has been estranged for many months, was near when the shot was fired, but she did not witness the shooting. Upon learning that it was her husband who had been wounded, she refused to go near him, and Dr. Simpson had to crawl to a house 200 feet away to have his wounds attended to. Mrs. Horner was to a house 200 leet away to have his wounds attended to. Mrs. Horner was later arrested and held in $5,000 ball, while Dr. Simpson, with the assistance of two friends, made his way to the Roosevelt hospital in New York. The bullet lodged in his liver and an imme-diate operation was performed to take the bullet out. The doctors said tonight that Dr. Simpson had only a small chance of recovery. Statements from Dr. Simpson and from Mrs. Horner as to the circum-stances attending the shooting disagree. The dentist says that he had received word that his wife intended to sue him for divorce, and that he went to the Horner home to talk with her about it. He says he rang the door bell and, upon receiving no response, peered through the door pane. He saw Mrs, Horner, he says, and called to her to open the dorr. Then, Dr. Simpson says, Mrs. Horner grabbed a revolver and shot him. The bullet entered his body above the abdomen and he fell back against the door sill. A second shot was fired at him, he declares, but the bullet went wild. Mrs. Horner does not deny that she

Through her lawyer, Rowland Miles, she said that Dr. Simpson had several times called at the house and that his visits were unwelcome. When he came today, she says, she ordered him away, and when he refused to go she took up a revolver and shot at him. Constable Hanson, who arrested Mrs. Horner this evening. She was charged with felonious assault. After Justice Hawkins had fixed ball at $5,000 Mrs. Simpson, the prisoner's daughter, quali-fied as bondsman and secured the re-lease of her mother. Justice Hawkins set the healing for next Wednesday. This second tragedy at the Horner homestead is only another chapter in a series of unhappy domestic events of the last few years. The shooting of Bartley T. Horner by Dr. Simpson aroused the countryside in December, 1905, and when the dentist was put on trial his wife took the witness stand against him. Mrs. Horner also gave damaging testimony against her son-in-law. Dr. Simpson was going through the manual of arms with a shotgun when he accidentally shot his father-in-law.

After the verdict of acquittal Dr. After the verdict of acquittal Dr. Simpson resumed the practise of dentis-try. He opened a suite of offices on Fifth avenue, New York, but he had lost many of his clients and of late, it is said, he has sought financial aid. Mrs, Simpson said that while she was not presnet when her mother fired the
