

FRAGMENTS.

COL. JAMES O. BROADHEAD is in the city, and was present at the session of the Third District Court today.

D. L. DAVIS succeeds the firm of Barnes & Davis, and continues the same business at the old stand.

L. D. FULLMER, Esq., representing J. A. Foulger & Co. of San Francisco, is in town and will stay for a few days.

JUDGE FRANK E. JAMES, of Park City, died on Friday night, of Bright's disease of the kidneys. He was 32 years of age. He will be buried on Wednesday.

BARNES, LEWIS & CO. opened out as dealers in general merchandise, grain, feed, etc., last Saturday, at the store formerly occupied by Mrs. Dye, on Main Street.

MR. DAVID YAKESLEY, registrar of the third district, will be at his house, 120 N. First West Street, each evening of this week, and during the day at 132 Main Street, to register all qualified voters.

MONDAY morning failed to furnish its usual quota of cases for the Police Court today, a solitary individual being called for arraignment. This was Hyrum Prece, who had been guilty of drunkenness, for which he paid a fine of $2.

This week every one who is eligible should be careful to see that his name is on the registration list, that he may be able to vote in November for Delegate to Congress. Those who registered for the city election are not registered again, or they cannot vote.

General Eldredge's Will.

The will and codicil of Gen. Horace S. Eldredge was filed for probate today. Among the bequests is one of $50,000 to the Salt Lake State Academy, and the interest on $10,000 more for ten years, virtually a gift of $10,000.

It is estimated that the estate will aggregate between five hundred and six hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

The executors are James A. Eldredge, Ben. R. Eldredge, L. S. Mills, T. G. Webber and Le Grand Young.

Mountain Lions.

Those who are desirous of an exciting experience as hunters can be gratified in the mountains above Grass Valley, on the boundary line between Idaho and Garfield counties, according to accounts received from there. Mountain lions have become so numerous as to be a great annoyance to the settlers, entailing upon them serious loss. It is stated that the lions have been permitted to run at large during the past season, and recently they have attacked horses and other large animals. The mountains there are comparatively easy, and the number of lions to be found would make interesting work for good hunters.

Returned From England.

On Friday evening Elder John H. Kelton of this city returned from a mission to Great Britain. He crossed the Atlantic with the company that last arrived from Europe, but stopped on the way to visit relatives in Brooklyn. He left this city for England on the 13th of October, 1887, and labored in the London Conference as traveling Elder, up to September, 1887, when he was appointed President of the Newcastle Conference where he continued until his release to return home. He did a great deal of good work and met with fair success. He had the pleasure of baptizing nineteen persons. He took much pleasure in his labors and returns in good health.

Dedication Service.

Last evening the new meeting house erected by the Latter-day Saints in the Fourth Ward was dedicated. The house was filled on the occasion, and an excellent spirit pervaded the proceedings. The dedication prayer was offered by Apostle Heber J. Grant. The speakers were, in the order in which they addressed the assembly, President Angus M. Cannon, Elder John Nicholson and Henry W. Naisbitt, Apostle Heber J. Grant and Bishop Harrison Sperry.

Surgical Operation.

Yesterday afternoon a delicate and painful surgical operation was performed on Samuel J. Evans, son of the late Samuel L. Evans, of the Sixth Ward. Drs. Hamilton, Hall and Jos. S. Richards engaged in the operation, which was performed at Dr. Hamilton's office. For some time past the boy has suffered from a tumor in the head. Its location was in the passage from the nose to the throat, the roots extending both into the throat and nose, and fastening themselves to the bone. Twice the tumor had been cut away, but without removing the cause. Each time the cutting had to be done without putting him under the influence of an anesthetic, owing to the danger of fatal results following, so the instrument had to be inserted in the nose and throat with the boy in full consciousness of the inconvenience and suffering. On one of the former occasions the instrument broke twice, and the third time a new method was tried, the substance with electricity was used. The tumor is almost as hard as bone, and was taken out in several pieces yesterday, the largest being extracted through the mouth; this was nearly an inch in thickness, and about one and a half by two inches square. The unfortunate lad has suffered intensely, and is now in a delicate state of health. It is hoped that the latest operation has been successful in removing the whole of the tumor, for unless that can be done, death by strangulation from its growth in the head is likely to follow.

ADVERTISE.

A lady interested in growing the silver-skinned onion has discovered that this fine variety does much better in the shade than in the sun. It makes a handsome show and is more attractive to purchasers than cured. Probably the action of the sun's rays after the plant is loosened from the soil effects chemical changes analogous to the greening of potatoes thus exposed. Charles Under cover also protects the onion from rats and mice, which, when it is partly dried, must injure its appearance and perhaps also its quality.

FUNERAL OF GEN. ELDREDGE.

Apostle Moses Thatcher and President Jacob Gates the Speakers.

At ten o'clock yesterday morning, September 29th, in the first apartment on the right hand side of the hall, in the Eldredge real estate office on First Street, east, was held the funeral service of General Horace S. Eldredge. In the center of the room lay the coffin, a very handsome one, and it was richly furnished with floral decorations. In the apartment sat the mothers and a number of the relatives and former associates of the deceased.

The services were conducted in this apartment by Bishop Millen Atwood, but a much larger congregation than could possibly be accommodated in the house, occupied seats in front of it, listening through the open windows. A quartet consisting of H. G. Whitney, J. D. Spencer, Mrs. Edith Knowlton and Mrs. Villate Young furnished the singing. The opening prayer was offered by Elder Louis Farr.

THE QUARTET SANG:

O my Father, thou that dwellest, In the high and glorious place,

APOSTLE MOSES THATCHER addressed the assemblage. It has always been difficult for me to speak at the funeral of a friend or brother, especially when my attachment for him has been strong. I have known Brother Eldredge for a great number of years, and have esteemed him most highly. He was a man whose movements have made a marked impression upon society. He displayed strong characteristics from his early boyhood, among them being a steady, determined perseverance. He was a friend to his friends and just to his enemies. He was not given to hatred or resentment. When the shades of evening came, he calmly waited for his powers of endurance, mental and physical, were remarkable, and he possessed ability to discharge a vast amount of labor.

The speaker dwelt at some length upon the personal traits and qualities of the deceased, and in appropriate language applied to him the promise of the talents, describing him as a man who had been diligent and faithful in his duties, and adding to the talents bestowed upon him by his Creator. He told of his acquaintance with the important duties of his life, with a calm courage which is beautiful to see and difficult to emulate. He had no fear of death, and while expressing the hope that he might not be required to linger here, he was fully convinced of his willingness to abide by the will of God. The speaker dwelt upon the teachings of the Gospel in respect to the immortality of the soul, its redemption through the Gospel, and the resurrection of the dead. He spoke of the deceased as a man who had learned to live as he died, and as one who had obeyed the laws of the Gospel which entitled him to pass by the angels and the Gods, and achieve an exaltation in the presence of his Creator. In proof of the reward of such a life, he read from the vision given to Joseph Smith and Sidney Hurdson, showing the condition of the dead, and expounded the same.

PRESIDENT JACOB GATES

followed in a brief address. The deceased had been a presiding officer over a vast body of priesthood, and it afforded the speaker great pleasure to bear record of that in all his associations with the deceased in that capacity, there had not been a single occasion in his counseling him, or in his counsel with us, for in him we found a staunch and good man, and a wise counselor. He heartily commended the religious teaching of the previous speaker, and speaking of the veterans who still live among the saints, he expressed the belief that they would, on completing their labors on the earth, be permitted to assist in the building of the temple, and in the resurrection of the dead, and in which their services would have no power to oppress them in any way.

THE QUARTET SANG THE HYMN:

1. O my Father, thou that dwellest, In the high and glorious place,

Benediction was pronounced by President Seymour B. Young, after which those present were afforded an opportunity to view the remains.

How the Law is Enforced.

Owing to the press of matter in Saturday's issue, an item regarding the cases under the Edmunds and Edmunds-Tucker laws was crowded out of the News until today. On Friday evening District Attorney Peters completed a statement, supplementary to one formerly prepared by him, of the prosecutions in Utah under the laws named. From this report the following figures are taken:

Under the Edmunds-Tucker law the convictions have been as follows:

In this division there are quite a number who are not "Mormons." The "Mormon" sect who were prosecuted were those who lived with plural wives, and were charged under the law of 1887 with offenses in addition to those made by the law of 1887:

INSTANTLY KILLED.

W. Rasmussen Falls Over a Precipice Fifty-Five Feet High.

Monroe, Utah, September 10th, 1888. (Special to the Deseret News).—On Saturday, September 8th, W. Rasmussen, late principal of the district school at Richfield, and Henry Hagan, of Elsinore, while on a pleasure trip in Monroe Canyon, were rolling rocks for the fun of seeing them roll and splash in the waters beneath. While Brother Rasmussen was in the act of rolling a rock, his foot slipped, and he fell from a precipice 55 feet high, killing him instantly. As he went down he struck on a jutting crag, and his throat was cut and a piece of his cheek left on a rock. His left shoulder was broken and his clothes were nearly all torn off. It was such a shocking affair that it has cast a gloom over the whole community.
