

AN INTERSTATE
QUARREL IN HOUSEThe Indiana and Kentucky Delegations Fight Over Taylor's Extradition.

IT WAS FAST AND FURIOUS.

Mr. James Led the Attack, Mr. Crumpacker the Defense—Party Feeling Rose High.

Washington, Feb. 3.—Indiana and Kentucky locked horns in the house today. The debate, which involved nearly every member of both state delegations, was fast and furious from start to finish.

Kentucky demanded of Indiana the return of W. S. Taylor, that he might be tried for the assassination of William Goebel.

The attack was made by Mr. James of Kentucky, and the defense was led by Mr. Crumpacker of Indiana. Partisan feeling rose to an extreme tension.

The diplomatic appropriation bill was under consideration at the time, and Mr. James fired both sides of the house to interest and feeling by declaring that the "rough rider president" was "ridiculous in his message to Congress favoring international extradition treaties when one state could not get from another fugitives from justice."

He had, he said, introduced a bill in which the federal government made extradition compulsory where persons had been indicted for a crime. For four years, he said, Gov. Durbin of Indiana had protected Taylor, who had been regularly indicted in Kentucky for the murder of Goebel, and yet I notice that when Durbin comes to town, "continued Mr. James, "he is welcomed and dined by this great Don Quixote upon extradition, who absolutely confines to Durbin the right to give to the waiting and anxious world the news that Hanna can run for president if he wants to. And when we all read that, we again declare 'The king can do no wrong.'"

These remarks met with Democratic applause and laughter, but stirred the opposition to action, and for something like two hours many members were on their feet at a time, and the criminal and political records of both Kentucky and Indiana were handled without gloves.

The Democrats maintained that a state government had no right to take the question of "fair trial" into consideration in honoring extradition papers from another state, while the Republicans maintained that history would justify Indiana's action in this case.

When Crumpacker took the floor in defense of Indiana he was beset by a volley of questions from the Democratic side, and was hardly able to maintain the thread of his argument on account of interruptions.

Mr. Williams of Mississippi followed Mr. Crumpacker, combatting the idea that the Kentucky justice was "corrupt and rotten." In some respects he said, the speech of Mr. Crumpacker was a disgrace to American civilization. "It was ridiculous to suppose that all purposes of the river all was corruption."

Mr. Williams drew the same conclusion as Mr. James regarding retaliation and its possibilities, as touching the death of Goebel.

Mr. Smith of Kentucky took up the argument in detail, reviewing the election of 1899, and the personnel of the election board.

An amusing interruption was made by Mr. Burke of South Dakota, which showed that the tension had lessened. "Will the gentleman state which proportion of Kentucky is prohibition?" asked Mr. Burke.

"About two thirds," was the reply. "We make whiskey down there for the rest of the country, Maine and Kansas."

Mr. Hemenway asked what had become of the $100,000 corruption fund raised to prosecute the Goebel trial.

Mr. Smith replied that only $3,000 was used, and that was for conveying witnesses to the Powers trial.

Hemenway maintained that the Goebel crime was a political one, and that conditions in Kentucky were not such as to secure a fair trial, should Taylor be extradited.

Mr. Payne defended President Roosevelt's extradition treaty recommendation.

Mr. Adams of Pennsylvania, in beginning his annual speech in favor of the reorganization of the consular service, said he was performing a very good office, by introducing a bill for the reorganization of the consular service, which he said, was endorsed by the business interests of the country.

The discussion was brought back to the Goebel murder by Mr. Stanley of Kentucky who, while paying a glowing tribute to Goebel, was asked by Mr. Hepburn of Iowa if Goebel himself was not an assassin and a fugitive from justice.

This was denied most vigorously by Mr. Stanley, who declared the shooting at Sarforn in Covington by Goebel was an act in self-defense.

The session was concluded at 1 o'clock by a 15-minute appeal by Mr. Harrison of New York for equal treatment of American citizens abroad, especially for American Hebrews in Russia.

RAISER WILHELM'S VOICE.
Phonographic Records of It Will Be Deposited at Harvard.

Berlin, Feb. 3.—A phonographic record of Emperor William's voice on metal matrices will be the first deposited in the phonetic archives that are to be kept at Harvard university and the National museum at Washington. The emperor, upon the application of Dr. Edward W. Scripture, the psychologist of Yale university, through the United States ambassador here, has given two examples of his voice for permanent preservation.

Dr. Scripture, describing the meaning of his request, said:

"The phonetic archives are to include

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

"I had two patients in the last stages of consumption. I prescribed Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and today they are well and able to do their daily work."—Dr. C. C. Almond, Horseport, W. Va.

You can hardly find a home without this splendid cough medicine. Parents know what it does for children: breaks up a cold in a single night, wards off bronchitis, prevents pneumonia. Wise physicians advise parents to keep it on hand; wise parents follow the advice.

records from such persons as will presumably have permanent historical interest for America. The importance of the undertaking can be estimated by considering what would have been the present value of voice records of Demosthenes, Shakespeare, or Emperor William the Great. An advisory committee of eminent Americans has prepared a list of 10 living Americans of the first historical interest, whose voices will be preserved. I wish to record his majesty's voice as the first European record deposited in the archives."

The emperor received Dr. Scripture after the morning church service on Sunday. During the making of the record the emperor was alone with the phonograph. He spoke twice into the apparatus. The first cylinder, made especially for the Harvard university, contained observations on Frederick the Great. The other was a short disquisition on "Fortitude in Pain." The emperor's manner was kind, and he showed interest in the matter.

These archives of voices are said to be the first instituted for historical purposes.

ROOT ON ROOSEVELT.
Ex-Secretary of War Bestows High Praise on Him.

New York, Feb. 3.—Bithu Root was the guest of members of the Union League club at dinner tonight.

Speaking of President Roosevelt, Mr. Root said:

"I count it one of the greatest privileges of my life to have been able when that sad day came that brought the death of President McKinley, to help hold up the hands of his true and loyal successor."

"I am told that his successor is not popular in the city of New York. They say he is not safe. He is not safe for the men who wish to prosecute selfish schemes to the public detriment or men who wish government to be conducted with greater reference to campaign contributions than to public good. He is not safe for men who wish to draw the president of the United States off into a corner and make whispered arrangements that are not known by his constituents. But I say to you that he has been during these years, since President McKinley's death, the greatest conservative force for the protection of property and of our institutions in the city of Washington. There is a better way of protecting property, capital and great enterprises than by buying legislators; there is a better way of dealing with labor and keeping it from running in tumult and restless riot than by starving it, or by buying or corrupting its leaders."

"I have said President Roosevelt was the greatest conservative force for the protection of property and capital in the city of Washington. I could give you specific instances where he has stood between rash men in Congress who greatly desired the passage of extreme and violent measures through Congress, and has stopped them by his veto power. I could give you instances where he has stood between rash men in Congress who greatly desired the passage of extreme and violent measures through Congress, and has stopped them by his veto power. "I will veto your bill if you pass it."

Benjamin Pickard Dead.
London, Feb. 3.—Benjamin Pickard, president of the Miners' Federation of Great Britain, and Liberal member of parliament for Normanton, died today of heart disease, aged 52 years.

He began work in the mines when he was 12 years of age.

Dead in an Engine Cab.
Hamilton, Ohio, Feb. 3.—A well-dressed man, who was pocketed was found in a book containing the name of Walter S. Hotte, 122 West Ellsworth street, Denver, was found in the cab of an engine at the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton railroad roundhouse tonight.

An empty carbolic acid bottle was found beside him. When the man was first seen at the roundhouse, a short time before he was discovered by one of the employees he had the toothache and was sick.

Cuban Tariff Revised.
Havana, Feb. 3.—The cabinet tonight approved the revision of the tariff proposed by President Palma and the treasury officials. The tariff schedules will be made public tomorrow.

Got in Jail Quick.
Portland, Or., Feb. 3.—Guy Wakefield and Ross Nichols were today placed under arrest at the instance of the postal authorities on a charge of using the United States mails in an attempt to defraud.

Wakefield and Nichols, it is charged, have until lately been the moving spirits in a concern known as the Order of Fraternal Home Buyers, which, it is charged, accepts installments of $15 monthly from persons desiring to erect a home on contracts which, it is alleged, are cleverly contrived so as never to mature.

There are said to be about 1,000 subscribers, mostly persons of moderate means.

Capitalist Hayward Stricken.
San Francisco, Feb. 3.—Alvin Hayward, one of the best known capitalists of the Pacific coast, is seriously ill in this city. He was stricken with paralysis of the right side yesterday and taken to the home of a friend. His condition today is very critical.

WILL SUE SCHWAB.
Gov. Odell and Others Who Were Induced to Invest.

New York, Feb. 3.—Gov. Odell and other up-state Republican leaders who were induced to invest large sums in the bonds of the United States Shipbuilding company, have decided to begin a fight against Charles M. Schwab, May Pam and others connected with the concern.

One of the shipbuilding victims was Reuben L. Fox of the Republican state committee. Mr. Fox is one of Mr. Lauterbach's clients. He got caught for his part in the shipbuilding bonds. Gov. Odell paid $10,000 in cash for bonds of the bonds.

Mr. Lauterbach today prepared papers in the name of Mr. Fox in an application to Justice Kirkpatrick of the United States circuit court for New Jersey to have Mr. Fox made a party plaintiff in the cause, and to have the shipbuilding company declared insolvent.

WOMAN MACHINIST ADMITTED.
Wilkesbarre, Pa., Feb. 4.—President O'Connell of the International Machinists has notified the local union that Nellie Burke of this city, the only woman machinist who ever applied for admission to the union, can be admitted without reservation. It is expected she will be admitted at the next meeting.

MONEY QUESTION IS ALIVE, SAYS BRYANDeclares That It Is No More Dead
Today Than It Was in the Year 1896.

HIS TRIBUTE TO CLEVELAND.

Endorses What McKinley Said, Made Money the Master of Man.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 3.—William J. Bryan spoke tonight by invitation of the Kentucky legislature to a crowd that filled the Capital theater, many persons being turned away. Both sides of the general assembly adjourned and held memorial services in honor of William Goebel today in the hall of the house of representatives. Mr. Bryan and several members of the legislature made eulogistic addresses.

Mr. Bryan was introduced tonight by Gov. Beckham, who in presenting him said that, though twice defeated, he was the best-loved citizen in public life.

Mr. Bryan, in his address, compared Henry Watterson, the Louisville editor, to the Greek character in "Quo Vadis," who, after a life of crime, repented and said, "I, too, am a Christian." He said he hoped Watterson would yet repent and be a Democrat.

Referring to Goebel, Mr. Bryan said his murder was encompassed by corporate influences that had determined he should never be governor. He said the man who wrote to Goebel that he should never be governor is alive now and his name is mentioned now in connection with the chairmanship of the Democratic national committee.

He devoted some time to Grover Cleveland, saying McKinley's indictment of Cleveland, in which he said Cleveland made money the master of man, he believed was correctly drawn.

Mr. Bryan said he did not want reorganization of the Democratic party, because he did not want the party to take the chance of falling into the hands of the money power. Commercialism in politics, he declared, was now the greatest menace to the country. He said he heard of one prediction in Delaware where all the votes were bought, and one auctioned off brought $50.

He said the money question was no more dead now than it was in 1896, and discussed at length trusts and monopolies that he said are being fostered under the Republican policy.

He also scored President Roosevelt's policy toward Cuba and on the Panama question.

BANQUET TO THE KAISER.
Served With a Silesian Dish Made Of Bacon and Dumplings.

Berlin, Feb. 3.—Count von Ballestrem, president of the reichstag, opened his new official quarters tonight with a banquet to Emperor William and fifty other guests. The emperor, who was in the uniform of the guard duty corps, led the Countess von Ballestrem in to dinner. A noticeable feature of the gathering was that everybody who could do so wore military uniforms.

Count von Ballestrem is a Silesian and there was served at the banquet a popular Silesian dish made of bacon and dumplings. After the dinner the members of the imperial chancellery staff to the emperor, who chatted with the guests for two hours and a half.

Had a Pass but Got Damages.
New York, Feb. 4.—Wilson Frederick of Dunellen, N. J., whose friends probably saved his life by contributing 4,500 pieces of cuticle to be grafted on his scalded body after he had been hurt in a wreck nearly a year ago at Westfield when many persons were killed, is stated to have received $45,000 from the railroad company.

Although he was the holder of a pass which stipulated that the company was to be exempt from damages in the event of his receiving injuries, it was contended that the contract would not be considered valid in the courts. The case did not reach the courts, however.

Frederick was chief clerk in the New York office of an express company and was traveling on an employee's pass. The skin grafting operation was successful but he had only recently been able to leave the hospital and is still confined to his home.

Masonic Charter Withdrawn.
New York, Feb. 4.—The success of a well known gambler in gaining membership to Masonic circles, which caused a sensation among members of the order when it became known some months ago has caused the withdrawal of the charter from Mount Zion Chapter 22. This action has just been taken by the grand chapter of Royal Arch Masons, in session at Albany. All the members of the chapter who were personally interested in the episode, the committee that was supposed to investigate his character and the officers who conferred the chapter degree upon him, will be tried and undoubtedly expelled from the order.

The effect of the grand chapter's action is to leave the Mount Zion chapter without a Masonic home but its innocent members may affiliate with other chapters if they desire to take part in royal arch work.

Andrew Royal of Pueblo Dead.
Pueblo, Colo., Feb. 4.—Andrew Royal, the first mayor of the City of Pueblo and a leading Democrat of Colorado, is dead at his home here after an illness of several months' duration. He came to Pueblo 20 years ago from St. Joseph, Mo., where he founded the St. Joseph Gazette. Mr. Royal was 58 years of age, a widower and two children survive him.

Counsel's Joke Lost Suit.
New York, Feb. 4.—Words spoken jokingly by counsel for the city in the trial before the supreme court of a suit brought by Mrs. Elizabeth Foley for $15,000 damages alleged to have been sustained by the plaintiff when she fell into a hole in the street have unexpectedly caused the jury to decide against the plaintiff.

The evidence was almost entirely on the woman's side but in closing a lawyer for the city said the accident had made the plaintiff such an interesting case that she had obtained a good husband. The remark was taken seriously by the jury but Mrs. Foley's counsel will appeal.

"BABY AND I WERE SAVED BY PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND."

MRS. F. M. HORN.

Story of This Burdened Mother's Bravery
Throbs with Human Interest.Was Run Down.
Had No Appetite.
Nerves Exhausted.MRS. F. M. HORN AND BABY HORN, Heroine of the Typhoid Fever Epidemic, to Whom the Citizens of Lisbon, North Dakota, Pay Highest Tribute.

Mrs. Horn, as Sick-Nurse, Saved Herself, Daughter and All Typhoid Patients—She Relied On Paine's Celery Compound.

By Mrs. F. M. HORN.

As my parents died when I was very small, I had to commence working hard when I was a mere child.

I would get all run down and would have had to give up completely were it not for Paine's Celery Compound.

But that has always been my standby. I always rely upon it to strengthen and build me up again and keep me well.

About my experience in the Lisbon typhoid epidemic. Before my marriage I was a sick-nurse. There is no hospital in this county, and the poor and homeless have to be taken in and cared for by any one who can do it at all.

It was after my marriage that the epidemic of typhoid fever broke out in its worst form. I took in patients, cared for them, and meanwhile did all my own housework except washing.

Never lost a patient, and I thank one of our chief gives me the credit of saving his daughter's life after doctor had given up hope, but I relied on Paine's Celery Compound.

When my last patient was well I was almost a skeleton, but I took several bottles of Paine's Celery Compound, and it kept me up and built me up.

Six months later I had a nice, plump baby with not more than three hours severe suffering. My neighbors and I believe that Paine's Celery Compound saved my baby and me.

When nine months old baby weighed 21 pounds and at one year 27 pounds.

Then the place where we were living was sold and we had to move. It meant leaving our garden, which was all planted and we were depending on it for food.

So we built and moved into our own house, unfinished as it was.

I did all my housework—looked after a teething baby and raised the whole household of four thousand latins as my husband's health was very bad and he was earning for us and building the house at the same time.

It was a mile back to my garden, but I did it. I was except digging winter vegetables.

I always carried my baby with me. It was a trying season, but, as usual, Paine's Celery Compound was my friend.

I was nervous from hard work and all broken down after the typhoid fever epidemic. Sometimes I thought I would go insane. But Paine's Celery Compound saved me.

MRS. F. M. HORN,
Lisbon, North Dakota, Nov. 20, 1903.

P. S.—Nine years ago, when a young girl, I first used Paine's Celery Compound.

for dyspepsia. For the past five or six years I have not had the slightest signs of dyspepsia.

"IT WAS ALMOST LIKE MAGIC."
Dyspepsia Was Cured So Quickly by Paine's Celery Compound.

"I was troubled with dyspepsia and stomach trouble for seven years, and took numerous medicines which were recommended to me. Also took treatment of several doctors. Have never found anything that seemed to do me any real good until I took Paine's Celery Compound."

"I bought and took six bottles, and my troubles entirely disappeared."

"All of my friends notice the great, rapid improvement."

"On but very little since, have good appetite and am generally healthy."

MRS. NELLIE SANDERS,
