army of the Republic, and has for several years delivered the memorial address on Decoration Day in some notable cemetery.

On Sunday evening next she will, by request, deliver a free lecture in the Salt Lake Theatre, taking for her subject, "National Evils." The Tabernacle Choir is expected to be present, and Mrs. Clayton will execute some fine music on the organ, she being a cornetist of no little merit, therefore a musical as well as a literary treat may be expected.

First and Tenth Wards.—The largest and one of the most interesting and appreciative audiences that ever met in the First Ward Assembly Rooms convened last evening, under the auspices of the First and Tenth Ward Mutual Improvement Associations.

The programme was a good one and well appointed to able members of both Wards.

President Samuel E. Baxter, of the Tenth Ward, exploded the "Myth of Cushing" or Spaulding story in a logical manner; Scott Anderson's recitation on the results of vice, was very effective, and brought tears; Sister Libbie Edmunds' original essay on vice vs. virtue, was listened to with marked attention; also "A Mother's Devotion," by Miss Wilkins.

The songs and duetts were well rendered by the members of both Wards. The humorous essays and readings took the house by storm. Some remarked on the way home that if the two Wards were going to continue meeting together, they would have to join the meeting-houses to accommodate the multitude.

Third District Court.—Proceedings before Chief Justice Hunter on Wednesday, February 20, 1884.

Brown, attorney, demand a jury trial and verdict. Petition being exhausted, drawing of ten special jurors for the case, as follows: 34 Robert Young, 36 George A. Alder, 35 Chas. Brink, 16 Orson H. Pettit, 38 S. H. Clawson, 33 Orson S. Lee, 128 Wm. P. Bacon, 125 James T. Lee, David.

This evening Mr. Kendall impersonates "Rip Van Winkle," one of his favorite characterizations. The company is really a good one. Mrs. K. is an excellent singer.

The Burlesque Troupe.—Of the Rents-Santley Burlesque Company which opens an engagement at the Theatre to-morrow night, the Pique (Ohio) Tribune says:

"This excellent company was greeted by a large audience at the Opera House last evening. In comedy and burlesque they excel, and the most prominent among them is Miss Alice Townsend, the favorite comic bouffe and burlesque artist. The variety and originality included in the different parts add greatly to the enjoyment of the entertainment."

The prize of $5,000 offered by the French Academy of Medicine for the cure of diphtheria was demanded at their last meeting by all sorts of people, among whom were a class maker, a machinist, an iron founder, a hotel keeper and a justice of the peace; two men applied for it, one a lawyer's wife and the other the wife of a veterinary surgeon. One man proposed that the diphtheritic patient be beaten until he expelled the membrane, and another that he be exposed to scarlatina as a counter irritant. There were several more and their expenses were paid to Paris, so that they might explain their method of cure, and a large number who refused to disclose the secret before receiving the $5,000. No one had found an infallible remedy.

A MAGIC POWER.

A Secret Agent at Work.

We were surprised the other day to learn that certain individuals in this city, who had for many years yielded to what was apparently an inevitable fate, were started from their torpid condition of semi-idleness into asserting their right to "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness." These parties, who had been in the land of the living, as it was inexpressible, were now as powerful as it was incomprehensible. They knew not the cause, yet they were victims to the result. They were enchained, but they could not discern by what means they had been manacled. They had no sound deliverance in vain. Their appeals to science and the knowledge contained in books were equally unavailing. They were not equal to the task. It was not through any action of the President, or of Congress, for their trouble was not of a political character. Neither did the Governor's Message relieve them, nor any action of the new Legislature, for it was out of their power, and foreign to their jurisdiction. Yet they were suddenly and effectively freed from the bondage they suffered, and placed on the equal scale of human happiness. What was their trouble? It was our readers will ask. They had been rendered helpless by that universal enemy—rheumatism. They had been in pain for years, and on the strong recommendations of friends who had been there, they tried British and were at once relieved and radically cured. Britannia is a wand of life. It acted like a magic power. This secret agent quietly caused through their veins, removed the cause of the trouble, thereby the captives from their doomed condition, and now they congratulate each other on the accomplishment of such a triumph, and the acquisition of the knowledge, by
