Floating Fragments.

There was a bold robbery and outrage last night.

Brother James H. Hart, Church emigration agent at New York, is in the city.

Thy tramp nuisance is becoming intolerable, calling for a more rigorous anti-tramp policy.

Elder John Morgan, President of the Southern States Mission, arrived home last evening.

Milton Nobles and his superior company, who at the Salt Lake Theatre to-night, "The Phoenix," the play.

There has been renewed talk of lynching Smith, who shot Paty Jones, at Ogden, on Friday night. Let the law take its course.

Straining the legal-technical points in favor of tramps is in decided disfavor just now. Send them up. The popular sentiment and safety demand it.

There is to be a concert at the Nineteenth Ward Hall on Friday evening, commencing at 7.30 o'clock, for the benefit of the Primary Association.

Saturday night, between the hours of 11 and 12, as Mr. Wm. Stender was leaving his place of business on Kover Fifth Street, and was going to his home, near the Iron Works, two strangers, standing near the street, fired four shots at him, the first of which, fortunately, took effect.—Ogden Herald.

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

An Address.—To-morrow evening President Joseph F. Smith will deliver an address before the Y. M. M. I. A. of the Sixth Ward, at the schoolhouse. All are invited. No charge for admittance.

Salt Lake Theatre.—Those who wish to witness a performance of rare excellence can be gratified to-night, by attending the Salt Lake Theatre and witnessing "The Phoenix," as played by Milton Nobles and company.

That Entertainment.—Everything indicates that the entertainment to be given in the new 18th Ward Chapel, on Friday evening, will be one of the highest class and the most enjoyable of the season. In addition to the ladies and gentlemen named before, Miss Ada Dwyer and Miss Helena Wells are announced to appear in the programme.

A Southern Trip.—To-day Brother Herbert L. James left this city on a trip through the southern settlements in the interest of the Juvenile Instructor Office. He will go as far south as St. George, and will canvas for that excellent periodical and carry with him various publications issued by the office he represents. Brother James is in every respect reliable, and his gentlemanly deportment renders it a pleasure to do business with him.

Left Luggage Arrived.—Brother James H. Hart, has brought with him the following left luggage, which can be obtained by the parties designated, who can procure the checks from Bishop Edward Hunter, in whose care they have been left:

George Richards, a painted tin trunk; E. Reynolds, a large wooden box, painted brown; T. Jorgensen, a large trunk; J. Vause, small wooden box.

The President and Party.—By courtesy of Pres. Smith we are enabled to publish the following dispatch:

GUNNISON, Nov. 21, 1882.

Joseph F. Smith:

We held a good Conference at Mant yesterday. There was preaching at Pettysville and Mayfield, and two meetings were held at this place. To-day we held meeting at Fayette and to-morrow we purpose going to Evan, thence to Mona and Utah County. All well. Shall leave here at eleven. JOHN TAYLOR.

An Incident.—About 7 o'clock this morning a citizen was passing along the central part of town when he was accosted by a man who asked him to treat him to a drink. He took him to a saloon according, and gave him what he asked for when the following conversation ensued:

Tramp—I came near being shot last night.

Citizen—Where did that happen?

Tramp—At my boarding house.

The tramp here exhibited his hand, the back of which was wounded and covered with blood, as if the member had been quite recently shot.

Outrage and Robbery.—At a quarter to nine o'clock last night a miner named O'Toole, a good natured Irishman, was set upon by a couple of men, in the alley immediately in the rear of the Theatre saloon. They knocked him down and kicked him so brutally as to do him serious bodily injury. They also robbed him of his watch, and what little money he had, amounting to a couple of dollars, and fled.

When the assault was made, a couple of women standing close by ran out of the alley and screamed, and the disturbance soon brought officers T. P. Thoms and J. Y. Smith to the spot. Finding that O'Toole had been in the Theatre saloon shortly before the robbery, they ascertained who went out of the place with him, and from information obtained subsequently arrested a couple of men against whom the evidence is said to be very strong and direct.

This morning the chain of O'Toole's watch was found on the ground where the affair occurred. His injuries are so severe that he is unable to appear in the case to-day. Two of his ribs are fractured, and he is so hurt internally that his breathing is greatly impeded and painful. He sold a mite a short time since for which he obtained a considerable amount of money. The robbers probably thought they would get a large sum, but in this they were disappointed as he had placed his money in the bank.

EMIGRATION AND OTHER MATTERS.

THE WORK OF THE REASON COMPLETED—A HEALTHY CHANGE OF SENTIMENT.

This morning we were pleased to receive a call from Brother James H. Hart, of Bloomington, Bear Lake Valley, the Church emigration agent at New York. Having completed the arduous labors of the season, he returned from the East on Sunday night. The emigration business of the entire year has been accomplished in the most satisfactory manner, without a hitch or hindrance of any moment. The number of Saints who have come from Europe this year has been larger than for any previous year for some time back, the aggregate being greater by over 500 than in 1881.

We learn from Brother Hart that the feeling of intense bitterness that existed in the East some time since towards the Saints has modified to a remarkable degree. This change of sentiment is so pronounced as to plainly indicate the getting in of a decided reaction on the subject. He attributes a portion of this change of feeling to the gratuitous distribution of a considerable number of pamphlets explaining the true position of the Latter-day Saints from their own and unprejudiced non-"Mormon" standpoints, showing the value of circulating the right kind of literature abroad.

While in the East numbers of people observing his name in the public journals as "Mormon" emigration agent, concluded with him for the purpose of learning something concerning the Latter-day Saints. The following extract from one letter received by him will give an idea of the general purport of each communication:

"I received your kind and welcome reply to my letter, and thank you for your kindness in obliging me. I shall go over as soon as I can have the pleasure of meeting you there for a few Sundays, for our time seems short here; but hope to see you soon. I am employed all day long, and cannot get off to pay you a visit before you go away, but hope to see you when you come back in March. I stand alone with my own thoughts. I have for a number of years been trying to get books and papers telling about the Latter-day Saints, but could find nothing in this part of the country, only what I could find in the papers. I have written often to Utah to find out, but never got any reply. I suppose because I did not write to the proper person. I again thank you, and wish you a pleasant journey and good health, and a safe return to your work in the great city of New York."

During the progress of the late Delegate election Brother Hart was naturally anxious to receive speedy information regarding it, but it appears that the dispatch manipulators considered that the matter was going much too favorably for the great majority of the people to cause them to gush over the figures. After a diligent search of the public papers he at last found the following incorrect telegram from Salt Lake City in a comparatively obscure journal published in the German language: "Utah's election returns show that the total vote cast was 25,000. Of this number 20,000 were cast by 'Mormons,' 5,000 by non-'Mormons.' Twenty-five per cent. of the electors registered failed to vote at all." Had the victory been on the other side, the country would doubtless have been flooded with statements to that effect, showing that prejudice suppresses and covers up the truth in every direction.

Missionary Work and Mobocracy.—This morning we had the pleasure of a visit from Elder Daniel R. Bateman, son of Brother Samuel Bateman, of West Jordan, who returned last evening from a mission to the Southern States. He left here for that part of the country October 12th, 1880. He labored most of the time of his absence in Middle Tennessee, but also spent some in the western portion of that State.

He met with a good deal of opposition. As an instance, in September, 1881, he and Elder Robert Spence were together at Spring Creek, Perry County. When they awoke one morning, in the house at which they stopped, five masked men, members of a Ku Klux Klan, were outside the building, and five others were a short distance off by the fence on the road, taking care of the horses of the party. One of those by the house stood near the window, to which Brother Bateman's head was quite close, with a shot gun, while the others, who were also armed, kicked at the doors, trying to burst them open. The brethren managed to get away without getting hurt, and took to the woods in the night time, returning to Spring Creek in the day time, as they were only molested at nights. Thus they were compelled to stop out three nights. Notwithstanding this condition they baptized three new members of the Church while this was going on.

Two weeks from the time the mob surrounded the house where Elders Bateman and Spence were stopping, they had an appointment to preach, when an armed mob took possession of the schoolhouse, and drove them away. The following night (Sunday) the mob searched for the Elders, and fired into the woods, the shot passing directly over their heads, butting the leaves in the trees under which they were lying. Two weeks after that the brethren were going to the same place to fill an appointment, when they were met by a number of friends, who informed them that several men armed with shot guns had taken possession of the school-house and declared they would kill the Elders should they attempt to enter; they therefore did not fill the appointment.

The names of the more prominent among the mobocrats are: Hart Wagon, Frank Twiley, Rome Strickland and Mack Strickland.

Notwithstanding these circumstances, Elder Bateman states that he enjoyed his labors and baptized twenty-eight persons, besides assisting in administering that ordinance to about fifty others. Five persons residing on Spring Creek followed Elder Bateman and Spence twenty miles to get them to baptize them.

DEPLORABLE CASUALTY.

AN OLD AND REVEREABLE CITIZEN ACCIDENTALLY SHOT AND KILLED.

A sad accident recently occurred at Smithville, Graham County, Arizona. On the morning of Nov. 3d, 1882, while 'Brother' Seth Dodge was pulling a gun, which was under a wagon, his son, who was under a second wagon, caught in some of his bedding, causing it to go off. The ball entered the right side, ranging upwards, killing him almost instantly. He called to his son Eli, who was standing near him, saying, "I am a dead man." His son caught him in his arms, when he expired.

Deceased was born April 22d, 1821, in Jefferson County, New York. He joined the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, in 1832. Was married to Lovina Braden, May 29, 1840. He shared in all the persecutions and mobbings of the Saints in Missouri and Illinois. Emigrated to Utah in President Brigham Young's company, in 1848. He lived in the southern counties of Utah until April 15th, 1878, when he moved to Arizona. He built a home in Smithville in 1880, where he resided till his death. He was the father of 22 children and eight grand children. He was a good, faithful, Latter-day Saint, and a kind parent. He leaves a large family and wide circle of other relatives and friends, who deeply mourn his loss.

We are indebted for these particulars to Brother W. J. Ransom.

Emigration Business.—All parties having business with me as Church Emigration Agent at New York, and which remains unsettled can obtain settlement by applying to James Jack, whose address is Box B, Salt Lake City.

Any business in New York, pertaining to emigration, during my absence from this city, can still be addressed to me at Box 18, New York City, and will be attended to by John W. Romaine.
