Last Evening's Meeting of The Daughters of The Pioneers.

There was a delightful gathering of the Daughters of the Pioneers in the parlors of the Lion House last evening. The spirit and genius of the men and women who pioneered this state was present in great abundance.

A genuing feeling of fellowship and a profound determination to be worthy of their ancestors characterized every speaker's utterances and beamed from every eye. The rooms were decorated with ivy and the polished hardwood floors of the halls and parlors gave em-phasis to the cosy, old-fashioned striped rad carpets of the relic room, belong-ing to the society.
