HEARINGS IN THE DISTRICT COURT.

Damage Suits Against Ogden & Northwestern Railroad for Fire Losses.

McELROY-WRIGHT NUPTIALS.

Marriage of Miss Margaret B. McElroy and Charles August Wright—Junction City News Notes.

Ogden, Jan. 11.—The verdict of the jury who heard the case of Ellis against the Ogden and Northwestern railroad will not be made public until after the case of A. R. C. Smith against the same company has been submitted to the jury, it being so ordered by Judge Howell. The two cases are almost identical as to the allegations and the court feared that the making public of the verdict in the Ellis case might prejudice the jury in arriving at their decision in the Smith case. Nearly two days passed in the securing of a jury in the Smith case, so technical were the attorneys for both sides that they should get a jury suitable to hear the case. The taking of testimony in the case commenced this morning. Mr. Smith is suing the railroad company for $3,000 damages alleged to be due for the loss of crops, fences, hay, barns and

WESTERN MARKET LETTER.

Special Correspondence.

Kansas City, Mo., Monday, Jan. 8.—There was a fair representation in the cattle receipts last week from the range country, mainly on the stocker and feeder order, a small proportion of killing stuff. The market was strong all week, closing with a gain of 10 cents on all kinds, cases a quarter higher on fed steers and veal calves. Panhandle stockers sold up to 1.15 last week, Utah deer-horned feeders at 3.30, horned feeders, 3.50, killers 3.50, New Mexico stockers and feeders, 3.50 to 3.65, cows 1.20, Colorado cows 2.80. The run last week was 3,500 head against 2,600 same week last year, and the supply today is 2,000 head, market steady to strong today. Packers admit a very large demand for all kinds of dressed meats, and strong prices are predicted balance of this month. Best demand from the country just now is for steers weighing 800 to 1,000 pounds, for roughing through the winter, and feeding on grass next summer.

Mutton receipts last week 32,500 head, against 14,900 same week a year ago, mainly to 15 cents higher of sheep, steady on lambs. Run today is 19,000 head, sheep at 5.25 to 5.50, Colorado fed wethers, 115 pounds, sold at 6.10 on both last Thursday and Friday. The market is apparently on a very firm basis, with packers looking for still further advances, if their anxiety today, in the face of a run of 10,000 head, indicates anything. Feeding wethers sell around 6.00, lambs 5.90, and fat goats 3.00 to 3.25.

"Converting the sagebrush desert into a garden spot," is the way Martin Stark, the ranchman of Montpelier, Ida., put it when referring to the big irrigating projects which are now being completed along the Snake river in that state. "Thousands of acres of land, as bare as one of these streets, are now being reclaimed through irrigation, and made to produce fine crops of grain," he said.

In the early days these lands were considered worthless, and they were about worthless, except in certain years when there happened to be an extra amount of moisture. But under irrigation they produce good crops every year. Wheat, corn, barley, alfalfa, all kinds of fruits and vegetables are grown there, where irrigation can be had. The introduction of irrigation brings in the settlers. They are coming into that country very fast. And unlike the new comers in most frontier countries of 25 years ago, who were poor, these people are well to do and thrifty. This will help to develop the country much sooner than if they were poor and had to earn some money before they could make improvements.
