

CITY NOW FACING FINANCIAL CRISIS

President Davis From His Chair
In the Council Admits It.

TRY TO SAVE CONTRACTORS.

Combine Has Its Friends in the Seats
Of the Aldermen, as Last Night's Action Shows.

With the city's finances in a deplorable condition, the "American" administration came to the end of its rope last night when the council attempted to authorize the paying of the Third South street. President Davis announced that to order any more public improvements would be illegal and impossible because the city's expense was now much greater than its receipts. The limit was reached some time ago and it is possible that some of the work already ordered will have to go over a year before it can be completed.

None of the members of the council seemed to realize the financial condition of the city for all the members voted in favor of the extension except Councilman Hall. Before he could protest, President Davis said that he was authorized to state that if this improvement was authorized that Mayor Bradford would veto it. The fate of the extension will rest with the board of equalization and apportionment which will meet this month.

Davis & Heuser's contract for laying a sewer extension in East's court was held up by the council and sent to the municipal laws committee. There was some objection to the work being done by the firm which strolled some of the plans of P. J. Moran, the official contractor, and James Kennedy, who is also in the contractors' combine with the city.

BLACK'S LITTLE RESOLUTION.

Councilman Black introduced a resolution to embarrass Davis & Heuser in an effort to stop them from securing any more contracts. His resolution was to the effect that the board of public works be instructed not to open or consider bids from contractors who were in default with the city on a contract. Davis & Heuser received the contract for building of the No. 33 Temple aqueduct which Moran wanted so badly. The city engineer and the board of public works refused to allow the firm extra work for excavating on account of the mistake made by City Engineer Kelsey in the approximate amount of the work is still pending a settlement of the affair.

It is understood that Davis & Heuser have bid on two sidewalk extensions which Kennedy wants. The resolution was introduced so that the contractors' combination would not be disturbed again by competition.

After another wrangle of an hour, the council laid the liquor licenses over again last night and all the sessions are still running without a license. Davis & Heuser received the license to sell beer and wine. The committee attempted to have 110 licenses approved and deferred action on the collected licenses to some other time. This was characterized as unfair play and the entire matter went over.

MARTIN'S NOISE STOPS.

Councilman Martin, who made such a bitter attack on the license committee last week, charging that Frank I. Seft, manager of the Tribune, C. J. Crabtree and J. E. Darmer had com-

"White Fawn Flour Leads Them All!"

"White Fawn is the flour of flour, you know. It is milled from the wheat that finest fields grow—milled to perfection—milled perfectly white milled here in Utah—it's flour that's right."

SALT LAKE & JORDAN MILL & ELEVATOR CO.

Called the committee to reject the applications in an effort to punish the brewers because they had not allied themselves with the "American" party, was silent last night when the subject was brought before the council. When his notice for reconsideration was called he said that he would not make the motion now as the rejected applicants had been given a hearing, and that the license committee was doing the right thing. It is understood that a compromise was made between him and the party organ on the matter. Seft agreed to drop the investigation of the intimated charges of accepting a bribe for fighting the administration if Martin would get into line, and give up the fight on the committee.

After Martin had sat down Councilman Hall moved for a reconsideration and it was carried by a vote of eight to six. All the applications went over for a week.

Councilman Stewart, chairman of the license committee, objected to this and moved that the committee's report be adopted. He declared that the members of the committee were so busy that they had been unable to take the matter up. Stewart said that they had one meeting but that it would take several hours to make a thorough investigation of the applications.

Councilman O'Donnell asked Stewart what the committee had done at that meeting saying that he was a member of the license committee but had nothing to do with the work of the committee.

FERNSTROM ADVISES STEWART.

Councilman Fernstrom took occasion to enlighten Mr. O'Donnell on the subject.

"The license committee has suddenly become a very important body," Mr. Fernstrom said, "and two additional members have been added to carry on the business."

Stewart jumped to the floor and shouted: "Two more. Who are they?" "Why, Frank I. Seft and C. J. Crabtree," replied Mr. Fernstrom, and Stewart sat down without saying a word.

"I became suspicious of the entire matter when I learned that Seft and Crabtree with J. E. Darmer is a legal advisor, was meeting with the license committee. I know now that the entire thing is a game of politics. It was not the fault of the 24 rejected applicants if Seft and Crabtree and Darmer were unable to meet with the committee and I think that it ought to go over for a week to give the committee a chance to meet with the advisory board."

Councilman Black introduced a resolution to compel the West Side Rapid transit line, operated by Brown as the "Umbrella line," to pay its per capita tax on the collection of fares to the city. The city attorney was authorized to take the necessary steps to collect the money.

Councilman Martin started in a little late with his firecracker ordinance to reform the Fourth of July. It provides that no firecrackers, bombs, toy pistols or other explosives be sold or used within the city limits. It was sent to the police and fire committee for consideration.

POLICEMAN THWARTS SUICIDE.

J. W. Pierson Landed With a Bottle of Carbolic Acid Ready to Drink.

Attempting to commit suicide, J. W. Pierson last night succeeded in landing in it on a charge of disturbing the peace. Pierson, who resides at 16 north Sixth West street, engaged in a quarrel with his wife and threatened to take his own life. Running from the house he went to a nearby drug store, where he secured a bottle of carbolic acid. Patrolman Griffiths, who had heard the quarrel and threats, followed Pierson, and took him into custody as he was preparing to swallow the acid. Pierson was taken to the police station and detained for safe-keeping.

ANTLERED HERD HAS BUSY TIME

J. U. Sammis, Candidate for Grand Exalted Ruler, Arrives in the City.

HIS RIVAL DUE TOMORROW.

August ("Garry") Hermann Coming
In Special—Automobile Ride—Organ Recital and Trips.

This is one of the gala days for the local herd of Elks, and if you can find a more busy bunch you will be going some. They are all happy because they are engaged in showing hundreds of easterners about the city, piloting them to organ recitals and resorts, and furnishing them with refreshments, flowers and souvenirs.

Col. C. L. Applegate is really the effervescent person, while Mrs. Applegate and Mrs. Davis are receiving and entertaining in a way that will make Salt Lake City and No. 85 talked of, and thought of, for years to come.

J. U. SAMMIS HERE.

Today a big delegation came in from Iowa and Pennsylvania, the former headed by J. U. Sammis of Le Mars, candidate for grand exalted ruler. There are 35 in that delegation. Mr. Sammis and party leave this evening at 8:15 for Los Angeles. They arrived this morning in three special cars over the O. S. L.

There are many ladies in the delegations and they were entertained by Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Applegate. All of the visitors were given automobile rides this morning about the city, there being about 10 machines at their disposal. Delightful refreshments were served at the clubhouse and the building was beautifully decorated in national colors, and the Elks' colors, purple and white, potted plants and cut flowers.

ORGAN RECITAL.

Following the automobile ride, the visitors were given an organ recital at the tabernacle and this afternoon were taken to Saltair.

Mr. Sammis, candidate for grand exalted ruler, is a lawyer by profession and is well known as an orator. The gentlemen were in Salt Lake during the big reunion here and this morning expressed pleasant surprise at the growth of the city and the bright prospects for the future.

HERMANN COMING.

Tomorrow, August ("Garry") Hermann, candidate for grand exalted ruler, is due to arrive on his special. Mr. Hermann is president of the Cincinnati baseball club in the National league and is also chairman of the national baseball commission. Both gentlemen have a strong following and the rivalry for the highest office within the order, while friendly, is decidedly keen.

There are many more delegations due this afternoon and evening and tomorrow there will be between 8,000 and 10,000 here. Tomorrow is purple day and a great time is planned for the visiting members of the great antlered herd. Mr. Hermann is president of the Cincinnati baseball club in the National league and is also chairman of the national baseball commission. Both gentlemen have a strong following and the rivalry for the highest office within the order, while friendly, is decidedly keen.

HOLLAND DUE TODAY.

Rush L. Holland, grand exalted ruler, and Grand Secy. Fred Robinson and party were due to arrive in their special train from Colorado Springs last evening but owing to a washout on the line the train had to be taken back to Colorado Springs and start over again over the Colorado Midland. The distinguished visitors were due here early this morning but did not arrive until they were expected to remain over here for a day at least. They will be able to spend only a few hours and then hurry on to the meeting place of the Grand lodge.

SIXTY-SIX CASES IN POLICE COURT

Judge Bowman Sends McDonald Up
For Six Months—Two John Andersons Celebrated With Liquids.

Sixty-six cases on the docket marked the beginning of the vacation period in Judge Bowman's court yesterday. Some two or three weeks ago Judge Bowman announced that during July and August the afternoon session of the city court would be discontinued and during the two months the court session would be held in the forenoon. The change was begun yesterday with the record-breaking number of 66 cases.

The docket ran the gamut of misdemeanors and violations of the city ordinances and extra benches had to be brought in to seat the prisoners. There was the usual percentage of "drunks," but the most of them had ready and good excuses; the vagrants for the most part were well-dressed, but of the kind that the police were anxious to see get out of town and the vags were ready to take the opportunity.

Edgar McDonald, the young chap who thought it was a great joke to throw cold water on an old man, William Bruce, and then resented the latter's lack of appreciation of the joke by striking him over the head with a hammer and also assaulting Albert Robinson when he interfered on behalf of the old man, meekly pleaded guilty to the charge of battery and almost subito had to excuse to offer. He was sentenced to six months in the city jail.

Albert Hulse pleaded guilty to having disturbed the peace of Salt Palace by cursing, and swearing, and after Patrolman Stains held a whispered conversation with Judge Bowman he was sentenced to pay a fine of $35. The humor of the courtroom was brought out when the case against John Anderson was called. Two John Andersons responded, both to the charge of drunkenness, but one was fined $5 and the other discharged. They both admitted to having been drunk, but as it happened the first John Anderson had simply been a working man, while the second one had put up $5 bail and confessed to having gone to sleep in the shade of a tree. For that it cost him five.

TO DO HIS OWN PAVING.

J. A. Fritsch Claims Contractor's
Prices Are Much Too High.

J. A. Fritsch of the Fritsch Investment company has secured an injunction against Salt Lake City and James Kennedy, a contractor, restraining them from laying a sidewalk in front of his property in sidewalk extension No. 108. In his complaint, Fritsch declares that the contractor's price is about $1,000 too high and he says that he has made all arrangements to have a private contractor lay the sidewalk. He has paid the city engineer, he says, $253.56, the cost of the surveying, engineering and for setting stakes. It is also set forth in the complaint that Fritsch obtained permission to lay his own walk. The property owned by the company is an entire block bounded by State street, Cleveland avenue, Rice street and Second East street. There are 14,784 square feet of walk to be laid around this property. Kennedy began to grade there yesterday and Fritsch immediately took action to have him stop and secured the writ this morning. It was granted by Judge Morse and the order to show cause will be heard next week.

CITY COURT RECEIPTS.

The monthly reports of the receipts received by the civil division and criminal division of the city recorder, filed yesterday with the city recorder. In the civil division the fees amounted to $567.65. The police court records show that there was $131.80 collected, of this amount $51.55 came from state cases. There was $484 collected in fines and the forfeitures amounted to $232. The drunks paid $182 in fines and the battery cases collected the city $161.90. There were 28 prosecutions for violation of the sidewalk ordinance and three chauffeurs were convicted of violating the speed ordinance and paid $20 in fines. One gambling raid paid the city $100.

PHEASANTS IN COTTONWOOD.

Sportsmen report encountering specimens of the beautiful English Mountain pheasants in the vicinity of Big Cottonwood canyon, descendants of the flock of birds which M. H. Walker turned loose about six years ago in the neighborhood of his home in Big Cottonwood. They were imported by Mr. Walker from Van Wert, O., and they have multiplied since being given their liberty. The pheasants are now quite a number of the birds around Cottonwood canyon, estimated by some at several hundred.

FALLS FROM FAINTING SPELL.

Gus Brink, an employee of the Salt Lake Hardware company, residing at 755 Eleventh East street, was taken home yesterday afternoon following a fainting spell in a drug store not far from the hardware company's warehouse on Third West. He had complained during the morning of internal pains, which seem to have been aggravated when he took a cold drink. The police patrol was called but on its arrival it was found that the sick man was being cared for by a doctor, who advised that he be taken home.

INQUIRIES ABOUT UTAH.

Secy. Perkins of the Salt Lake Real Estate association is in receipt of letters from William Touchton of Douglas, Ga., asking for Utah literature, from Benjamin Lamb of Spotswood, N. J. stating that he is 21 years old and anxious to come west and grow up with the country, and from a Wisconsin physician, Dr. Robert D. McKay, who would like to locate here and practice.

Let Them Romp, Let Them Play and Cut Up the Live-Long Day--Kids in Summer Time

One of the most interesting features of this week will be the Kids' Round-Up on the second floor, where we have prepared some of the most sensational sales of this season, in fact a double attraction for the reason that the wearing apparel is the kind that pleases the boys and girls, and the low prices will appeal directly to the parents.

Kids in Summer Time
When summer comes with rain and heat, the boys come out to have a meat. We play we're Indians and Wild West cowboys and Mexican guerillas. With wooden knives and long lassos. To-a-hawks, and hickory bows. We build big fires and whoop around. And scare little folks all over town. I'm big chief, with a chicken feather crown. And a flashy robe tht drags on. But when winter comes as white as fleece, We stop our noise and smoke for peace.

This is play time for the boys and girls—they are building up their bodies for the wear of the next school year, so give them their season of play. We'll supply them with their "play suits" and the prices are reduced for this Round-up Sale.
