INQUEST OVER SLAIN OFFICER

Officers Still in Dark as to Murderer but Are Given Hope by Statements of Hartwell.

HERRICK TESTIMONIAL.

Ministerial Association Elects Officers
—Enlargement of S. P. Shops——Woodmen Initiated.

Ogden, Dec. 8.—After hearing the evidence introduced at the Seymour L. Clark inquest, which was held yesterday afternoon before Judge Murphy, in the police court, the jury brought in a verdict last evening to the effect that "the said Seymour L. Clark, came to his death at Utah, Weber county, Utah, Nov. 27, 1908, from the effects of gunshot wounds; said wounds being inflicted by a revolver in the hands of a person to the jurors unknown."

Most of the day was occupied in hearing the witnesses, the chief one being Deputy Sheriff Murphy, who was with the late Deputy Sheriff Clark on the night of the murder. Among the other witnesses were the officers who had been working upon the case, those that visited Utah on the night of the murder, and those who were riding in the car when it was being driven to Ogden on a freight train and that when the train reached Echo he alighted from the car, he was riding in and began running up and down near the depot platform to get warm. He said that he noticed a young man alight from a box car and he addressed him in a casual manner, to which the stranger replied in a gruff voice. Helm's description of the man tallied with that given by Deputy Sheriff Murphy of the murderer. It is the opinion of the officers that the man whom Helm saw at Echo on the night of the murder and on the train, a car of which was robbed of shoes, was the man that killed Clark.

A remark that was dropped by James Hartwell, the man who was taken to the hospital in a critical and unconscious condition last Friday, has given the officers new hope. Three times since he was taken to the hospital Hartwell has been conscious and started to tell how he was injured. That he was struck upon the head by a blunt instrument in the hands of the slayers of Seymour Clark seems to be the general belief of the officers, as there is no doubt Hartwell knows something of his assailants and the murderer of Clark. Yesterday afternoon Hartwell became semi-conscious and told two nurses of his connection with "the shoe business in Denver." Then he said, "that shoe deal was an awful thing—that shoe deal was a dirty affair. It was—". These broken statements by the injured man lead the officers to believe that he knows all the facts connected with the murder, as it will be remembered that on the night of the murder the murderer was sitting with six cases of shoes which had been taken from a Union Pacific freight train. The shoe deal referred to by Hartwell is believed to be one and the same.

Since the statement made by Hartwell in regard to the Denver shoe deal the officers are of the opinion that for many months past box car thieves have been stealing shoes from the Union Pacific and Oregon Short Line and shipping the goods to Denver over the Rio Grande Western and stealing from the Rio Grande and shipping to Denver over the Union Pacific. It is the general belief that if Hartwell recovers his mind that he will not only be able to throw light on the Clark murder but upon some of the box car robberies which have been going on for a long time.
