David E. Swift, a well known traveling man from the east, is at the Knutsford. The Ladies' Literary club rooms were well filled yesterday afternoon on the occasion of the illustrated lecture, by Mrs. Francis McClurg of Colorado Springs, a lecturer. The stereopticon views were well selected, and the collection of relics and curios were much admired. Mrs. McClurg is an entertaining speaker and her lecture was very much enjoyed.

A passenger on a Rio Grande train yesterday afternoon, complained that during his trip over here from Pueblo, he was robbed of a purse containing seven $100 bills. His name could not be learned, and he was unable to give any information that would in any way justify the officers in making an arrest. The officers think he had been dreaming, and they gently murmured "forget it."

The naval recruiting detail has secured three more recruits. William E. Winget, aged 24, fireman second class; John J. Kent, aged 23, fireman second class; Charles Ross, aged 21, musician. The recruits of the detail are due to their inability to get more men in due to the bad influence exerted by the desertion of so many Utah recruits from the naval service.

President Angus M. Cannon spent Thursday at the Utah lake pumping plant where the president and his family held a meeting, at which it was decided to add a third pump to the two already in operation. To this end three small transformers have been put in and the pumping is now working very nicely. The school of art and the studio will be taken up in his absence by Mr. Lovey.

O. Y. Gee, a Colesburg of some prominence in this city and Ogden, returned from work on the Luch out over the other day, accompanied by "that tired feeling" lady in down in his plum alley bus, and yesterday joined the ancestral shades. There was no Mexican doctor in attendance, but the evidence is that he was not so plain that there will be no inquest. As the departed belonged to the Chinese Mission, the order will give the customary send off tomorrow afternoon, with temporary interment in the city cemetery.

Section Director Hyatt of the weather bureau went out to Saltair yesterday afternoon, to reset the water gauge, as the recession of the briny deep had been so great within the last six weeks that the gauging was not being spring in two feet of water, is now high and dry, with the water not nearer than 50 feet.

Mr. Hyatt set the new gauge where the water was three feet deep, and dug a trench from the water to the old gauge so that the water could reach it for comparative readings. The question is, when is this disastrous process of reduction going to cease?

A messenger boy named E. C. Schuster, aged 19, thought he would save three or four feet by shooting across the sidewalk corner on his wheel at Godde-Pitts corner yesterday afternoon. A delightful evening was spent, the main entertainment being the writing of eight lines of poetry by every guest, and the reading of the same, being the bride and groom of twenty years ago. Some very clever impromptu in verse were the result.

First and second prizes were offered for the best and as Bishop O. P. Whitney was one of the contestants, it is needless to state to whom the first prize was awarded. The second was won by Mrs. Minnie James.

O. U. W. Hall. The evening was very successful, impressive, the initiators being robed in black night dresses, on the breast of which was painted in white a cat, sleeping peacefully upon a fence, with a bar of dynamite and a box of tin whistles figured as part of the initiation paraphernalia. After the racket was over, the "kittens" organized a back fence lodge with headquarters at the residence of Mrs. H. H. Jensen, 154 North Second West, this evening.
