

THE EVENING NEWS.

Tuesday, February 21, 1871.

CLARA DELANO.

C O N C L U D E D .

"Hallie Delano! This surely was the name of Clara's poor little brother. Could it be possible that Lily's poor little friend and the two-year-old baby Hallie, who had so often crept his knee and entertained him with his poor puns, were one and the same? No, they could not be reduced to such poverty as Lily had described. And he, after two years of vain searching, thus found Clara at last? He surely must know!"

And quickly snatching his coat and hat, he joined his sister, simply saying: "I have altered my mind, sis; I too, will follow Lily's protege."

And entering the carriage, they started at once.

After having carried bountiful supplies to several houses whose inmates had frequent cause to bless Mrs. Lee's generosity, and whose presence always seemed like a ray of sunrise in their houses, when they arrived at the number given on Hallie's card,

As the girl who answered their ring directed them to the room above, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Charles, the basket followed his sister and Lily.

At the pleasant "Come in," which came to them in answer to their rap, Charles opened the door for his sister to enter. Near the window sat a middle-aged woman, whose face bore that sweet, sanctified expression which pain often imparts to the true Christian, and whom Clara immediately recognized as Mrs. Delano. "He had just stepped forward and greeted her, in answer to her look of surprise, when the door again rang; the other apartment opened, and Clara, looking pale and older, but, if possible, more beautiful than when she saw her last, entered the room.

"Clara, my darling! found at last!" sprang involuntarily from Charles' lips, and she who had bravely borne all her hardships, pain and trials without a murmur, in faith, was come at last overcome by the joy which identified her home-being, and would have fallen to the floor had not loving arms clasped her.

Mrs. Lee, who divined in an instant that her brother had thus strangely found the one for whom he had so long and so fruitlessly searched—whose image was now fondly and warmly anchored in his heart—may never, left them to mutual explanation, while she nestled herself by Mrs. Delano, and explained to her all that had passed.

Hallie and Lily were in the meantime, deeply interested in the mysteries of the little train of cars which whirled merrily around the room.

After a time, Charles led Clara no longer pale, with a face flushed with love and happiness, to Mrs. Delano, and telling her of his long love for Clara, and the conversation which passed between her husband and him, urged her to bestow upon him a daughter.

"A precious, precious Christmas gift," said he, placing his hand earnestly upon her head fondly, stroking her soft brown hair.

With tearful eyes, but a thankful heart, Mrs. Delano joined their hands, and gave them the "God's blessing" which her husband had promised.

THE OLD TALE EVER NEW.

Thickway once said that there was nothing new, and indeed he was right. King Solomon made a similar remark. A novel, lately published, illustrates the saying, whoever originated it. It is called by a variety of names, and is familiar to every novel-reader.

The principal characters are our time-honored friends Charles and Angelina, formerly Lubin and Chloe, once Cady and Priscilla, Mrs. Rouse and Juliet, and so on to the remotest antiquity.

Their principal speeches are as follows:

He—Adorable creature, will you be mine? Offer you my hand and heart together with superior indorsements for accepting the same, consisting of a brown stone front, an unnumbered real estate, and first-class securities.

She—Object of my affections! Your terms are entirely satisfactory to me, and my doubt will be equally so to you, to whom I long have to refer you. (falling into his arms.)

These are plagiarisms, more or less direct, from the same old story, published at any time during the world's history between this and the invention of letters, which are not due to Prof. Caiusim, by-the-by, but to "Amm-Akim-Bo," 30,000 years before his time. He published the first edition of the story in China, sign them a venerable tradition.

In the addition of 1,800 it appears as follows:

He—Sweet lady! I pitthee swear with thy love thy lover true, who pledges that his hand and heart: Certes, I offer thee no unregal down.

These goodly towers and these broad domains shall call then mistress, and gold shall fill thy coffers.

She—My master's lord, thy nobleness in all directions very poor love, and well, I trust will be very poor love. Good faith, in heaven's name seek him. Let down her hair and swine.

Similarly in A. D. 1,000, they concluded thus:

He—Fayre lady, bend thyme eyne on thy true knight, and reward his devoir with thy love. Fayre lady, hee bayes to thy fayre guardian meete for pris to him. His master's strength shall bid defiance to thy fayre love, and gallant king. His fayre love, and gallant king, in rest to win thy amys, whiche charious boote and mischievous Jounshall turne thyne broad piste for thy largesse.

She—Alack, sir knight, I yeilde me true to thy wyrdes, wuccor nor no succour. My ransome is thy downe knight. Hee throwyn to my boweres to thy knyght, my knyght, and bid him greet me. (Shee a soune inn the knyght)

She—In this maner through the early sunnes and endens Britishe distancis (which wold be more noninfolisshys than livers speches generally are) the Latin and Greek, up to the original Chinesse, as aforward.

The Irish version is:

Mushe darlin, it's dyin' I am for ye this blessed manit, glori be to God! The shetong is lonely widout you, Judy; and accidens, there's an illagant oot of two dirty vixens comwith prases and ripes galore, and they be a pair or two in his dicerous's hand, waitin' to gall you ministris.

Be any, Pat ya're the devill's own boy for blarney, God know; sur'e the old man's bayent, and when ya're daen and sober you might as him.

The Scotch version reads thus:

Eh, what'll you take for your auld? There are just about the monies tae ride in't, and the bonnie farm and the weel sitter is nae sic bad investment.

Koot awa, man! dinna fish me wi your spekin'. I doot ye mean wesi, and hide awa, mon, hide away; the wald man's by, and ye may w'en wale the dae wi' him.

The display of emotion is emitted by the last two ladies, but their sentiments are the same as the others, and the fortunes of the nation are the same. Sir Charles goes to parliament and Pat is elected to the common council. Sir Reginald is elected to the round table, and Romeo to the council of ten (or would have been if he hadn't poisoned himself), while Donald sits with the elders in the kick, and is as fat, respectable, and interesting as any of them.

The chapters from which the foregoing specimens are taken wind up with the words: "To be continued," which is true in every sense of the word. The reader will please note the notice at the bottom of the page.

CINCINNATI TRADE.

The Best Bituminous Coal Cooking Stove, MONITOR!

WITH OR WITHOUT EXTENDED TOP!

Unequalled in the World for CONVENIENCE,
CLEANLINESS,
DURABILITY
and ECONOMY OF FUEL.

THE QUICKEST AND BEST BAKING STOVE MADE

Warranted to give Satisfaction in all cases.

Large numbers now in use in Salt Lake City, and the trade constantly increasing.

The Celebrated Wood Cooking Stove.

FASHION

Combining all the Modern Improvements.
Manufactured by WM. REED & CO.,
CINCINNATI, O.

FOR SALE IN SALT LAKE CITY BY ZION'S
Co-operative Mercantile Inst'n

INSURANCE CO'S

CRAFTSMAN'S
LIFE INSURANCE COMPY
OF NEW YORK.

40 Fidelity Mutual. An Cash System.
All Policies Non-Forfeitable.

No restrictions on residence or travel in any part of the world.

All the various forms of Life Endowment and Joint Policies are issued by this Co.

IRA M. SWARTZ,
General Agent for Utah.
Office—Three doors north of Exchange and Meeting Rooms, Main Street.

Northwestern
MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

JOHN H. VAN DYKE, President;
HEBER SMITH, Vice President;
AUG. TAYLOR, Secretary.

Main Office, Broadway and Wisconsin St., Milwaukee, Wis.
DR. R. S. WALLACE,
General Agent Rocky Mountain Region, Distributor Colorado, Wyoming, Utah and New Mexico.

PETER G. FERGUSON, Agent for Utah.
S. J. JONASON, Local Agent.
Offices in Hooper, Eldredge and Co's Bank.
etc.

ST. LOUIS TRADE.

THE CELEBRATED
COOKING STOVES!

SUPERIOR

For Wood.

They are really what their name indicates, and superior to any other stove in the market, and not.

Economy, Durability, Convenience & Dispatch
are Unequalled!

KANSAS, ALASKA
AND IMPROVED AMERICAN

For Coal.

Written for Neatness of Design, Thoroughness of Construction, Capacity of Storage, Economy in the Use of Fuel and Uniformity of Temperature, place them as the leaders in the market.

They are equal to any Western or Eastern
manufacture, and are as well adapted
to the rugged climate of the West as to
any other.

They are equal to any Western or Eastern
manufacture, and are as well adapted
to the rugged climate of the West as to
any other.

They are equal to any Western or Eastern
manufacture, and are as well adapted
to the rugged climate of the West as to
any other.

They are equal to any Western or Eastern
manufacture, and are as well adapted
to the rugged climate of the West as to
any other.

They are equal to any Western or Eastern
manufacture, and are as well adapted
to the rugged climate of the West as to
any other.

They are equal to any Western or Eastern
manufacture, and are as well adapted
to the rugged climate of the West as to
any other.

They are equal to any Western or Eastern
manufacture, and are as well adapted
to the rugged climate of the West as to
any other.

They are equal to any Western or Eastern
manufacture, and are as well adapted
to the rugged climate of the West as to
any other.

They are equal to any Western or Eastern
manufacture, and are as well adapted
to the rugged climate of the West as to
any other.

They are equal to any Western or Eastern
manufacture, and are as well adapted
to the rugged climate of the West as to
any other.

They are equal to any Western or Eastern
manufacture, and are as well adapted
to the rugged climate of the West as to
any other.

They are equal to any Western or Eastern
manufacture, and are as well adapted
to the rugged climate of the West as to
any other.

They are equal to any Western or Eastern
manufacture, and are as well adapted
to the rugged climate of the West as to
any other.

They are equal to any Western or Eastern
manufacture, and are as well adapted
to the rugged climate of the West as to
any other.

They are equal to any Western or Eastern
manufacture, and are as well adapted
to the rugged climate of the West as to
any other.

They are equal to any Western or Eastern
manufacture, and are as well adapted
to the rugged climate of the West as to
any other.

They are equal to any Western or Eastern
manufacture, and are as well adapted
to the rugged climate of the West as to
any other.

They are equal to any Western or Eastern
manufacture, and are as well adapted
to the rugged climate of the West as to
any other.

They are equal to any Western or Eastern
manufacture, and are as well adapted
to the rugged climate of the West as to
any other.

They are equal to any Western or Eastern
manufacture, and are as well adapted
to the rugged climate of the West as to
any other.

They are equal to any Western or Eastern
manufacture, and are as well adapted
to the rugged climate of the West as to
any other.

They are equal to any Western or Eastern
manufacture, and are as well adapted
to the rugged climate of the West as to
any other.

They are equal to any Western or Eastern
manufacture, and are as well adapted
to the rugged climate of the West as to
any other.

They are equal to any Western or Eastern
manufacture, and are as well adapted
to the rugged climate of the West as to
any other.

They are equal to any Western or Eastern
manufacture, and are as well adapted
to the rugged climate of the West as to
any other.

They are equal to any Western or Eastern
manufacture, and are as well adapted
to the rugged climate of the West as to
any other.

They are equal to any Western or Eastern
manufacture, and are as well adapted
to the rugged climate of the West as to
any other.

They are equal to any Western or Eastern
manufacture, and are as well adapted
to the rugged climate of the West as to
any other.

They are equal to any Western or Eastern
manufacture, and are as well adapted
to the rugged climate of the West as to
any other.

They are equal to any Western or Eastern
manufacture, and are as well adapted
to the rugged climate of the West as to
any other.

They are equal to any Western or Eastern
manufacture, and are as well adapted
to the rugged climate of the West as to
any other.

They are equal to any Western or Eastern
manufacture, and are as well adapted
to the rugged climate of the West as to
any other.

They are equal to any Western or Eastern
manufacture, and are as well adapted
to the rugged climate of the West as to
any other.

They are equal to any Western or Eastern
manufacture, and are as well adapted
to the rugged climate of the West as to
any other.

They are equal to any Western or Eastern
manufacture, and are as well adapted
to the rugged climate of the West as to
any other.

They are equal to any Western or Eastern
manufacture, and are as well adapted
to the rugged climate of the West as to
any other.

They are equal to any Western or Eastern
manufacture, and are as well adapted
to the rugged climate of the West as to
any other.

They are equal to any Western or Eastern
manufacture, and are as well adapted
to the rugged climate of the West as to
any other.

They are equal to any Western or Eastern
manufacture, and are as well adapted
to the rugged climate of the West as to
any other.

They are equal to any Western or Eastern
manufacture, and are as well adapted
to the rugged climate of the West as to
any other.

They are equal to any Western or Eastern
manufacture, and are as well adapted
to the rugged climate of the West as to
any other.

They are equal to any Western or Eastern
manufacture, and are as well adapted
to the rugged climate of the West as to
any other.

They are equal to any Western or Eastern
manufacture, and are as well adapted
to the rugged climate of the West as to
any other.

They are equal to any Western or Eastern
manufacture, and are as well adapted
to the rugged climate of the West as to
any other.

They are equal to any Western or Eastern
manufacture, and are as well adapted
to the rugged climate of the West as to
any other.

They are equal to any Western or Eastern
manufacture, and are as well adapted
to the rugged climate of the West as to
any other.

They are equal to any Western or Eastern
manufacture, and are as well adapted
to the rugged climate of the West as to
any other.</