DAMAGING FLOODS.

Many Reports Concerning Them and Injury to Crops From Rain.

Weekly crop bulletin for week ending Monday, Sept. 11. Copious showers occurred generally over the state, well distributed throughout the week, which brought more or less rain to all sections. Many reports complain of damaging floods, and of injury from landslides for the greater part of the rainfall. Most good from the rain storms. All growing crops look on life, and were in better condition at the close of the week, despite the floods and hail, reported locally. The rain and general cloudiness kept temperatures low, and the frost was received in a few scattering elevated valleys, and squash and tomato vines were slightly nipped, but the prevailing cloudiness kept night temperatures above the freezing point.

There was much harvest work done and very little damage. In several areas, however, the rains were generally reported as being secured to good condition notwithstanding the inclement weather. Insects were still common, and were reported to be the most serious pest. Some few reports tell of small in wheat. The yields of grain were generally satisfactory, being well up to expectations, if not above the anticipated quality. Much fallowing was done, and winter grain was rapidly put in, and the crop prospects are good.

Sugar beets received much benefit from the week's rains, and this crop was well along, and digging was a matter of the near future, as indicated in some reports. The crop was being sampled in places. Gardeners are now advised to plant, as vegetables will come into market. Potatoes were as heretofore, plentiful, and of fairly good quality. The quality of fruit was generally reported fine, but the quantity was perhaps less than usual. The ranges were much improved over last year, and a consequent stock was in good condition, with fair prospects for winter feed.

Denver Union Stockyards, Sept. 11.—All eastern markets reported a big run of cattle last week and prices led to 25c lower at the close. Prices here held up well, however, as the demand for cattle and supplies had not been great. Light weight steers are especially in demand, and prices closed steady to strong. Another bunch of choice North Park steers sold during the week at 42c. It takes good steer, however, to bring better than 40c, and the market leaders were shown to range from 32c to 36c.
