CHURCHES UNITE IN THANKSGIVING

Services Held in Methodist Church —Rev. Carver Says Spirit of Charity is Decreasing.

MAIL TRAIN NO. 9 TOO LARGE.

Cannot Make Schedule Time and Will Be Divided—David McKay May Be Made Commissioner.

Ogden, Nov. 30.—Thanksgiving day was quietly but appropriately observed in Ogden yesterday. A union service of all the evangelical churches in the city was held at the First Methodist church which was largely attended.

The principal part of the program was an eloquent sermon delivered by Rev. John E. Carver of the First Presbyterian church on the charities and freedoms of mankind today which he believes is decreasing more as time goes on. The people of the world the speaker declared are showing little sympathy for the blessings daily conferred upon them and many are forgetting God, and many are forgetting that spirit of helping one another which once was enjoyed, is diminishing and a spirit of selfishness is growing, which is far from the love of God, which continues forever. The program rendered was as follows:

Voluntary..... Mr. Whitaker
Invocation..... Rev. Horace B. Blood Opening hymn, No. 14
Scripture lesson, "Old Testament"
Rev. O. A. Elmqvist
Rev. O. A. Elmqvist
The offering of the day Sermon..... Rev. John E. Carver Benediction..... Miss Mitchell Benediction..... Rev. Frank Shaw

At the state school for the deaf and blind excellent Thanksgiving exercises were carried out consisting of songs, recitations, instrumental music and short talks on the purpose of the day to instill in the hearts of mankind a thankfulness for the blessings received. In the evening the blind pupils gave a creditable rendition of the drama "The Courtship of Miles Standish."

The pupils of the State Industrial school had an appropriate program which was well rendered. A bounteous dinner was served at both institutions.
The poor of the city were not forgotten, but were well cared for by the bishops of the wards, the Salvation Army and others. The rabbit hunt was quite successful and many bundles were brought to the city and distributed to those in need, the Salvation Army taking charge of that work.

In the evening many attended the opera house, others the dance halls and skating rinks, while others had private parties at their homes.

MAIL TRAIN TOO BIG.

Will Be Divided to Facilitate Better Handling of Mails.

Ogden, Nov. 30.—Few people in Utah may know that the largest mail train in the United States is run over the Union Pacific, and is known as number 9 fast mail. This train is made up of seven large mail cars, and is given preference over all other trains on the road so as to make the scheduled time, in keeping with its contract with the government. The train has not been able since the stormy weather set in to make the scheduled time, and in order to determine the best method to pursue in order to meet the contract, Supt. Park of the Wyoming division of the Union Pacific and Supt. of Mail Service Thall have just been making a trip over the division. The gentlemen have come to the conclusion that a seven car train of mail is too heavy for winter weather, and will recommend that one car be taken from No. 9 and attached to some other train, so that the requirements of the government contract can be met. Supt. Park only came part way to Ogden, but Mr.
Thall made the entire trip to this city on the fast mail train.

NEW NAME FOR COMMISSIONER.

The matter of appointing a successor to Joseph Stanford on the board of county commissioners is being considerably discussed at present, and it is expected Governor Cutler will not delay the appointment. The name of State Senator David McKay, one of the best known and most highly respected men in Ogden, is being mentioned as the possible choice of the governor. Many pronounced Republicans are urging his appointment, which, if made, would meet with universal approval of the public both in the city and county. He is fully competent, and has before filled public trusts with honor and ability, and could well look after the position of county commissioner. Several other names are being mentioned also.

VOTING FOR MOST POPULAR LADY.

A voting contest was commenced last evening at the Auditorium skating

THANKSGIVING IN GARDEN CITY

Mental Unfortunates Feasted—City Schools Give Programs.

Special Correspondence.
Provo, Utah, Nov. 30.—Thanksgiving day passed pleasantly in Provo in the enjoyment of Thanksgiving dinners and family gatherings. The patients at the state mental hospital had a special spread befitting the occasion, and a ball was enjoyed by them Wednesday evening. Services were held in the ward house and a union service in the Congregational church; all well attended.

The city school had a Thanksgiving program Wednesday, and the pupils brought gifts of fruit and other edibles.

OTHER BURGLARIES.

The burglary of Perry's store Wednesday night has brought out that for some time past other stores in the city have been entered in the night and the doors left open. But nothing has been taken away so far as known, except a few pocket knives were missed from Mr. Perry's store some time ago. The fact that nothing was taken by the burglars ended to cause a doubt in the minds of the proprietors of the stores as to whether they had accidentally left the doors open. It is now believed that the burglar was looking for cash only, and that this is the reason that nothing was taken from the other places visited, there being no cash left in the register at any of them.

DUPLAN, MEXICO.

SEVERE COLD IN COLONIES.

Thermometer 12 Below Zero—Infant Perishes in Cold—Cattle Frozen.

Special Correspondence.
Colonia, Duplan, Mexico, Nov. 23.— The night following the recent snow storm the thermometer registered 4 degrees below zero, here in Jan. and a party from Colonia Jimenez stated it was 12 below there.

Mr. Timothy Jones had a few cows in a river side alfalfa field and among them was an old one he had been fattening for beef and was almost ready for the block; but Jack Frost claimed her first. She was frozen standing erect and simply fell over against a vine fence. Another cow in town suffered the same fate in a corral. By reports from the "big pasture" several animals were also frozen there. Thus far only one human life was reported lost, an infant Mexican.

This is the fourth day since the storm and the snow is most all gone in the valley. If it continues warm a few days the river will be on the rush again and should it rain, as it recently

AIMS OF THE SOCIALISTS.

To too many of these men in the constructive professions the substitution of a Socialist state for our present economic method carries with it no promise of emancipation at all. They think that work for the public control in an advance toward Socialism would set up would be worse for them and all that they desire to do than the profit-seeking, expense-cutting, mercenary making of the present regime.

This is, I believe, a temporary and alterable state, contrary to the essential and permanent spirit of those engaged in constructive work. It is due very largely to the many misrepresen-tations and partial statements of Socialism that have rendered it palatable and assimilable to the workingmen and the administrative Socialist. Socialism has been presented on the one hand, as a scheme of expropriation to a clamorous popular government of workmen, far more ignorant and incapable of management than a shareholders' meeting, and, on the other, as a scheme for the encouragement of stupid little municipal authorities of the contemporary type in impossible business undertakings, under the guidance of fussy, energetic, legal-minded and totally unscientific investigators. Except for the quite recent development of Socialist thought that is now being embodied in the "New Hierarchy Series" of the Fabian society, scarcely anything has been done to dispel these reasonable doubts.

I should think that, from the point of view of Socialist propaganda, the time is altogether ripe now for a fresh and more vigorous insistence upon the materially creative aspect of the vision of Socialism, an aspect which is, after all, much more cardinal and characteristic than any aspect that has hitherto been presented systematically to the world. An enormous rebuilding, remaking and expansion is integral in the Socialist dream. We want to get the land out of the control of the private owners among whom it is cut up houses, factories, railways, mines, farms out of the dispersed management of their proprietors, essentially, not in order to secure their present profits and hinder development, but in order to rearrange these things in a saner and finer fashion. An immense work of rebuilding, rebuilding, redistribut-ing lies in the foreground of the Socialist vision. We contemplate an enormous clearance of existing things. We want an unfettered hand to make beautiful and convenient homes, splendid cities, endless great highways, beautiful bridges, clean, swift and splendid electric railways; we are inspired by a faith in the coming of clean, wide and simple methods of agricultural production. But it is only now that Socialism is beginning to be put in these terms.
So put, the engineer and the architect and the scientific organizer, agricultural and industrial—all the best of them, anyhow—will find it correspondingly extraordinary to their way of thinking.—H. G. Wells in the Independent.

Fate of Old Boots.

What becomes of old boots and shoes has hitherto been almost as puzzling a problem as where all the pins go to. The solution, however, is given in the Boot and Shoe Trades Journal.

"Old boots and shoes of leather," the journal says, "are cut up into small pieces and then are put for two days in to chloride of sulphur, the effect of which is to make the leather very hard and brittle."

"When this is fully effected, the material is withdrawn from the action of the chloride of sulphur, washed with water, dried and ground to powder. It is then mixed with some substance that will cause it to adhere together, such as shellac or other suitable material, or even good glue, and a thick solution of strong gum."

It is afterward pressed into moulds to form combs, buttons, and a variety of other useful objects.

"Prussiate of potash is also made out of old leather. It is heated with pearl ash and old iron hoops in a large pot. The nitrogen and carbon from cyanogen, and then unite with the iron and potassium.
The soluble portions are dissolved out and the resulting salt, added to one of iron, produces the well known Prussian blue, either for dyeing purposes or as a pigment.—London Express.
