WASHINGTON, D. C.
Appointments—Indian Rights.

WASHINGTON, 29.—The following appointments were made to-day: W. H. Haines, commissioner of customs; L. S. Douglass, son of Prof. Douglass, member of the Senate; George A. Smith, of the Territory of Colorado; E. W. Little, of New Mexico; Wilson H. Griffeth and Henry Probasco of Ohio, commissioners under the act to provide for the centennial celebration of Independence at Philadelphia.

A recent letter from General Grierson mentions that a large number of young men of the Kiowa tribe had been seen going westward rapidly, though several of them were still in the pursuit of their enemies. In the recent combat between Indians under Satanta and Satauk, three Indians were killed; two died afterwards from their wounds, and two others are expected to die.

A party of Indians attacked Whaler Ranch, on Red River, June 3d, and were repulsed with three killed. One citizen was killed.

NEW YORK.

New York, 29.—The Kimball palace of California wood, is on exhibition here, and elicits much praise. Over twelve thousand persons have visited it since it left San Francisco.

MAINE.

Thrown from the track.

BRUNSWICK, 29.—The express train from Boston was thrown from the track near Prospect yesterday, by a break.

LOUISIANA.

Steamer burned.

NEW ORLEANS, 29.—A Shreveport dispatch reports the steamboat Red Cloud, with nine hundred bales of cotton on board, burned to the water's edge at Montgomery, Georgia.

OHIO.

Movement to enforce the Sunday laws.

CINCINNATI, 29.—The recent movement to enforce the Sunday laws is creating commotion here, which will probably bring on a civil strife. The German saloon keepers held a meeting to day and have instructed a committee appointed by them to report resolutions at a future meeting for the rigid enforcement of the Sunday laws in all particulars; thus they believe will make the laws odious, and procure their repeal. It is proposed by some of them to do so completely on Sunday; and to present the proprietors and carriers of newspapers, street car drivers, cigar vendors, milk-men, paid charmers, etc., etc. A mass meeting is called for Thursday by persons opposed to the present laws.

The Republican State Central Convention of Kentucky has nominated the Rev. Wm. M. Pratt, Baptist minister, to fill the vacancy on the ticket, as superintendent of public instruc-killed six and wounded nineteen persons.

Paris specials says the review came off to-day. The weather was dimly cloudy. A hundred thousand were reviewed. The Orange Prince was present incognito. There were apprehensions of a "Red" demonstration, and precautions were taken to prevent it.

The Prince and Princess of Wales go to Germany.

ITALY.

Bank of Rome.

ROME, 29.—The Bank of Rome has been founded, with a capital of thirty millions.

FRANCE.

Grand military review.

LONG CHAMPS, 28, 1 p.m.—The grand review now in progress. The troops, fully a hundred thousand strong, are in position, and make a very fine appearance. McMahon is in command of the army. The grounds are thronged with an immense number of people and carriages, and the scene is exceedingly brilliant.

PARIS, 29, Morning.—The Republicans can committee disagree and publish several electoral lists.

The loan, covered by subscriptions, has been paid. Peasants and servants invaded the barracks, and pamphlets, addressed to the ignorant, are being circulated, praising the imperial generosity to the Catholic church.

The Democrats are hopelessly divided.

The Communists are still placarding proclamations in secret.

The Press says there was another Franco-German feud at Strasbourg, in which the women used hot water. Arrests have been made.

MARSHALL, 28.—The court has sentenced Chouteau, Etienne and Pommier to death; and Dutches, Martin, Nasson, Boston and Chauchat to transportation for ten years.

PRUSSIA.

Indemnity subscriptions—Terrible riots.

BERLIN, 29.—The chancellor calls in the first issue of fifty one millions of German bonds; the interest ceases in January.

The American delegates to Russia were banquetted at Richmond by the Evangelical alliance.

Napoleon visited London and was re-elected to the army and navy club.

Russia suspends the Moscow Gazette for libel.

Napoleon has declined the Paris candidacy for the Assembly.

Fouyer announced yesterday that in less than six hours 4,500,000 francs had been subscribed. Paris also subscribed over 2,000,000 francs. The final result in the provinces is not yet ascertained. This state of things enables the country to fulfill its engagement and hasten its deliverance. They will not wait for the dates fixed for paying the indemnity in instalments.

Terrible riots have occurred among the miners in the Imperial iron works at St. Petersburg. The officers in command of the superintendents of mines and prisons was destroyed by the rioters, who commenced plundering the Jewish residents. Uhlans cleared the streets, killing seven miners, wounding thirty and arresting sixty. Martial law is proclaimed.

SPAIN.

MADRID, 29.—It is believed the Cortes will approve the bills of Moret. The King receives Barratt to-day.

VEGETABLES.—Spectacles are worn by so many people now-a-days, that we are often inclined to wonder how former generations managed to get on without them before they were invented. The old Greeks and Romans do not seem to have known the luxury; but then, perhaps, their eyes were better than those of the present short-sighted race of mortals. One thing, they had not so many newspapers to trouble them as we have. But spectacles after all are not such a recent invention as might perhaps be thought. They did not come into use in Europe until about the year 1800, but there are of unquestionable antiquity in China, not, indeed, of glass, but of rock crystal. We admit to despise the humble efforts of the untaught Esquimaux, but even they had a sort of spectacles of their own, long before they ever had an opportunity of seeing any from other lands. They are ignorant of the manufacture of glass, or even of pottery—and they, therefore, cannot construct a lens; but they have on common knowledge of the use of wood and bone as an eye shade—which is no more a protection to the visual organs, but assists the visual power of the eyes. The Esquimaux term it "He-yago," "far sight"—the very synonym of our poor telescope.—Once a week.

Now a Speculator was killed.

The English papers are full of the singular and sad story of a man who had made a fortune being cheated out of it, and singularly enough it is a sequel to the notorious O'Dwyer, Guyney & Co. scandal. In 1817 Mr. Theobald O'Dwyer, a business man as a cotton spinner at Hyde, in Cheshire. By forty years of age he amassed a fortune of about a million and a half dollars; and now at the age of eighty he finds himself thrown almost penniless upon the world. Mr. J. Orral Lever, once a member of Parliament for Galway, went to see Mr. Howard one day in 1868, and told him that there was a chance by making a certain purchase to get some $200,000 in gold and silver. The speculator consisted in buying eight shillings, which could be had dirt cheap and sold almost instantly at a large profit. Mr. Howard, in an evil moment, snapped at the gilded bait; and the consequence was his utter ruin and bankruptcy. He became responsible in the first place, for $255,000 purchase money. For this sum he gave bills which were discounted by Messrs. O'Farrell, Guyney & Co., who made a very high profit. On the 20th instant that sum was paid off, Mr. Howard executed a mortgage of the ships to two gentlemen who were represented to him to be capitalists, but who afterwards turned out to be young clerks in the employ of Guyney & Co. Thus the London bankers got possession of his bills and ships; and when Howard, unfortunately, as they evidently anticipated, became unable to take up his acceptance, they sent straightway to Hyde, and the poor gentleman's property was entirely confiscated. The outcome of this was that Mr. Lever was obliged to leave England, and to go to America. The late historian Gossage frequented his library to the London University. The little vessel "Magus" arrived at Queenstown to-day.

The Communists Courbet and Tonnes were confronted with their accomplices in Paris.

Dolmetsch and his sister are liberated.

Malot has escaped.

In Belgium a boiler explosion has beginning; Mr. Lever, however professing to have been a victim, and not a conspirator. The spectacle of an octogenarian, who has been the architect of so much hard won fortune, thus reduced to beggary, is truly pitiable, and besides awakening profound indignation against the rascally trio, by which the mischief was accomplished.

The Prince and Princess of Wales go to Germany.
