WASHINGTON, 19.—The prospects for the internal revenue bill are poor. If many changes are made in the Senate, the House will probably let the bill fall for the session, and adjourn by the 1st of August.

Kelly is said to be very despondent over the fate of his bill and with the prospects regarding the tariff commission. He recognizes the fact that he missed the opportunity of his lifetime in neglecting to go to work on the tariff himself, as the head of the ways and means committee.

Reports from Keifer's district in Ohio show that the democrats are pouring in money to help defeat him. They don't want him in Congress.

Nominations: Wm. Hale, of Iowa, for governor of the Territory of Wyoming; J. Schuler Crosby, of New York, for governor of the Territory of Montana; Wilson W. Hoover, of California, for associate justice of the supreme court of the Territory of Arizona.

The committee on Pacific railroads has decided to postpone until December next the further consideration of the bill to aid in the improvement of the navigation of the Mississippi River.

Senator Miller has introduced an amendment to the navy appropriation bill, which is approved by the committee on naval affairs, to take the place of the clauses in the House bill reducing the staff of the navy. The amendment provides for the appointment of a commission of three members and two Senators, the latter to be designated by the President of the Senate, the three Representatives to be designated by the Speaker. The Secretary of the Navy and the three officers of the navy, to be designated by the President, to consider all matters relating to the proper reduction of the official list of the navy and the adjustment of the several grades and corps thereof. Said commission to report to Congress at the next session. The Secretary of the Navy is authorized to detail an officer to act as secretary, to employ such clerks and stenographers as may be necessary, and the commission has power to send for persons and papers.

Under a recent appropriation for the Agricultural Department a central office for the collection of European crop statistics will be established under the direction of the Commissioner of Agriculture, with headquarters in London, at the office of the U. S. Consul General, and Edward J. Moffatt, of New York, has been appointed special statistical agent in charge of the work. Mr. Moffatt has also been appointed by the Department of State Deputy Consul General at London.

Commissioner Loring has given instructions for the organization of a system of crop reporting in Europe, intended to give a true representation of the state of the growing crops and the results of the harvests.

New York, 19.—Tug Wilson, yesterday, was without a scratch or contusion, and spoke somewhat contemptuously of Sullivan's hard-hitting.

I think, he said, that I can knock him out in a square fight, with bare knuckles. I am anxious to meet him in the ring, and a match will be arranged at once, if possible. Return to England? No, sir, never. I am going to settle down here, and declare my intention of becoming a citizen at once. If I fought all my life in England, I would not be able to make as much money as I made last night.

This seems to be a paradise of professional pugilists. And it will be many a long day before they catch me on the other side of the Atlantic again; last night's experience settled it. I was treated magnificently; everything was square and above board.

Clearing house exchanges show the following gains and losses in business transactions this week over the corresponding week last year: Losses—New York, 4.2; Boston, 14.6; Philadelphia, 0.2; Baltimore, 4; Louisville, 15.8; Providence, 4.1; Hartford, 10.0; Indianapolis, 1.6. Gains—Chicago, 6.7; Cincinnati, 11.1; St. Louis, 13.1; San Francisco, 14.1; Pittsburgh, 7.5; New Orleans, 4.7; Milwaukee, 17.4; Kansas City, 60.3; Cleveland, 23.4; New Haven, 8.8; Columbus, 22.5; Worcester, 6.4; Peoria, 8.2; Springfield, 2.6; Lowell, 32.0; Syracuse, 43.0; Memphis, 13.4. The Public says of these figures:

The favorable indications which were observed in the exchanges last week appear still more clearly in the returns for the second week in July.

It is true that the daily average of transactions is not as large, outside of New York, as it was during the broken first week of the month, but this is natural, because of the large monthly, quarterly and half yearly payments. The exchanges of the second week more correctly represent the present volume of business irrespective of such settlements, and are so large that very favorable inferences are justified. It is really astonishing that the transactions continue so enormous. The great strikes have lasted for weeks or months; foreign commerce is materially depressed though large crops are believed to be in sight, the movement of new crops is hardly begun. We are in the intermediate period of commercial doldrums, so to speak. Last year's scanty supplies have been nearly exhausted, but the favoring breezes that new and ample crops would bring, have not quite reached us. In spite of all these things, the exchanges for the second week of July exceed $290,000,000. Outside of New York, we cannot reconcile these returns with any theory of stagnation of business. Speculation, it is true, has been unnaturally active, and this may account for the large exchanges at some chief cities. The transfer of business from other and older points explains the heavy transactions in a few cases, as at Kansas City. It would be more satisfactory if the dealings were larger at Boston and New York. The four Atlantic seaports necessarily suffer at present from lack of grain to move, and all business in New York has been much retarded by the strike of freight handlers; but the continuance of transactions on a scale so large, considering all causes of depression and temporary shrinkage that exists, strongly indicates that the general condition of business is surprisingly sound and satisfactory. If present hopes are realized in ample crops this fall, the principal danger will be that the country will go wild again with prosperity.

New York, 19.—The steamer Alhambra, from this port for Halifax, came in collision with the steamer Rhode Island, at 2 o'clock this morning. Both vessels were damaged but not seriously. They proceeded to New York for repairs.

An amicable arrangement being effected, Mrs. Laban Berger, sister of Cornelius J. Vanderbilt, withdrew her objections, and his will is to be admitted to probate.

CHICAGO, 19.—The California stables are all in good order, but Hickox claims that St. Julien is out of condition and not working well. Horsemen say that Eva and Eureka, California three-year olds, will do fine work this season. Eva showed a 2.22½ gait for one quarter mile while practising this morning. Horsemen think Trinker likely to win the race on Friday.

FOREIGN.

ALEXANDRIA, 19.—That Arabi Pasha has been greatly encouraged by the British is made manifest by his activity. His patrols have penetrated to within five miles of the city walls.

The palace officials are continually asking when we are going to act against him.

There is great satisfaction at the palace owing to the departure of Dervish Pasha. The official ascribe much of the present evil to his intrigues.

He is suspected of communicating with the rebels the past few days.

Observing with satisfaction that the Powers have formally and repeatedly recorded their deference to the incontestable and unquestioned rights and Sovereignty of the Sultan, the undersigned, by the Sultan's order, informs the ambassadors that the Porte consents to participate in a conference. (Signed.)

Said conference meets to-day to discuss a reply to this communication thought probably a fresh invitation to join the conference will now be addressed to the Porte.

APPEAL.

To the Presidents of Stakes, Bishops, Presidents and members of the Relief Society, Superintendents and Presidents Y. L. and Y. M. M. I. Associations.

The urgent necessity which has long existed in our midst, of a place where the sick and suffering, who have a claim upon our sympathy and care, can receive the medical and surgical aid which they require—in connection with the administration of sacred ordinances in their behalf, has impelled those who feel this need most deeply, to an earnest and determined effort in this humane direction, with the sanction and approval of the First Presidency of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

We, who have taken upon us the responsibility of inaugurating this work, make a special appeal to all who are able and willing to aid in securing to those who are the proper subjects for the benefits of this institution, the medical and surgical care and personal comfort which they require in the period of extreme sickness, and in event of those accidents and emergencies to which all are at any time liable.

In order to assist in meeting the current expenses of the Hospital, it has been suggested that each Relief Society and Mutual Improvement Association subscribe steadily one dollar per month to the Hospital Fund, such amounts to stand as a credit in favor of any member of the Society or Association who may require the benefits of the Institution.

For the furnishing and outfit of the Hospital we appeal to the liberality of our brethren and sisters for donation, of money, provisions, bedding, furniture and domestic utensils.

The Board of Managers expect to establish, in connection with the Hospital, a School, for the purpose of educating midwives and training nurses for the sick; a class whose services will be welcomed both by the public and by the medical profession as efficient aids to the accomplishment of the chief end of all hospital work—the care and cure of the sick.

May the Spirit of Him, to whom the sick and afflicted never appealed for help in vain, influence the hearts of those who are favored with an abundance of this world's goods, to a generous response to this appeal, knowing that such gifts are doubly blessed, blessing both the giver and the receiver.

E. R. SNOW SMITH, President,
E. B. WELLS, Secretary,
E. B. FERGUSON, M. D., Res. Surgeon.

PRESIDENT JOHN TAYLOR

Said his sympathies were extended to the ladies in their labors of love for the establishment of this hospital, where the sick of the Lord's people could be attended and have the benefit of the ordinances of the Church as well as skillful treatment. Accidents were numerous in these troublous times and sickness was prevalent. It was right that we should have a place where the sick could be efficiently tended. Several of the ladies present had acquired a knowledge of those principles which were needful in proper attention to the sick, which he was pleased to recognize, for it was in accord with our religion to acquire all useful information to deal with disease, and physicians should not be bound by rigid rules, but act as directed by the Lord, because there were so many phases of the same disease and so much difference in the constitutions of mankind. At the same time we were commanded of the Lord to "seek out of the best books words of wisdom," and to seek knowledge by learning. Yet we must not forget to call in the aid of faith, but while we acquire all the intelligence possible to be attained, at the same time we must exercise faith that the blessing of the Lord might be upon our efforts. The officers of the Association and all connected with it, had his best wishes, and he felt that they would have the blessing and favor of God. They should not neglect to avail themselves of all possible sources of knowledge, but seek for it in every direction. He closed by blessing the officers, physicians and attendants, and all connected with the hospital.

PREST. JOSEPH F. SMITH

Endorsed the remarks of President Taylor. This was a step quite necessary to be taken. It was in the interest of the afflicted and the poor. He would have been pleased if the institution could have been started in a better place. It was but a small beginning, yet it was better than none at all, and he expressed the hope that success would attend it, and that perfect union, harmony and good feeling would prevail among all who had the conduct of its affairs, so that the good spirit of the Lord might be with them, and that while they exercised all the skill that was possible, they might be so sensitive to the whisperings of the spirit of the Lord that they would be able to obtain the power of God for the benefit of the sick, and that they might be guided in the channel of the best success. He believed that the Latter-day Saints had the right to obtain the blessing and direction of the Lord in all their affairs, and especially in such labors as those for the benefit of the afflicted. He invoked the blessing of the Lord upon the efforts of the institution, its officers and all who should receive the benefits thereof.

Apostle F. D. Richards offered the dedicatory prayer.

President W. Woodruff coincided with what had been said, and congratulated the sisters upon the progress of another labor of love connected with the Relief Society. That society, like other features of the Church and Kingdom of God was organized to stay. He endorsed with all his heart the principle enunciated of looking to the Lord. We needed revelation. Men's ideas of medicine changed materially. The course of practice pursued when he was a boy would not be followed now. He related incidents in illustration of this, and showed the necessity of the guidance of the Almighty in the treatment of the sick. He was thankful that we would now have a place for the treatment of the afflicted, where the Elders could walk in and freely administer the ordinance for the healing of the sick, and he felt that this institution would grow and increase and accomplish the purpose desired.

PREST. ANGUS M. CANNON.

Was gratified that the Sisters had been led to take the course which had resulted in the establishment of this hospital. They had been very faithful in their efforts in that Relief Society which was established
