SACRILEGIOUS AND HYPO-URITICAL.

On the 24th of April, under the above Caption, we published an editorial article which defined with considerable clearness the position of Mr. Joseph Smith, head of what is denominated the Re-organized Church, upon a prominent local question of the hour. A friend whom it appears to have interested, has suggested that-in view of the presence of Mr. Smith, accompanied by his brother Alexander, in our city, presumedly on a special mission-it be reproduced at this time. Having concluded to act upon the desira expressed by our friend, the article in question is herewith presented: · Before us is the April 18th number of the Saints' Herald, the organ of the so-called Re-organized Church, at the head of which is the eldest son of the Prophet Joseph Smith. He is also editor comments on the articles which appeared in the NEWS some time since. Caurch to abrogate the doctrine of plural marriage was exhibited. Of course, the editor of the Herald, who is en rapport with those who persecute the Saints and on excellent terms with the world generally, favors the abrogation of this vital and prominent doctrine. He evidently considers that the tion is incorporated in the following, which we extract: "Would John Taylor have the cour-age to say to the polygamic men and ister of the Gospel. Read it, by all means, and then endeavor to pick a modicum of sound sense out of the ister of the dospel. Read it, by all means, and then endeavor to pick a istrictly, it is done with kindness, and the man who yields obedience to the which we extract:

age to say to the polygamic men and women already in the practice of plural marriage, and to the thousands to whom the dogma has been so industriously taught and its practice urged so strenously: "Thus saith the Lord, your Redeemer and your God; hear ye, O my people in the mountains and valleys of Utah. and listen to my voice. Lo, these many years ye have been following in devious paths, and I, your Lord, command you that ye no longer walk in them. Let all those among you who have taken unto you more wives than the one wife of your youth, put them away from you. Provide for them and their chil-dren, that they have borne to you, according to the riches and goods ye pos-sess; but put them away even as I commanded Abraham of old to put plural wife as your companion; and be son. e married unto her as provided by the law given upto my church and 2-ub-lished in my Book of Doctrine and Covenants before the death of my servants Joseph and Hyrum Smith, and put all other of your plural wives away from you and live no longer with them as your wives. And this shall ye do that ye may keep the law of the land, and no longer incur my displeasure.' This would most likely be the tenor if not the text of such a revelation as God would give in the case if He should speak like Himself as He is revealed in the three standard works-Bible, Book of Mormon and Doctrine and Cove If there were no other proof than the foregoing to show the falsity of its writer's claims to the position he has assumed as the successor of his father it would of itself be sufficient. It is not only sacrilegious, but indicates with what easy facility he could act the part of the pretender. He is correct by the company both forfeited. in the intimistion that President John EDITORIAL NOTES. One of the funniest changes made in the revised version of the Old Testament is the elimination of the word glant. For the familiar line, "There mind, and hope that you have things as were giants in the earth in those days,' the new version reads; "The Nephelcells are large and airy. The mason work is 7x18 feet, with a good bar lans were in the earth in those days." This suggests the awful possibility that the dime-museum people may be partment 7x9. It is scarcely complete, as the "Father of the Faithful" remained to all intents and purposes, a polygamist, there being no ground for assuming that his wife Keturah was at any time dispensed with by him.

The closing paragraph of the quotation shows the dishonesty of the entire presentation. It assumes the absurd position that Jeseph and Hyrum Smith did not practice, and certain standard works do not teach, under proper conditions, the rightfuiness of partiarchal marriage. As a fact in point connected with this claim, Bishop H. B. Clawson informs us that he and the head of the co-called Re-organized Church were schoolmates in Nauvoo, and that it was the buds begun to burst, when the tree well understood by both that the Prophet Joseph had a number of plural wives, and it was no particular secret as to who some of them were. It is a fact also that several of those ladies are now living in this city, and by them Alexander Smith, brother to the editor of the Herald, was at one time confronted, they claiming, in his presence, their relationship to his father. The chief of the Re-organized Church is, of course, patted on the back by the Salt Lake Tribune, the notorious organ of slander and of the anti-"Mormon" crusade. Here is what it says
