Cook was nominated on the first ballot. The vote: Cook, 44½; Mitchell, 12½; Musgrove, 41. When order was restored long enough for the result of the ballot to be announced, and it was declared that Secy. of State Sam Cook had been renominated, the demonstration was resumed and did not stop until Mr. Cook had mounted the platform and endeavored to quiet the delegates by motioning for silence. He made a brief address, declaring unwavering allegiance to Mr. Folk.

Albert O. Allen was nominated for state auditor. In calling the roll Hawes moved to make Folk's nomination unanimous, and the motion carried. Folk was nominated by acclamation.

At 3:45 a. m. amid great demonstration Joseph W. Folk was escorted to the platform by Harry B. Hawes. In accepting the nomination, Mr. Folk spoke as follows:

FOLK'S SPEECH.

"When I see about me representatives of the Democratic party of Missouri, and when I realize I have been chosen to represent the plans and policies of that great party, I am profoundly impressed with the responsibility of my position. While I am gratified by the confidence you have expressed in me, I do not congratulate myself upon the high honor you have done me, because my mind is full of anxious desire to perform well the part that has been assigned to me. This campaign has been waged, not for a man, but for an idea. I don't claim to have done anything to merit this distinction in the place of trust assigned to me. I have endeavored to do my duty under my oath of office, to my city and state.

"How well I have succeeded I could not say. If your selection shall be ratified by the people of the state, I shall do my very best to carry out the policies for which the masses of the Democratic party have been contending. The exposure of corruption in Missouri has made the people realize the menace to good government if it is tolerated and the necessity of attempting the influence of corruptionists from our political life. I have been fighting them with all the powers at my command and have lashed them with the whip of the law. I have no fear to ask of them and no quarter to give. It is unrelenting warfare to the end. In their frenzied desperation they have spewed out their vomit of slander and abuse. There are two things I am proud of. One the aid and assistance of good citizens given me; and the other the intense hatred and malicious mouthings of corrupt enemies.

"The responsibility for the existence of corruption does not rest upon either party, but this Democratic party has assumed the responsibility for stamping it out and we will all good citizens of every political faith to aid us. The battle against boodle has only commenced in Missouri. If I am elected to a larger field of opportunity, I propose to make Missouri the most unhealthy place in all the land for corruptionists to operate in.

"There is work to be done in this state in moral, material and intellectual advancement which some have commissioned me to do. The commission is a sacred one. Here in your presence, and in the presence of this great multitude, I consecrate myself to the work you have assigned to me, and with your help, and as long as God gives me life and strength to do it, I will combat the things that dishonor and oppress."

FIFTY THOUSAND BUTCHER WORKMEN

They Will All Go Back to Their Old Positions Again Tomorrow Morning.

REJOICING AROUND STOCKYARDS

Those Who Expected to be Called On On Sympathetic Strike Feel Relieved.

Chicago, July 21.—Fifty thousand butcher workmen who quit work July 12, paralyzing the meat industry of the country, will go back to their posts tomorrow morning. While they continue peacefully at work, a board of arbitration will pass judgment upon the contentions of the laborers for higher wages and less arduous working conditions—and the decision of the arbitrators will settle the issues of the great strike.

President Donnelly of the Butchers' union had today promptly received the approval of all the executive board members except two. The points to be heard from yet are Syracuse and San Francisco.

Around the Chicago stockyards today there was rejoicing among the strikers as well as the stockmen and packing interests. The unionists who had looked forward to seeing the strike spread today in a sympathetic movement involving all the mechanical trades and perhaps the entire city, were disappointed. Instead of the greater strike there was to be peace in packing town. Many speakers, however, expressed disappointment that the strike, after extending them to June eight and a half days in wages, had resulted in the reference of their demands to arbitration.

Only one formality remained today to make the end of the strike complete, and that was the process of having the agreement ratified. President Donnelly telegraphed members of the executive board of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen. The last night's result of the conference and recommended that they approve it. Donnelly, who occupies a commanding position in the union, was certain that the ratification of the entire executive board would be received in Chicago today.

Mr. Donnelly issued a call for special meetings of the various local unions of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen, to be held tonight, at which meetings instructions will be given the men about returning to work. The strikers are anxious to have a talk with the packers and learn from them what departments are to be re-opened tomorrow.

Thousands of laborers who have been on strike appeared at the yards today with their lunch pails and applied for work, thinking, since the strike had been declared off, there remained nothing to be done except to go back to work. The packers, however, were not so sure. The time-keepers' offices of the different plants that they would not be taken back until tomorrow.

Supt. Conway, of Armour & Co., said: "I have no objection to the strikers being put back to work tomorrow, but not all of the laborers will be taken back now."

Thousands gathered about the entrance to the yards to discuss the settlement, and there were murmurs against its terms. Some workers wanted to go back without delay, and few could understand the apparently the question of wages. Vital to them, had not been decided.

During the day nearly 500 of the strike-breakers employed in the various plants were taken back to work, the men quitting apparently fearing to work with the union men who will return tomorrow.

FRANCE TRYING TO AVERT ANGLORUSSIAN CRISIS.

Paris, July 21.—(5:25 p. m.)—The French government has taken the initiative toward averting an Anglo-Russian crisis. This action is not by the exercise of friendly offices, but by more effective means. Foreign Minister Delcasse is making friendly representations to Count Lamsdorf, the Russian foreign minister. This from the city on whom Russia chiefly depends is expected to exert strong influence toward a pacific solution. The exact nature of Mr. Delcasse's representations is not disclosed, but they are understood to contemplate the release of the Malakka and suitable redress. Russia's answer is momentarily expected, but had not arrived tonight. It is expected tomorrow. If it is satisfactory, the release of the steamer probably will be followed by the payment of a monetary indemnity. The French authorities are doing everything possible to prevent the affair from assuming grave proportions. Although reluctant to criticize Russia they incline to the view that a mistake has been made in the present case which Russia will be ready to admit and correct unless retarded through excessive British parsimony.

The French press and public are taking the affair calmly. The ministerial press takes the view that the situation is due to a misunderstanding, and that if Great Britain establishes the fact that the seized goods are not contraband then Russia will recognize and redress the error.

ELKS' REUNION.

Alleged Irregularities in Grand Lodge Election.

Cincinnati, O., July 21.—At the Elks' reunion today there was considerable agitation over the alleged irregularities in the grand lodge to vote for grand officers Tuesday. It is charged that about "substituted credentials" were used there, and had the same persons attempted to participate yesterday they would have been exposed. Proxies are not permitted, and past exalted rulers are not entitled to vote. It is claimed that some past exalted rulers unable to be present, gave their cards to others.

The feature today was the session of secret in memory of Past Grand Exalted Ruler Meade D. Detweiler, who was at his death, chairman of the board of governors of the national home for Elks, near Richmond, Va. Among those who delivered addresses were Past Grand Exalted Ruler Fanning and Rickett, Judges Fisher of New York and Melvin of California, after which resolutions were adopted.

The grand lodge considered changes in the ritual. It is settled that there will be no changes in the ritual. It is settled that there will be no change from annual to biennial or triennial reunions at this meeting.

Preceding races and field sports there was a mammoth mid-day barbecue at Oakley race track, where over 2,000 pounds of beef was served and burgoo made in several kettles holding 500 gallons each, while other refreshments were without limit. Similar entertainments were elsewhere furnished free to all wearing Elk badges.

POSTMASTERS IN GREAT GATHERING.

the best methods of advancing the service.

It would, perhaps, be entrenching on ground already covered by other speakers at our convention, men of national reputation, to discuss proposed improvements. There is a growing demand for a postal saving system, many old country people, coming from the country where people can deposit their small savings with the government, feel the lack of this advantage so much that they are buying money orders in order to have their money safely kept for them. The rural free delivery system is yet in its infancy, and many improvements may be suggested in connection therewith. There should be some improvement suggested in connection with the money order system that will do away with so many remittances of small amounts in stamps rather than go to trouble and expense of purchasing the present cumbersome orders.

POSTMASTER THOMAS' ADDRESS.

Postmaster Thomas of Salt Lake delivered an address on "The First Class Postmaster." Why "First Class?" He spoke of the great growth of the postal system during the past 40 years, referring to the free delivery, the free rural delivery, the postal money order system and other advancements. He spoke of the necessity of efforts being made by the congressional delegation for increase of salaries for rural free delivery over some routes, where the conditions make it necessary. The peculiarities of patrons of the postoffice and their demands were referred to and humorous stories told to illustrate the work of the postmaster. Some postmasters, however, were unreasonable, as was the postmaster in Nevada who posted a notice in the office that giant powder was not mailable and that the postmaster would be responsible for any giant powder that exploded in transit.

SPEECH OF ACCEPTANCE.

President's, Containing 3,000 Words, is Completed.

Oyster Bay, L. I., July 21.—President Roosevelt has completed the speech he will deliver at the 27th annual convention of his notification. It is about 3,000 words in length.

It is not expected here that the question will be presented to the president at all. The president is expected to announce his decision in the case of a book-binder named Miller, in the government printing office. While the cases are not quite parallel, the same principle in a general way is involved.

President Roosevelt rode on horseback, played tennis and took a swim in the bay today.

St. Petersburg, July 21.—The invalid Russ draws attention to the increased activity of Chinese bandits near the railroad between Liao Yang and Mukden, which the paper declares may become dangerous in connection with the Japanese advance toward Au Ping.

Stella McMahon, the young girl who was taken from a Commercial street resort the other day, told the police yesterday that she was induced to enter upon her life of shame by a fellow worker in the Red Onion gambling house named Joe Goddard. She says Goddard told her to say she was 19 years old and had been married to a sailor, and painted a glowing picture of the luxuries and "easy money" of sporting life. As a matter of fact, the girl is scarcely 15 years of age. The officers will investigate her story with a view to charging Goddard with procuring.

TO TAP SAN PEDRO.

Rio Grande Short Cut to Coast Via Salt Lake Canyon.

Denver, July 20.—The Times today says: The letting of contracts by the Denver & Rio Grande for a branch line from Marysville to Cedar City, Utah, yesterday, was but the carrying out of a part of a plan whereby the company is to extend its road to meet the San Pedro Los Angeles & Salt Lake route, and secure a direct route to Los Angeles.

Today a Denver & Rio Grande official said that George Gould intends to shorten the distance between Denver and Los Angeles 500 miles by extending the Rio Grande Western another 100 miles that can be accomplished.

Surveys for a feasible connection between the two lines have been made and as soon as the Rio Grande Western reaches Cedar City bids will be asked for the completion of the extension.

Twelve hours' time will be saved by the new road between Denver and California points.
