EDITORIAL NOTES.

There is very little chance that Dakota will be admitted to the Union as a State this session of Congress.

During January over 700 persons were burned to death, 75 killed by explosions, 1,500 drowned in European floods, 500 lost on wrecked ocean ships, and 200 killed in other accidents so far as heard from. It was a month of disasters.

The Providence Star says: "If Congress would strike all general legislation from appropriation bills and leave nothing but the necessary grants of money, the public business would progress much more rapidly." Right. General legislation in appropriation bills is inappropriate.

Boarding house keepers will now find Indiana a paradise. The Legislature has a pending bill, which will pass, making it a felony to impose on hotel and boarding house keepers trunks filled with bricks, stovewood or other invaluable articles under the pretense that it is valuable baggage.

The Church of England has an income of £4,525,000. Of this, episcopal and cathedral officials receive £343,571. The patronage of 4,362 benefices, with an income of £1,513,092 is ecclesiastical and collegiate; that of 845, with an income of £297,345 belongs to the Executive; and that of 8,521, with an income of £2,719,958, to private patrons.

A central bureau for astronomical intelligence is being established at Kiel, in Germany, whither telegrams announcing discoveries in this field of science will be sent from all the chief observatories in the world, for instance, Greenwich, Paris, Milan, Vienna, Utrecht, Copenhagen, Pultova in Russia, etc., and thence be re-telegraphed to all who choose to pay an annual subscription of about 100 marks.

The peculiar ingenuity displayed in Connecticut in the manufacture of wooden hams and wooden nutmegs has been excelled at Zanzibar. Several bags of cloves recently shipped from that place to London, were found to contain a heavy percentage of artificial cloves, neatly manufactured by machinery. They were made of pine, stained a dark color, and had been soaked in the essence of the spice to give them the required odor.

The medical purveyor of the United States Army at St. Louis makes the statement that the accumulation of worthless medicines disposed of from time to time by the government are bought up by dealers and re-sold again to the outlying towns. A Washington paper suggests that the government is as much discredited by the transaction as the other parties, and that worthless medicines ought to be destroyed instead of sold.

A letter to the New York Times from Scranton, Pennsylvania, reports an interview with a station keeper who says that he has "often flagged a train and found the engineer fast asleep," and sometimes has also "found the conductor of the same train snoring soundly in the caboose." Of course the station keeper stopped the train with his flag, boarded the train and found the engineer asleep. What's the use of having brakes when flags of that sort are available.

It is not hard to win fame in these degenerate days. It is only necessary to give a certificate to the proprietor of a patent medicine, to have your name in every newspaper in the country, and read by fifty million people. And yet fame is mighty uncertain, anyhow. A Chicago Times' Lansing dispatch, mentioning the appointment of James Blair as member of the board of control of the boys' reform school, vice Edwin F. Uhl, declined, spells the latter's name "Edwin Fuhle." This is probably not intended as a reflection on the gentleman's judgment in declining the office.

In the case of the Michigan Central Railroad Company vs. Myrick, decided by the Supreme Court of the United States, the point was raised whether a railroad company, in the absence of a special contract, was responsible to a shipper for the safety of freight after such freight had been transferred by it to another railroad company for transportation to its place of destination. An important question was whether the ticket or bill of lading given to the shipper by the railroad company in this case constituted a through contract. The Court held that it did not, and that in consequence the railroad company was liable as carrier only to the extent of its own route and for safe storage and delivery to the next carrier.

The Washington Critic of January 26th, says: Mrs. Belva A. Lockwood and Delegate Caine, of Utah, were before the Judiciary Committee of the House this morning, and made arguments pro and con on the bill to provide for further suppression of bigamy, polygamy and unlawful cohabitation in the Territories of the United States, and to provide for the better government of the Territory of Utah, and for other purposes. Mrs. Lockwood opposed the bill because it prohibits woman suffrage in Utah. The arguments will be continued on Tuesday next. There was a large party present to-day during the argument, several ladies being delegates to the Woman's Suffrage Convention here.

OUR MOUNTAIN OFFICERS.

THE capture of the train robbers by officers most of whom are Utah men, has given the public to understand that we have in this Territory material for first-class detectives and efficient thief-catchers. It has also developed the fact that with proper support from the local authorities, the Sheriffs and their deputies in the various counties could clear the country of desperadoes, highwaymen, and horse and cattle stealers.

The officers who went after the train robbers displayed good judgment in selecting Sheriff Turner, of Utah County, as chief of the expedition. He is quick in thought and action, yet cool and determined and knows how to direct as well as to plan and execute. Sheriff Brown, of Weber County, is a natural detective, shrewd, prompt, untiring and undaunted. Other officers who might be named, possess similar qualifications, and they all have the will as well as the way to hunt out malefactors and bring them to justice. All the men engaged in this good piece of work are excellent officers.

But the men of this class whom we have conversed with deplore the lack of local backing in their operations against criminals. They say that usually the capture of one lawbreaker gives the clue to the crimes and whereabouts of others, and if they were only supported by the necessary funds to follow up the trail, engage the men and employ the means that are necessary, they could often make a clean sweep of the villains who raid upon the property of our citizens. Sometimes they are actually out of pocket when the work is done and the scanty fees are paid.

The Act of Congress called the Poland bill took away from Utah its Territorial Marshal and Attorney General, and empowered United States officers to perform the duties formerly discharged by our own officials. Persons appointed by the United States are and ought to be paid by the United States. If the Territory were permitted to elect its own criminal officers, the Territory would provide means for their payment. Congress has no right to appoint officers and then require the people who have no voice in their appointment to pay them for their services, and the Legislature acts upon right and republican principles in omitting to appropriate the funds of the Territory for the payment of officials who are not responsible to the Territory, and are imposed upon its citizens.

In the absence of funds from the Territorial Treasury, to be used for the capture of notorious criminals, what ought to be done? It appears to us that when the United States Marshal and Attorney fail in the work which formerly devolved upon the Territorial officers, the Sheriffs in the various counties, who are elected by the people, should be well sustained by the County Courts, in their efforts to make Utah a poor field of labor for road agents, cattle thieves and robbers of any kind. Those courts have the control of the county finances. They determine the rate of local taxation —within the limits defined by law —they regulate the expenditure of the county funds and the disposition of its property, and they fix the compensation of county officers, apart from the fees prescribed by territorial statute.

We are not in favor of keeping any men in idleness half their time or of extravagant expenditure of public funds for any purpose. But we think that the County Courts would be fully justified by law and by the people, in using some of the money entrusted to their care in aiding trusty officers to hunt up and lawfully dispose of criminals who prey upon the flocks and herds of honest people, and defy pursuit and detection because of the expense entailed in tracking and capturing them. An officer like the men we have named often needs to be left to some discretion in the selection of deputies, the devising of plans and the cost of an expedition, and the disclosure of his schemes and assistants might spoil his purpose and defeat his object. When a Sheriff is known to be skilful, honest and trustworthy, we think he should be treated with confidence and liberality, and that his hands should not be tied up because of a dread of expense.

Parsimony is not economy. It is cheaper for tax-payers to pay out of the county revenue something towards ridding their region of robbers who prey upon their stock and other property, than to close up the treasury, or pinch it too tight, and be in continual jeopardy. The influence and example, too, of one bold, bad man who is allowed to run at large and commit depredations at will, are very evil and costly. The case which is now exciting so much attention illustrates this. Three men, two of them quite young, have been led into crime and dishonor by a couple of old hands at villainy. The earlier capture of the latter might have saved at least some of the former from their present fate. For the sake, then, of our youth as well as the protection of our property, prompt and active measures should be taken whenever depredations are commenced, and county lines should form no barrier to a Sheriff's vigilance or sphere of operations when necessity requires pursuit to a distance. A mutual understanding between the respective county authorities and a willingness to share in the expense, ought to prevail when there is work of this character to be accomplished.

We have no disposition to find fault. We are only offering suggestions. This is an important subject. Much of our Territory is open to the incursions of villains like the train robbers now in durance vile. A little more confidence in our local officers and liberality towards them—governed of course by prudence and justice—would take this evil by the throat in the start and squeeze the life out of it. Means to follow up a trail when struck would often enable a wise officer to strike straight for fellows who are "wanted," and the certainty of capture and the risk that would attend deeds of lawlessness in this Territory, would make Utah a sorry place for the western desperado and he would hunt for fairer fields and pastures new, where property is less closely guarded and officers are not made of the true and genuine stuff which enters into the composition of our mountain Sheriffs, of whose hardihood, capability, promptness, bravery and official zeal we have good reason to be proud. Will the county authorities take a gentle and respectful hint?

A Big Blaze in New York.

NEW YORK, 1.—The burning of the Inman line dock this morning involved a loss of between three and four million dollars.

Later.—The fire at the Inman steamship dock broke out at 2.30 this morning. The flames ran swiftly through the shed and store houses, and by three o'clock the immense dock was a mass of flame.

From the remotest parts of town, in response to the frequent alarms, the fire apparatus came thundering down. The heat was so great that effective work from the land or river was nearly impossible. At three o'clock the steamship Egypt, lying at the dock was towed into the stream, all ablaze from stem to stern, and through her rigging, her spars, bore the flames to the rigging of numerous other vessels lying at anchor. Nearly the entire fire department of the city was on hand, but many engines could not be utilized. At 3.30 the spectacle was grand in the extreme; the river front for many hundred feet was ablaze, and all attempts to save property on the Inman Dock were abandoned. The work of the firemen was concentrated on the Union Line dock adjoining. The famous ship of that line the Alaska was in the greatest danger, tug boats and ferry boats making strenuous efforts to save her by hauling her into the stream. At 9 o'clock this morning, the Inman dock is still burning. Most of the buildings on the pier and their contents are now consumed. The loss is roughly estimated at a million dollars. The steamer Egypt, of the National Line, at the pier caught fire and was towed out into the stream and the flames extinguished after she had been greatly damaged. The fire department and two fire boats are at work on the flames. Of the large covert sheds on the pier nothing remains save fragments of the frame work at the entrance that totter in the wind and threaten to fall at any moment. The pier itself, with all upon it, burned down to the spiles upon which the structure rested. Along the waters edge the flames are yet playing hide and seek amid the wreck and licking up the remnants of the million dollar bonfire. Great throngs of people surround the scene of desolation. The National line steamer Egypt lies out in midstream with her port side scorched, and her rigging and standing gear burned and blackened. Beyond the pier itself and contents, the loss proved inconsiderable. The Egypt is an iron vessel, and a thousand dollars or two will mend her injury. In twenty-four hours she will be in sailing order. The wind blew directly in from the river and carried the smoke and ashes in over the city to the embarrassment of the firemen, but to the advantge of the surrounding shipping, which that fact saved from destruction. The Savannah steamer Chattahoochee, that lay at pier 35 exposed to the flames was hardly scorched, its crew being on hand with hose and pumps. The Ocean Steamship Company's dock was not damaged at all. At the pier on the north, No. 37, a full rigged ship, the Henry, a German vessel, which was unloading soda ash, caught fire and was towed out into the stream with the rigging aflame. She, however, was not badly damaged, and was towed over on the Jersey flats, where she lies to-day. An Erie barge loaded with flour was caught in the flames. Vain efforts were made to tow it out. It still remains where it was. The woodwork on deck caught fire and the deck load of flour in bags was partly burned. A bulkhead at the end of the pier, contained a large quantity of crockery in crates and carboys of acid and other merchandise stored when the saving of the burning pier was given up as a hopeless task. The firemen concentrated their whole energy upon the protection of these goods and succeeded well though catching fire again and again, the bulk of the merchandize was nevertheless saved. About sixty longshoremen were at work on the steamer at the end of the pier unloading the Egypt, when the fire broke out. It was feared that some of these had been burned, but this fear has in great measure been dispelled this morning by the statement of the engineer who discovered and fought the fire till the firemen came.

The Nicaragua Canal.

NEW YORK, 1.—A Times editorial on the Nicaragua Canal says: As reported by Miller, it leaves the international questions involved in the project in the same hopeless tangle as before. The suppression of the demand for guarantee of dividends leaves the bill in an apparently unobjectionable shape, so far as the relation of the company to the National Treasury are concerned. We congratulate the company upon the improved prospects of their canal, for the guarantee clause would probably have been fatal to the act of incorporation.

Mace and Slade.

In supreme court chambers to-day Judge Donohue, on application of counsel for J. W. Mace and Slade, issued a writ of habeas corpus and certiorari, requiring the production of the records of their examination in the police court. This will involve the decision as to the power of the police to stop boxing matches.

General Grant.

CHICAGO, 1.—A Washington special says: The House military committee again failed to secure a quorum to take action upon the bill to place General Grant on the retired list. Attempts have been made to secure a special meeting, but a quorum always failed to appear. Several members, including some republicans, think enough has been done for Grant and decline to attend the meetings. Anson McCook, of the committee, it is said, thinks Gen. Grant has been sufficiently honored.

Another Treasurer Makes a Clean Sweep.

ST. LOUIS, 1.—Advices from Texas, state that the safe of W. Wood, treasurer of Jackson County, was blown open at Edna, yesterday, by order of the court. Wood has been absent several weeks, ostensibly for medical treatment, but it is believed he is defaulter for a considerable amount. It was expected that $25,000 were in the safe, but nothing was found there. Wood was also custodien of a large amount of private funds, none of which was found.

Our Navy for Sale.

WASHINGTON, 1.—The Secretary of the Navy has recommended to Congress the sale, at public auction, in accordance with recommendations of the advisory board, of the Benicia, old Monadnock, Naragansett, Nipsic, Saco and Tuscarora at Mare Island navy yard.

LATEST TRANS-ATLANTIC DISPATCHES.

The Coronation of the Czar.

LONDON, 1.—A dispatch from Tilsit says: The Czar and Czarina will in the middle of April proceed to Moscow and be solemnly consecrated at the Cathedral of our Savior by two metropolitan archbishops, assisted by about 12 bishops. The date of the coronation is finally fixed for the 27th of May.

The Fair Trial Fund.

The committee of Irishmen formed in London, to collect a "fair trial fund" for the benefit of prisoners charged with conspiracy to murder government officials are now undergoing an examination. In Dublin an appeal, which will be distributed at the doors of Catholic churches, calls upon the Irish to find funds with which to combat the testimony of spies and informers.

Failure.

Berlin, 1.—The Swiss newspapers announce that the firm engaged in the iron trade at Basel whose failure was reported on Monday, is Paravicine & Co.; their liabilities amount to several million francs.

THE CONTRAST!
While other Baking Powders are largely adulterated with Alum and other hurtful drugs,
DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER
has been kept unchanged in all its original purity and strength. It has received the highest testimonials from the most eminent chemists in the United States, who have analyzed it frequently.
There are no powders that bear higher chemical tests, nor any that show so good results by the TEST OF THE OVEN.
It is a pure Fruit Acid Baking Powder. Made by
STEELE & PRICE,
Chicago, Ill., & St. Louis, Mo.
Manufacturers of Lupulin Yeast Gems, Dr. Price's Special Flavoring Extracts, and Dr. Price's Unique Perfumes.
