HAY MONUMENT IS UNVEILED

Friends Gather to Witness Solemn And Sacred Ceremony at the City Cemetery.

CLOWING TRIBUTE TO THE DEAD

The Last Chapter in the Tragic Life of The Young Man, a Chapter of Love and Respect.

A modest monument, made of solid and enduring stone was unveiled yesterday in the city cometery, over the remains of James Robert Hay. The ceremony took place in the presence of over 1,000 people, friends of the youth whose memory was being honored, and they hovered close to catch every word of praise that was uttered from the lips of love. There was something profoundly touching and profoundly depressing resting upon the assembled multitude, something that brought tears to the eyes of many. As they gazed upon the monumental shaft they thought upon the fate of the young man who was lying beneath it, and the' old wounds were torn open afresh. the old grief returned, and they wept anew for their loving friend and brother, who fell the victim to one of the darkest crimes that ever stained civilized society. But it was not the spirit of hatred and revenge, but of ove and sorrow that crected the monument and brought the people together to witness its unveiling. There were two faces missing from the company— one, aged and furrowed with the lines of care and grief, the other young but sitifully pale through long months of brooding under the first great grief that had come to darken her happy life-the mother and the wife. They felt the mother and the wife. They felt they had not the strength to stand near the sacred spot with their awful sor row in the presence and under the gaze of the curious,

THE PROGRAM.

The ceremonies were a splendid tri-bute to James R. Hay in every way. The monument, and the music, the' el-oquent words of the speaker and the tears that were shed were all tokens of the esteem in which his memory was held. The services began at 5 o'clock the afternoon and were opened by e Twentleth ward choir singing in beautiful manner, "Thou dost not weep to weep alone." Prayer was offered by President An-gus M. Cannon, which was followed by a sermon delivered by Elder James E. Talmage, whose words were eloquent and appropriate. ELDER TALMAGE'S REMARKS. Elder Talmage spoke in part as fol-

This work had been placed Where To Trade upon us, so let us carry out the coun-sel of our leaders. Emmeline B. Wells was present and hext addressed the conference. She said President Brigham Young coun elis not decided on the streets ed us to store wheat for a day of famine. She encouraged the sisters to remember his words, and also spoke by Salt Lakers, but in their homes, and there is where the of the mother's lectures, saying they would prove very beneficial to women. Those present should encourase the women of their respective wards to give the lectures. News does the work. It has THE RIGHT OF WAY in the women of their respective wards to give the lectures; also to ask questions, as it will better develope them. Annie W. Cannon said she wished the younger sisters could hear the tes-timonies of the women who had graduated from the school of experi-ence. They have always been earnest in their work and kind to their neigh-bors and each other. She said she no homes of the purchasing classes of this prosperous section. Does it carry your ad message? Counselor Sarah J. Cannon said that the report showed a low average at-tendance. Those enrolled should be par-ticular in helping to support the so-cleyt. She counseled the sisters to settle any difficulties that may arise among themselves and not trouble the brethren in such matters. Counselor Clara C. Cannon said, let us live our religion, let our thoughts be good. Let us be pleasant and do not worry or trouble ourselves about other people. The spirit of God brings peace. Let us strive for it continually.

Smith to the people, and said we should cultivate the spirit of love and charity and be temperate in all that we do. Congregation sang, "May we know the joyful sound," after v whe which Lydia Alder spoke of the lack of the sacredness of the marriage covenant, also the lack of love for or appreciation among women of being mothers and

Devoured by Worms.

Children often cry, not from pain, but from hunger, although fed abund-antiy. The entire trouble arises from inanition, their food is not assimilated, but devoured by worms. A few dozes of White's Cream Vermifuge will cau e them to cease crying and begin to thrive at ence, very much to the sur-prise and joy of the mother. 25c at Z. C. M. I. Drug Dept. M. I. Drug Dept.

> MANITOU" For stomach troubles,

Utah Liquor Co. 223 So, Main Str 'Phone 473. Free delivery. wounds of the heart are still fresh and smarting and love bleeds from the smarting and love thrust of the assassin.

"He was called away in a manner nost foul. Uncalled for was the act that struck him down. He was hon-ored and esteemed by those who knew knew him and for this reason seems the blow more severe. He was a son, a brother, a husband and a father, and one to whom love went forth. This life is but an interval between the eternity that has passed and the one to come We have but a season here. Death has va-rious forms. It calls to us in many shapes. We are more reconclied to it when it comes in the form of peace and takes our loved ones when we are pre-pared for it, when the verdict is so gentle that sleep instead of death to have taken possession of the one. This death was cruel. But not one cruel death shall go unavenged. There is a life beyond this one. We have knowledge that there is a life after this one. Reason teaches us to look for something beyond the grave. THE LIFE HEREAFTER.

"Man has no aspirations which have not been gratified. His ambition for a better, nobler life will have gratifica-tion somewhere. There is a knowledge beyond the tomb. Nothing is lost. If man was noble here he will be noble there. The life hereafter must be more there. perfect than this one or it is not worth striving for. If ever there was an oc-casion where we needed the inspiration of the Almighty it is now. This life is not the beginning; neither is it the end. In the person which now sleeps beneath our feet we had a life that is worthy emulation. He had character. He left a record. He led a life above blemish and reproach. Death is the portal to the reward of the innocent and it is the entrance to the doom of the wieked, "Our sympathies go out to him and to those who mourn for him, but real comfort can come only from the Lord. We are here to recognize the efforts of those who put up this stone, and its stability and purity is typical of the life of him for whom it was erected, who rests beneath it. The day will come when we shall see that the deed which laid him low gave glory to him who suffered. Let this spot be sacret and be an emblem of the uncertainty of life. If we are to be stricken down, let it be like him, in the discharge of entrance to the doom of the wicked. let it he like him, in the discharge of our duties. If he was noble here he will be nobler there. Death is as cer-tain as birth. Death sometimes seems cruel and abrupt, but it is for the best. PEACE TO THE BEREAVED.

"May peace come to those who mourn for him, and manifest itself for the liv-ing. Nothing said here can take from nor add to the record of the sleeper. This drama is finished, but it is for the bereaved friends and relatives that we are here today. Let the good example he set be always before us and let our ympathy go out to those who mourn or him."

In conclusion the Twentleth ward choir sang, "Rest on the hillside, rest," and the benediction was pronounced by Elder Nephi Schoffeld.

Permanent Muscular Strength

There is this to be borne in mind in these days when so many young men-are giving so much attention to phys-ical development. In gymnastic and athletic exercises, that there cannot be permanent muscular strength where there is not blood strength. Hood's Sarsaparilla gives blood strength, promotes digestion and as-similation, and builds up the whole system.
