

We present to the people the Deseret Alphabet, but have not adopted any rules to bind the taste, judgment or preference of any. Such as it is you have it, and we are sanguine that the more it is practised and the more intimately the people become acquainted with it, the more useful and beneficial it will appear.

The characters are designed to represent the sounds for which they stand, and are so used. Where one stands alone, the name of the character or letter is the word, it being the only sound heard. We make no classification into vowels, consonants, &c., considering that to be of little or no consequence; the student is therefore at liberty to deem all the characters vowels, or consonants, or starters, or stoppers, or whatever else he pleases.

In the orthography of the published examples, Webster's pronunciation will be generally followed, though it will be varied from when general usage demands. All words having the same pronunciation will be spelled alike, and the reader will have to depend upon the context for the meaning of such words.

Since the arrival of the matrices, &c., for casting the Deseret Alphabet, it has been determined to adopt another character to represent the sound of EW, but until we are prepared to cast that character, the characters ew will be used to represent the sound of EW in NEW. The characters ai are sounded as AI in HAIR, for which one character will also be used, so soon as it can be procured.

An Enigma—for the curious.

God made Adam out of dust,
But thought it best to make me first;
So I was made before the man,
To answer God's most holy plan;
My body too was made complete,
Without either legs, arms or feet;
I travel now from pole to pole,
And yet was made without a soul.
Men seek my life throughout this world,
And darts of death are at me hurled,
For by my death great light is shed,
Around the living and o'er the dead,
For scenes like these they do admire,
While thoughts of death their hearts inspire.
My God did something in me see,
And put a living soul in me;
Then after time before I'm slain
My God did take that soul again,
So I was left below to roam,
Without a soul, without a home.

ROMEO.

G. S. L. CITY, March, 30, 1859.

A HOOSIER AT THE ASTOR.—"I allow you don't ketch me in no such place again. They rung a gong, as they call it, four times after breakfast, and then, when I went to eat, there wasn't nary vittles on the table."
"What was there?" B. ventured to inquire.
"Well," said the old man, enumerating the items cautiously, as if from fear of omission—"there was a clean plate wrong side up, a knife, a clean towel, a split spoon and a hand bill, and what was worse," added the old man, "the insultin' nigger up and asked me what I wanted."
"Vittles," said I, "bring on your vittles and I'll help myself!"
