SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE For CATARRH

INSTANTLY relieves and permanently cures this loathsome disease in all its varying stages. It possesses the soothing and healing properties of Balsams, herbs and barks in their essential form, free from every fibrous contamination, and in this respect differs from every other known remedy. In one short week from the time of its introduction to the Pacific Coast, and wherever known has become the standard remedy for the treatment of Catarrh. The proprietors have been waited upon by gentlemen of national reputation who have been cured by this remedy, and who have, at considerable expense and personal trouble, spread the good news throughout the circles in which they move. When you hear a wealthy gentleman of intelligence and refinement say, "I owe my life to Sanford's Radical Cure," you may feel assured that it is an article of great value, and worthy to be classed among the standard medical specifics of the day.

THE benefit I derive from its daily use is to me invaluable.
HENRY WELLS, of Wells, Fargo & Co.

IT has cured me after twelve years of unimagined suffering.
GEO. W. HOUGHTON, Waltham, Mass.

I FOLLOWED the directions to the letter and am happy to say I have had a permanent cure.
D. W. GRAY, M. D., Muscatine, Iowa.

I HAVE recommended it to quite a number of my friends, all of whom have expressed to me their high estimate of its value and good effects with them.
WM. BOWEN, 226 Pine St., St. Louis.

AFTER using two bottles I find myself permanently cured. I have since recommended over one hundred bottles with perfect success.
WM. W. ARMSTRONG, 139 Harrison Ave., Boston.

WE have sold Sanford's Radical Cure for nearly two year and can say candidly that we never sold a similar preparation that gave such universal satisfaction. We have yet to learn of the first complaint.
S. D. BALDWIN & CO., Washington, Ind.

THE cure effected in my case by Sanford's Radical Cure was so remarkable that it seemed to those who had suffered without relief from any of the usual remedies that it could not be true. I therefore, made affidavit to it before Seth J. Thomas, Esq., Justice of the Peace, Boston.
GEORGE Y. DINSMORE, Dansville, Steuben Co., N. Y.

Each package of Sanford's Radical Cure contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for its use in all cases. Price, $1.00. For sale by all wholesale and retail druggists and dealers throughout the United States and Canadas.
WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTER

An Electro-Galvanic Battery combined with a highly Medicated Strengthening Plaster, forming the best Plaster for pains and aches in the World of Medicine.

A MORBID SWELLING.

Gentlemen,—I sent for one of COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTERS, and it has been of great benefit in reducing a swelling in my left side that two physicians pronounced Enlargement of the Spleen, and one pronounced it an Ovarian tumor.
L. A. RISTER.
Centralia, Ind., March 20, 1877.

THEY ARE THE BEST.

Gentlemen,—Enclosed you will find $1.25, and I wish you would send me another dozen of your COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTERS. By the above you will see that I can get along without telephones in some way even if I am not able to be up and around. There are a number who have tried your plasters who had given out that all plasters were good for nothing, but now join with me that they are the best they have ever tried. I have got along this winter before with 1 or 2 plasters in two years. Wished I could have heard of your plasters before.
Yours, &c.,
LORETTA M. CROSS.
Ballston Spa, N. Y., March 27, 1877.

Price, 25 Cents.

Be careful to call for COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTER lest you get some worthless imitation. Sold by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists throughout the United States and Canadas, and by WEEKS & POTTER, Proprietors, Boston, Mass.

COMMUNICATION NO. 2,

TO THE PUBLIC.

Ladies and Gentlemen:—In a former letter I said that I would sell better Pianos and Organs at less prices than any other person in the Territory. I shall do so, no matter how low a price may be asked by other dealers, quality considered. I now make further reductions, and present the following marvelously low prices:

7¼-Octave Upright Piano, rosewood case, front round corners, richly carved legs, fine French polished panels on front and sides—"the most elegant as well as substantial piano produced in this country"—for $275.

7¼ Octave Square Piano, rosewood case, large size, serpentine moulding, carved legs, French grand section, full iron frame, overstrung bass, new scale and full agraffe, for $290.

7¼ Octave Grand Square Piano, rosewood case, four round corners, three heavy, solid rosewood mouldings, full agraffe, three strings, for $375.

7¼ Octave Grand Upright Fischer Piano, possessing the latest improvements of the day, and acknowledged by the trade and the profession to be equal in tone and durability to the very finest Upright Piano made in America, for $375, less elaborately finished at $300.

Mason & Hamlin, Burdett, Waters & Sons, and other manufacturers' Organs at extraordinary low prices.

Instruments sold on one, two or three years' monthly instalments, and produce taken.

Now, if any dealer can touch these prices, with equal quality of instruments, please let me know, and down these prices go.

Your most obedient servant,

DAVID O. CALDER,
Sole Agent for the Manufacturers.

CORRESPONDENCE.

The Black Forest—German Table Etiquette.

FRIEDERO, Baden,
August 28, 1878.

Editors Deseret News:

The black forest, or "Schwarzwald," as it is called in German, is not precisely a land unknown to America tourists, though it is not so well known as it deserves. Pedestrians find it a kind of paradise in good weather. No part of Europe is better situated for excursions. Railways bring one over the comparatively flat and tame approaches and drop the tourist in the very lap of all that is lovely, and fresh, and romantic. Both for driving and for walking the Black Forest is equally eligible; and those sensible persons who wish to enjoy the pleasures of pedestrianism, without many of its unquestionable discomforts, find an excellent system of public conveyances, by which the luggage can be sent foward and the comforts of a change of clothes secured. "Tramping it with a knap-sack and umbrella is much more common in Europe than in America, and it is all very well for those who are fond of a wetting, and not over particular as to personal purification, and who find, or say they find, a pleasure in roughing it; but the majority of people, and those who have most common sense, will enjoy travelling all the more for having a little of their customary comforts along with them. The man who arrives at a hotel half an hour before dinner, wet with perspiration or soaked with rain, and who finds that his valise has arrived before him, with the essentials of clean linen, fresh clothing, and thin boots, has an advantage over the more Spartan pedestrian, who has to sit down in his damp clothes, and either endure his hot and dirty boots, or outrage European proprieties by coming to the table in his slippers. All through the Black Forest, by making a little inquiry beforehand, and never trusting to the statements of waiters and porters, or indeed to anybody without verifying them by comparison with the guide book, one can lend his valise in advance with reasonable confidence. The stopping places are so frequent, and the accommodations, generally speaking, so fair that a lazy or very inefficient walker can get along quite comfortably. Being German, the Black Forest is not a cheap place. Everything in Germany is supplied in a scanty fashion; portions are measured with such an economical hand, and the prices charged for them are usually so high, that Germany is perhaps the dearest country for travelers of all Europe except Spain. There is, however, not much absolute cheating, in which respect Germany is much better than France, Italy, or Spain. There is a printed tariff for almost everything, and this document must be produced on demand.

The roads and conveyances in the Black Forest are excellent. For pedestrians there are ample provision of foot paths, finger posts, and resting places in all parts; and of course, as in every part of Germany, there are most excellent maps. Take it all in all, there are few parts of Europe so suitable for walking excursions. One great source of amusement is found in the many "cures," or bathing and watering places that are so numerous in the forest. These are all available as stopping places by passing tourists, though they are intended mainly for health seekers, bathers in mineral and other waters, and drinkers of whey, milk, and all the varieties of nastiness to be found in the almost infinite springs which bubble up in this land of streams and fountains. The manners and customs of the German middle classes may be observed much better at places like these than at more miscellaneous places like Baden and Hamburg. The young German female can be studied here admirably. She is very fair, has either no shape or a very clumsy shape, is always badly dressed and dowdy, eats liberally, and is deeply sentimental. She wields the implements of the dinner table more as weapons of war than as accessories of civilized nutrition. She is a vast consumer of bread and butter, and leaves on the mind of the observer a general impression of whey.

One of the best centres in the Black Forest, is Triberg, where there is an excellent hotel, the "Schwarzwald," in an excellent situation. From this point the tourist can branch out in all directions. It has a railway station, and the line of the railway from Triberg to Hausach is one of the most remarkable pieces of engineering in Europe, and quite as remarkable as the Semmering between Vienna and Gratz. Triberg is famous for clocks and watches; and it is to be remarked, that over one of the largest clockmaking establishments in the village, there is a large clock which has no hands; and that, almost without exception, every clock to be seen in the hotels or other places is either stopped altogether or is entirely wrong as to the time.

The etiquette of these German bathing places is very peculiar. In one of them the following is written in French on the bedroom doors: "Those persons recently arrived shall place themselves at the foot of the table. A bather, desiring to have a visiting friend near him at the table, may be accorded this privilege, but for one repast only. Such favors as selecting a place of his own choice, passing immediately to the head of the table, or of visiting opposite whom one pleases, will not be accorded for the reason that they would result in the juxtaposition of persons not agreeable to one another." The advancement to the head of the table is not coveted merely as a matter of distinction, for it includes the appreciable advantage of a first presentation of dishes at dinner and supper; and the difference of a plate as it comes up from the chef, and the plate when it has passed a file of Hunry Germans, male and female, after their kind, is very marked. But the final right to sit opposite whom one pleases has possibly a more romantic signification, and may be intended as a check on the two ardent gallantry of susceptible youths who want to sit opposite the prettiest girls.
