THE CHRISTMAS NEWS

FOR 1901.

A UTAH-COLORADO EDITION.

The Christmas edition of the "News" this year will be printed on Saturday, December 21st, 1901. It will contain an exhaustive review of the year's developments in business, mining, commerce, real estate, building, and all other branches of business, and will form the most elaborate compilation of the resources and attractions of Utah which has ever been issued.

Our sister state, Colorado, and its industries and attractions will be well represented in the issue, many beautiful views of Denver and Colorado scenery being given. A big part of the edition will be circulated in Denver, and Colorado's principal cities.

Especially attractive articles will be prepared by a corps of selected writers, and leading men of the community will contribute timely articles on current topics.

As the holiday number will be issued several days ahead of Christmas, it will form an invaluable advertising medium to local dealers for the Christmas trade. The general advertiser could find no better means for reaching the people of the great west. The "News" will be a circulation of at least 20,000 copies for the Christmas issue. Special rates will be accorded advertisers who wish their notices printed in the Semi-Weekly News and give, giving them a total circulation of nearly 45,000 copies.

SERMONS AT THE TABERNACLE

Elders Ephraim H. Nye and H. S. Tanner Occupy the Pulpit.

The services in the Tabernacle yesterday afternoon were presided over by President Angus M. Cannon and were opened by the choir singing the hymn "Earth with her ten thousand flowers."

The opening prayer was offered by Elder S. P. Atwood, after which the choir sang the hymn commencing "Softly beams the sacred dawning."

The first speaker was Elder E. H. Nye who is soon to assume his new duties as president of the Eastern States mission. He began by saying that every Elder in Israel is supposed to be ready at any time to arise and give a reason for the hope that is within him. After a few more introductory remarks he said he would like to remind the world that the Latter-day Saints are a temple building people, which is unusual in this age of the world. The speaker then read a passage from Malachi where the prophecy is made that the Lord would come to His temple. He then asked if there is any one here who is a "Mormon" in people, a temple built to the Lord. In London there is a grand cathedral built to St. Paul. In Rome a still grander edifice dedicated to the name of Peter. In Jerusalem a temple dedicated to the Most High God. When men build houses they do it in accordance to plans and specifications of their own make. Such is the manner in which the great cathedrals of the world have been built. Where is there an edifice built according to revelation as was the Tabernacle in the Wilderness. The speaker then turned to the Doctrine and Covenants and read the words of the Lord: "Before I will build my temple, I will build my people." The speaker then turned to the Doctrine and Covenants and read the words of the Lord: "Before I will build my temple, I will build my people." The speaker then turned to the Doctrine and Covenants and read the words of the Lord: "Before I will build my temple, I will build my people."

The four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Gulbransen was struck by a street car Saturday afternoon while the latter was traveling at a rapid rate. The accident occurred at the corner of Fifth South and Second East. The child was not killed, but he was, however, severely injured, having sustained a broken nose and a number of bruises, and cuts about the head and face. He is now getting on nicely and will be expected under the circumstances.

Dean Eadie delivered a sermon at St. Mark's cathedral last night on the subject "Woman's Proper Place in the Christian World." He said woman should be man's equal legally, socially and politically, but he had scant sympathy for the women who are agitating for rights against man's. He said such are only women by the accident of sex, not by virtue of their womanly qualities. He said also the man who was not willing to give to woman her true and rightful place was an anchorite and a coward.

The lecture by Prof. Paul S. Henrich of the University of Wisconsin, at the Ladies Literary clubhouse Saturday night was exceedingly interesting. His theme was "Political Evolution." He traced the growth of political communities from the primitive clan, the tribe, the nation, to the present state and national life. The lecture was full of food for thought and was followed with close interest by the audience.

Before the lecture a glowing tribute to Salt Lake City and its possibilities.

A most serious catastrophe was avoided at the corner of South Temple near Seventh East street, Saturday afternoon. In a most unaccountable manner, the Butcher brothers, George, Ike and Frank, were driving a frame horse, while the thing was being rolled over the car track it caught the trolley wires and snapped them in two. The first thing the Butchers knew they were dodging wildly a dancing wire that had enough electricity shot through it to kill them all on the spot. The street cars could not pass for two hours so the passengers had to be transferred.

CHURCH WORK AMONG CONVICTS

Views of Delegates to National Prison Association Convention.

Warden G. N. Dow Returns

Talks Regarding the Work Accomplished at Recent Meeting in Kansas City—Sensational Letter.

Warden Dow of the State prison returned Saturday from attendance on the annual convention of the National Prison association at Kansas City. He was laid up part of the time with a severe tooth ache so that he was unable to attend all of the meetings. He said there was a general disposition to regard convicts as subjects for reformation rather than to be treated like vicious brutes, and the idea of indeterminate sentences now in vogue in seven states, was discussed favorably, and with a view to general adoption. By this, a convict may be pardoned any time after the minimum limit of imprisonment for his crime has been served by an authorized board. Warden Dow says some men are punished enough after a short confinement, while others need the full limit. Something of a sensation was caused by a letter written by the Chicago chief of police, and endorsed and read by the Kansas chief of police, deprecating religious work in prisons and regarding a convict as a good only when dead like "good Indian." Warden Dow said chiefs of police see criminals only at their worst, and not when they are in that frame of mind or surroundings when good influences can be brought to bear with good results. This letter was not taken up by the warden's presence. Warden Dow stated that the convention decided to ask Congress for legislation enabling United States prisoners to be released on parole, and the same act should be passed by the state legislatures. He said the convention of the Christian Endeavor society and its influence upon the prisoners, and found the convention favorably inclined to evangelical work among prisoners.
