ogden, Dec. 19 .- Two courts were in ession in Ogden yesterday all day. Judge Booth of Provo, presided over one and Judge Howell the other. The attention of Judge Booth was occupied in considering motions in the libel suits against the Standard Publishing company. For several hours Attorney Farnsworth for the defense in the case of C. C. Richards against the Standard and William Glasmann, argued a demurrer to the plaintiff's complaint, claiming that the same did not constitute a cause of action, is uncertain, and its allegations are conflicting. The attorney made an able plea on his motion. When he had completed Attorney A. E. Pratt for the plaintiff arose and commenced to reply to the argument made, when the court informed him that he did not care to hear from him on the question and overruled the motion, and gave Mr. Glasmann et al 30 days in which to file an answer to the complaint. It was expected that the case of T. G. Richards against the same defendants to recover $10,000 alleged to be due for the publication of certain articles in deants newspapers concerning plainindants newspapers concerning plain-tif, would come up for trial, but Mr. diasmann appeared in court personal-ly and explained to the court that he is suffering from inflammatory eczema and could not be in attendance on the case at the present time. The court therefore granted a continuance to January 2.
