EVENING NEWS.

Wednesday, - October 12, 1887.

FRAGMENTS.

THERE are four cases of scarlet fever in town, three of them in the northeastern part.

G. G. BURTON, ESQ, the energetic agent for Harper Brothers' school books is in the city.

THOMAS M'KELVIE, charged with assaulting Henry G. Carroll, had a trial yesterday afternoon and was acquitted.

JOHN PENNMAN was brought down from the Penitentiary this morning to receive sentence on a conviction of unlawful cohabitation. His term of imprisonment for polygamy expires to-morrow.

AXEL OLSEN, John Olsen, Henry Lloyd and Henry McKean were the quartette who confronted Justice Pyper this morning, to answer to the charge of drunkenness. All pleaded guilty, and a fine of $5 was imposed in each case.

BACK numbers of the NEWS (daily, semi-weekly and weekly) containing the Conference proceedings, Epistle of the Twelve Apostles, Memorial to Congress, etc., all very appropriate to send abroad to friends, can be had at this office.

THE D. & R. G. have issued a new and elegant map of the road and its connections. It contains all of the States and Territories west of Chicago, and is embellished by views of the most attractive natural scenery along the "scenic line."

THE members of the 23rd quorum of Seventies are requested to meet in the Seventh Ward Assembly Rooms at 7 o'clock to-morrow (Thursday) evening. A full and punctual attendance is desired, as some members of the First Council of Seventies are expected to be present, and some important business is to be transacted.

IT will be observed by a notice published elsewhere that Andrew W. Cooley, who was reported as dying yesterday morning, expired at 45 minutes past twelve o'clock yesterday (Oct. 11th). Much sympathy is felt for the large family. We join in the sentiment of condolence. The funeral takes place at 1 o'clock to-morrow, at the Coon residence, north of White Bridge.

Box Found.

Yesterday afternoon a box containing some clothing, books, papers and other articles, was found on the State Road. It was evidently lost by some party—probably a resident of Koosharem, Piute County—returning home from Conference. The owner can obtain it on application to Marshal Solomon, at the City Hall.

Eagle Rock and Iona.

Bishop James Thomas, of Eagle Rock, Idaho, called upon us to-day. He states that that place is flourishing notwithstanding the removal from it to Pocatello of the railroad shops. He states that crops in that region have been very good, and that Iona Ward, six miles from Eagle Rock, is building a fine meeting house 24 x 40, and is in a highly prosperous condition.

All Under Bonds.

At the conclusion of the testimony in the case of Bert Eather, before Commissioner Hill, at Provo, yesterday, the defendant was put under bonds to await the action of the grand jury on a charge of killing Elaherty, and Leech and Donahue were required to give bail in the sum of $1,500 each on a charge of conspiracy to murder Eather.

The "Exponent."

The last number of the Woman's Exponent contains an original poem "Consoling Thoughts," by Lula, another, "We Are All Here," by Augusta Joyce Crocheron, and a third, "To Mother," by May L. Marler. There are several contributed and selected articles of interest, and the usual editorial matter and society reports, etc., and a description of the Pratt family reunion.

Arrested for Bigamy.

At a late hour last night a Herald reporter saw a gentleman whom he has seen on the streets quite frequently of late, in charge of Officer Griffith, a new acquisition to the United States marshal's office in Ogden, erstwhile foreman of the grand jury. Thinking there was an item in the coincidence, the reporter investigated a little further, and was informed that the man who was in the company of the officer had been arrested. The name of the man was given as Francis Patterson, and from what could be ascertained it is supposed that he had been arrested on a charge of bigamy. A few weeks ago Patterson married a well known and very pretty girl of this city. It is alleged that at the time he married the young lady in this city he had a wife in Denver; that the wife in Denver had made complaint against him, and that his arrest was the result of this.—Ogden Herald, Oct. 12.

Painful Injury.

Last evening Mr. W. S. McCornick was on the scaffolding at his new building at the head of East Temple Street, and noticing two of the workmen vainly endeavoring to extricate a plank which had become fastened at one end, Mr. McCornick took hold to assist, and the plank suddenly gave way, precipitating all three to the ground, about ten feet below. Mr. McCornick received injuries which will confine him to his house for several days, having one rib broken and his right ankle dislocated.

Who He Is.

The other day the NEWS chronicled the arrest of two horse thieves who gave their names as Fisher and Smith, and who were held to await the action of the grand jury. The two have been identified as deserters, Smith's real name being Howard Belmont. Marshal Dyer had a little surprise this morning on Belmont's account, which let considerable light on the kind of a person the prisoner is. A young negress, black as is ever seen, waited on the Marshal and requested a pass to see Mr. Smith. Mr. Dyer inquired her business with the prisoner, and on putting some direct questions, was met with the exclamation from the ebony colored damsel, "To tell ye de trufe, Marshal, I'm his wife!"

Complaint was also made against Smith, or Belmont, by Sergeant James P. Kelly, charging him with larceny, and a hearing will be had before Commissioner Norrell. Mr. Kelly states that Belmont borrowed a suit of clothes and some other articles of him, giving as a reason for asking the loan, that he was "going to see his girl." The suit was the same that he wore when he "skipped," and he will be prosecuted for the theft.

FIRST DISTRICT COURT.

Interesting Developments in the Stolen Notes Case.

Yesterday Wm. Clyde was arraigned before Judge Henderson at Provo, charged with unlawful cohabitation He pleaded not guilty.

James P. Hansen, charged with unlawful cohabitation, had promised on the previous evening, to obey the law, and was fined $75.

In the case of the people vs. Harper, the indictment was on motion of Assistant District Attorney Hiles, dismissed.

The bonds of George T. Axtell, charged with the killing of Bowen, at or near Park City, were placed at $5,000.

Frank Rogers and Wm. Tiffany were arraigned on a charge of grand larceny and pleaded not guilty. Messrs. Thurman and Milner were appointed to defend them.

The grand jury came in and asked whether they could make two indictments for the same offense. The court instructed them they could in certain cases, but where a person is charged with murder it would not be proper to bring indictment for assault and battery.

[The inference is the case of Eather was under their consideration.]

One of the jurors asked if they could find indictments both for cohabitation and for adultery, when there was evidence of cohabitation. The court instructed them it was in their discretion. One may be evidence of the other crime. Could indict for both or only one.

In the case of The People vs. Maurice McGrath, on Monday afternoon, testified for the prosecution, in regard to a conversation between him and the defendant:

There was substantially an inquiry if we desired to know what became of the reporter's notes. I replied we did, and then inquiry was further made if we would not like to have it established that the other side had instigated a larceny of them. I sain yes, if so, and he said he would be able to establish that the other party had been the means. I asked him how he knew, and the reply was that he knew, and was present when it was done. He said if he was arrested in the case he could tell of two or three parties who knew how the notes were taken; would not state any further facts; it was on Tuesday or Wednesday that the conversation took place.

JUDGE DUSENBERRY

was called and testified that he was in Provo on October 10th, 1885; knew the defendant Maurice McGrath; knew of the loss of the notes on Sunday evening of the 11th; met McGrath, and he said he wanted to talk with me about those lost notes; I said as I was connected with the notes I would like to know; he said he knew something that would be important to our side; I told him I had other associates and desired one of them to be with me; I told him who they were, and he preferred Judge Sutherland; we had a conversation then in the room below; the purport of the conversation was that we were anxious to know where the notes were and who had taken them; reference was made that Mr. Peck had offered a reward of $500. When asked who were connected with it, he said the Eureka company were the instigators—were the purloiners of the notes; he stated further that he saw them taken; declined to answer if he took them; suggested that he should be arrested and two or three witnesses subpœnaed and unless they perjured themselves the truth would come out; that there were two or three of the men in the court room all the time watching the case, but he would not mention who they were; Mr Fordonski came in with McGrath one day during November and McGrath said he had written out a statement of the facts and read the statement.

ISAAC FORDONSKI

testified that McGrath had talked with him in a manner which showed that McGrath knew what had become of the notes. Witness had urged defendant to make a clean breast of the matter, but defendant had said he was connected with other parties in it and could not tell witness about it until he heard from them.

Judge Emerson testified to an interview had between him and McGrath at which the latter intimated plainly that Winn, the reporter and Mr. Packard were accessory to the theft of the notes.

Arthur Brown testified to having taken a copy of a written statement made by McGrath, relative to the theft, and offered the same in evidence, but it was ruled out.

took the stand and testified to a meeting with McGrath at which the latter desired to talk with witness; asked me if I had been spoken to relative to finding the lost notes, and if I was in sympathy with either side.

He said: "You will be called upon to look up those notes, and if you are spoken to, I would like to have you call on me." I had further conversations at other times. He asked me if I had been offered any reward. I told him I had and it was $500; he then said "let the matter rest awhile." He spoke about being able to find the whole thing; but said there was not money enough offered; I told him I would divide whatever money with him I got for it. He then said if I would let the matter rest, we would get more money out of it. Defendant left before the grand jury met; I arrested him at Park City; was kept in the jail here; about the 15th of January he desired me to send a letter to Judge Emerson; before this defendant and Ike Fordonski were in my office; defendant was brought in at Fordonski's request; was there about an hour, writing; Mr. Fordonski did not occupy any official position at that time; I accompanied him into Judge Dusenberry's office and at defendant's request heard Judge Dusenberry read the statement.

The defendant, when arrested, seemed flushed in the face; went with the defendant down in the direction of where the satchel was found; when we got to the D. & R. G., just out of town, defendant said: "I want to go to that mile post; I went through that potato patch; there was a brush fence; from there I went to the road leading up to Center Street, where I met him on the 10th." It was about eighty rods from where we stood where the satchel was found. He claimed that he jumped from the train and went through the potato patch; then told me that the knife that cut the valise open was at Park City and in the hands of one of the men in the saloon where he was arrested.

Several witnesses were examined but nothing further of importance was shown in behalf of the prosecution, except that the value of the stolen notes was from $5,000 to $10,000.

Some of the most important evidence relied upon by the defense going to show that Winn stole the notes, was ruled out, and only three or four unimportant witnesses were examined, when that side rested. Arguments were to have been made last evening.

John Squires Arrested.

Last night, about half past 9 o'clock, Deputies Cannon, Franks, Sprague and Reckhart raided a house on Cañon Road, and arrested Mr. John Squires, the well-known barber. The house was occupied by Mrs Squires' son and the latter's family. The deputies took their prisoner before Commissioner Norrell, who admitted him to bail to appear for examination at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Mr. Squires has been absent from home for somewhere near three years. The charge against him is living with two wives, and the plural wife was also required to give bonds.

First Snow.

A note from J. W. Carpenter, dated Bloomington, Bear Lake County, Idaho, Oct. 8th, says:

The first snow of the season fell yesterday and last night, on the Pine Valley Mountain. The weather has gone considerable cooler here, than it has been for some time. We may have frost soon. Crops look well, and are yielding moderately.

MORE SENTENCES.

Five "Mormons" Sent to Prison To-day.

In the Third District Court to-day five "Mormons," convicted of living with more than one wife, contrary to the Edmunds law, were sentenced by Judge Zane. Their names were: Samuel Anderson, Salt Lake City; Wm. S. Muir, Bountiful; John Loynd, Farmington; John Penman, Bountiful; and Nathan Hansen, North Point. Each of these gentlemen, in reply to questions by the Court, stated that he did not wish to bind his future conduct by any promise. Mr. Penman also said that he had just completed a two years' term for polygamy. The following sentences were imposed:

Samuel Anderson, six months' imprisonment and a fine of $50 and costs

William S. Muir, six months, $100 and costs.

John Penman, three months, $25 and costs.

John Loynd, six months, $50 and costs.

Nathan Hansen, six months, $100 and costs.

Indicted for Manslaughter.

James Donaldson, who will be remembered as the young man who shot and killed his father at Stockton, Tooele County, September 5th, last, was arraigned in the Third District Court this afternoon on an indictment charging him with manslaughter. He pleaded not guilty, and having no means to employ counsel, the Court appointed Mr. W. VanCott to defend him. He entered a plea of not guilty, and stated that he was now in custody, being unable to procure bail in the sum asked, $2,500. He thought that if it was reduced to $1,000 he could find securities. The matter was referred to the District Attorney for the present.

The Clawson Case.

This morning Rudger Clawson was brought down from the penitentiary and taken before Commissioner Norrell, presumably upon an application to be discharged on his first term of imprisonment—three and a half years, for polygamy. Brother Clawson was represented by Judge Sutherland, who stated that his client had made no formal application for discharge, and did not care to do so now, as he was still held under a six months' sentence for unlawful cohabitation. He would ask for discharge when the full term had expired but not before. It was explained that it had been customary for the Warden to bring down those whose terms had expired without a formal application. This case, however, has some special features in having two sentences, and Brother Clawson was therefore returned without any hearing.

The Bound Volume.

The publishers now have ready volume three of Parry's Monthly Magazine, neatly bound in cloth, half roan. It is a creditable book. Its contents are widely varied, and the larger portion of them have been selected with great care, from the best current literature. The volume contains a number of original contributions, among them being an article by O. F. Whitney, entitled "Great Salt Lake City in 1853," which embraces a poetic description of the scene then presented by the city; "The 'Mormon' Metropolis," an illustrated description of this city; and "The City of Mexico and its Environs," a serial article which is finely illustrated with handsome engravings.

The volume is embellished with over thirty engravings, including several portraits, and will be found a valuable and instructive addition to any library.

That Chinese Murder.

Yesterday afternoon Deputy Franks brought to this city from Alta, Jack Sim, a Chinaman suspected of complicity in the murder of the Chinawoman last Monday. Jack was the first one to tell of the crime, and though he says he was not near at the time, gives details that show he must have been at least an eye-witness. There are also bloodstains on his clothing which he is unable to account for. He alleges that Charley Lung, whom he says committed the deed, went to the place where the woman lived with a heathen who had amassed nearly $1,000 in hard cash. Charley knew of this money and demanded it. The woman denied having any, when Charley set upon her with a miner's candlestick and stabbed her several times in the head, back, stomach and breast, inflicting ten or twelve wounds, and leaving her dead before he stopped his horrible butchery. He then tried to wipe the blood off the floor, and after gathering up some things started off for Park City. The Chinaman who lived with the woman says that his money is gone. Charley Lung is described as under five feet in height, and weighing scarcely 100. It is not likely that he can long elude the search of the officers. The probability is that Jack has also had something to do with the crime.

I have been a great sufferer from catarrh for over ten years; had it very bad, could hardly breathe. Some nights I could not sleep—had to walk the floor. I purchased Ely's Cream Balm and am using it freely, it is working a cure surely. I have advised friends to use it, and with happy results in every case. It is the one medicine above all others made to cure catarrh, and it is worth its weight in gold. I thank God I have found a remedy I can use with safety and that does all that is claimed for it. It is curing my deafness.—B. W. Sperry, Hartford, Conn.
