

OKLAHOMA AND INDIAN TERRITORY

A Thousand Delegates Meet in Convention to Take Definite Action on Immediate Statehood.

AGAINST THE OMNIBUS BILL

Resources and Population Are More Than Ample to Warrant Admission to Union.

Oklahoma City, July 12.—One thousand delegates from the Indian Territory and Oklahoma met in convention here today to take some definite action looking to immediate statehood.

Seemingly the utmost harmony prevailed among the delegates, their only object being to forward the movement for early admission to the Union. While there were contesting delegations, especially from the Indian Territory, where it was alleged the Indians had not been given fair representation, the disagreement had been settled largely before the convention was called to order.

When C. G. Jones of Oklahoma City called the convention to order in a brief speech, he was accorded a tremendous ovation, the delegates cheering until almost exhausted. Every county in Oklahoma and every recording district of Indian Territory was represented by a full delegation, while hundreds of staided enthusiasts crowded all the remaining space in the building.

N. Holcomb, former territorial superintendent of instruction, welcomed the delegates, and responses were made by H. P. Robbins of South McAlester, T. T. and Senator T. P. Gore of Lawton, Okla.

The usual committees were named and an adjournment was taken to 3 o'clock p. m. When the convention met this afternoon none of the committees were ready. Senator James H. H. of New Hampshire made a speech, and was given a great ovation. He was followed by ex-Secy. of the Interior Noble, Delegate E. I. McClure and others.

Messages of regret were read from President Frankland, Senator Beveridge and several other members of Congress, and it was announced that Senator Bailey, who had been expected to attend the convention, had been suddenly called to New York.

A telegram from the American Statehood league was read, extending greetings and expressing the opinion that the omnibus statehood plan. This was greeted with cheers.

The report of the credentials committee was adopted, and the committee on permanent organization named John Embree of Chandler for permanent chairman, and Charles Hunter for secretary.

An executive committee consisting of 34 members was selected, from which will be chosen a subcommittee to present the resolutions to the president and Congress.

While the committee on resolutions was tied up in a deadlock over the scope of the memorial, the convention again took a recess to meet at 7:30.

After the evening recess the committee on resolutions announced that its report was ready, signed by every member of the committee. Reading of the report was frequently interrupted by applause, particularly the reference in the preamble to the fact that Oklahoma and Indian Territory be disconnected from any congressional action relating to New Mexico and Arizona, which was a demonstration of disapproval of the feature of the bill known as the Hamilton bill.

The resolutions follow:

"We, the 1,000 delegates representing the million and a half American citizens who reside in Oklahoma and Indian Territory, do hereby declare, in convention assembled, that said territories are entitled to and of right ought to be admitted into the American Union as one free and independent state on terms of equality as between themselves and on equal footing with the other states. We have by our petition and one request to present to the American Congress, and that is that immediate joint statehood be granted to Oklahoma and Indian Territories on their own merits, and without reference to any right of admission or other territory seeking admission to the American Union.

"In support of the foregoing declaration we offer the following reasons:

"First.—Our resources are sufficient. The average area of all states west of the Allegheny mountains is 74,000 square miles. Of those states west of the Mississippi, 90,000 square miles. We have 74,000 square miles.

"Second.—Our population is sufficient. The population of each territory is 750,000. Our combined population is 1,500,000—four times as many as the state of the average of population of all the states now in the Union, and we are, therefore, entitled to seven members of the lower house of Congress.

"Third.—Our resources are sufficient. We have property subject to taxation worth a billion dollars. We have 500,000 acres of coal lands, and we produce an enormous amount of a quality not surpassed by any state in the Union. We have natural gas fields containing single wells which produce 30,000,000 cubic feet per day. We have extensive oil-bearing fields, now containing hundreds of producing wells, and equal to the celebrated fields of Pennsylvania and Kansas. We have mountains of granite and extensive beds of excellent stone, asphalt and marble. We have developed mines of lead and zinc. We have more real areas of untouched forests and millions of acres of fertile plains, which exceed the values of the best river valley in the production of wheat, the delta of the Mississippi in production of cotton, the prairies of Iowa in production of corn and the Pacific slope in the quality of fruits. And we have 500 miles of railroad carrying our products to market, and these traverse every county in both territories.

"Fourth.—The character of our population entitles us to immediate admission. Our fathers live in every state of the Union. We were born and bred in the atmosphere of American liberty and dignity. In 1900 the percentage of illiterates in Oklahoma was 5.5, and in the Indian Territory 16.0—the general average 19%. Since then the population has nearly doubled, and it is safe to assume that all the newcomers are literate. Those who have the pluck and energy to move must have intelligence enough to read. It is now, therefore, safe to say that in the two territories the average of illiteracy is not over 7 per cent. Of our total population, only 102,000 are of Indian extraction, and of these only 27,000 are full-blooded Indians, and of these less than half are blanket Indians, and they are all citizens of the United States.

The resolutions were adopted without a dissenting vote amid great enthusiasm, and almost immediately a motion was made and carried to adjourn.

DENVER GETS NEXT ELKS CONVENTION

Buffalo, July 12.—The twentieth annual reunion of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks will be held in Denver in 1906. One ballot decided that at the grand lodge meeting today. Perry Clay of Denver led the winning fight. Denver received 103 votes, while Buffalo received 97.

The grand lodge of the Elks met this afternoon none of the committees were ready. Senator James H. H. of New Hampshire made a speech, and was given a great ovation. He was followed by ex-Secy. of the Interior Noble, Delegate E. I. McClure and others.

Messages of regret were read from President Frankland, Senator Beveridge and several other members of Congress, and it was announced that Senator Bailey, who had been expected to attend the convention, had been suddenly called to New York.

AN EQUITABLE CLERK

Court Fells Him His Stealing Methods Were Bungling.

New York, July 12.—In sentencing Emil H. Neuman, an Equitable Life insurance society clerk, to the Elmira reformatory for an indeterminate period for complexity in the robbery of a policy from the Equitable company's general sessions, today commented on her Equitable losses. He said:

"Your methods were very crude and bungling. If you had, instead of collecting on an outsider, colluded with insureds and thereby had your salary raised to $50,000, and then divided with the other man, the result would have been a hundredfold increase in your income, and you would have been a successful business man, instead of a convict in a reformatory."

HENRY PHIPPS' SONS

Committed for Trial in Scotland For Discharge of Firearms.

London, July 12.—J. S. and H. C. Phipps, sons of Henry Phipps of Pittsburgh, who were recently charged before a sheriff with the reckless discharge of firearms on the coast of Scotland, were committed for trial today. The defendants were liberated in $250 bail.

The boys discharged shotguns at three men whom they believed to be poachers. One of the men was struck in the face and lost the sight of an eye.

LAUNCH SUNK

Four Lives Probably Lost When The Normandie Went Down.

New York, July 12.—It is believed that three and possibly four lives were lost last night when the steam launch Normandie was sunk in collision near Dover's Ferry with a vessel supposed to have been a tramp steamer in the Hudson river.

Those who are believed to have been lost are Capt. Storm and Engineer Brady of the launch Normandie, and Miss Gladys Page of this city. J. G. Green of New York also is missing.

The Normandie was owned by C. C. Lumont of New York, but had been chartered by him to John A. Rudd of Glenwood.

Mr. Rudd was on board the launch at the time of the collision and it was from him the police of Yonkers received the meager information regarding the disaster.

Rudd further said that there was an explosion immediately after the steamship struck the launch, and that it is possible that those who lost their lives were injured so severely that they were unable to help themselves.

Jap Murders Girl and Suicides

Spokane, Wash., July 12.—Mamie Takaki, a Japanese girl, 14 years old, was murdered in her parents' home at Lauch about 3 o'clock this morning by George Hama, a Japanese who boarded with the family.

Going into the girl's room Hama shot her four times, then went to his own room, shot himself twice and cut his throat. Both were dead in an hour.

It is understood Hama wanted to marry the girl, who had been promised to him by her grandmother, but the girl refused to marry him and her parents also opposed the match. In a jealous rage he murdered her.

NEGRO MURDERS TWELVE PERSONS

Stowed Away on Board Ship With Intention of Robbing Captain and Swimming Ashore.

ORDERS TO HIS LAST VICTIM

Made Him Scuttle Ship and Then Killed Him—A Young Woman Escaped and Told of His Crime.

New Orleans, July 12.—A shocking story of murder, with robbery as the motive, was brought to this city today by Capt. Hans Holm of the Norwegian fruiter Bratton, which plies between New Orleans and Honduras ports. It was separately confirmed by the officers of the fruit steamer Rosina, which came in later in the evening with additional details.

The little island of Ullia, lying off the Honduran coast and whose population is an indeterminate mixture of whites, Caymanites and Caribs, was the scene of the tragedy, in which 12 lives were sacrificed. The captain of the schooner Olympia was about to make a trip to the island, Truxillo and Belice. She had about 1400 tons, and was to buy cattle at Truxillo and sell at Belice. She carried a crew of four and quite a number of passengers, making for the mainland a party of about 13. Among these were two women and two children.

The vessel left the harbor of Ullia at 11 o'clock Friday night, June 30, and about the 1 o'clock she was seen by an hour everybody was aroused by a shot, and rushing on deck found a negro, armed with a rifle, shooting down the main one after another.

This negro was Robert McGill and, as it afterward developed, he had stowed away on board with the intention of robbing the captain and then swimming to shore.

He had killed all but one of the men he ordered the last survivor to go below and scuttle the ship. When the unfortunate resigned on deck and reported the death of his comrades, he then put the two women, Miss Elsie Morgan and her sister, Mrs. Walter Rose, in the dory with Mrs. Rose's six-week-old infant, steering his mind about allowing the women to live, and killed Mrs. Rose and her infant.

Then he began shooting at Miss Morgan, who had leaped overboard, and fired at her ineffectually, but his ammunition evidently gave out, for he promised immunity from harm if she would come back to the dory. She did so, and when within six or eight feet of the dory, he struck her on the head with an oar, stunning her. Heaving his oar, he rowed away toward the mainland.

Miss Morgan swam back to the island, where she was thrown on the beach by the waves in an exhausted condition. She feared that the negro would follow her, so she hid in the bushes, and for two days suffered from the heat and exposure until found by a woman from her neighborhood and rescued from starvation.

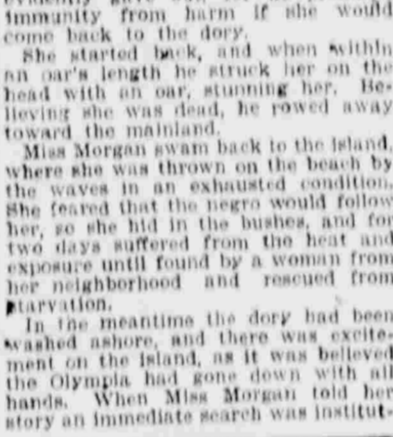

In the meantime the dory had been washed ashore, and there was excitement on the island, as it was believed the Olympia had gone down with all on her. When Miss Morgan told her story an immediate search was instituted.

ed for McGill, and the authorities on the mainland were notified.

They caught him at El Porvenir, a little town on the road to Ceiba, and there was a demonstration, but he was protected and his life was saved through the presence on the coast of President Bonilla, who was on an inspection tour.

The Honduran warship La Tumbia was brought into service and the murderer placed aboard and sent back to the island to be kept there until he was still alive, though it is firmly believed that he will be tortured to death.

The news of Honduras prohibit the infliction of capital punishment, but the people will take the case into their own hands.

Miss Elsie Morgan, the only survivor of the terrible experience, visited New Orleans three days ago, and is a well educated, refined woman of 25 years.
