

sheriff of the county where the crime was committed.

"I find, however, that the Legislature of 1896, in chapter 127, section 31, being an act in reference to the State insane asylum, provides for the discharge of a person from the asylum when they have become sane.

"I would advise you that under the said section some person should file an affidavit with the board of insane asylum commissioners setting up that person's sanity and that the person is unjustly deprived of his liberty. The board should thereupon request the judge of Utah county to inquire into the sanity of the person, and if upon examination the person should be adjudged not insane, then an order should be made discharging him from the custody of the superintendent of the asylum, but remanding him to the custody of the sheriff of Salt Lake county, to be placed upon his trial for the crime charged in the indictment. It would also be advisable to make a showing in the affidavit and also at the time of the hearing before the judge, that the person is under an indictment for the crime of murder in Salt Lake county."

FROM SATURDAY'S DAILY, OCTOBER 30.

Ogden Standard: At 10 o'clock last night Mrs. Ambrose Meyers was returning home after a short walk when she was attacked with a spell of coughing and an hour later expired. At the time of the attack she was passing the residence of Mrs. Alice Greenwell, near the corner of Twenty-fourth and Monroe avenue, and she was taken into the house. Dr. Dickson was called, though he worked for some time with her, it was of no avail. Dr. Dickson stated that the cause of death was heart failure.

Mrs. Meyers was the wife of Ambrose Meyers and lived at 2321 Quincy avenue. She was 49 years old, and leaves four children, two boys and two girls, to mourn her loss. She has been subject to severe attacks of coughing, and only last Sunday had a very severe one, and had frequently complained of a pain in the region of the heart.

At an early hour this morning Mr. B. F. Cummings Sr., who is nearly 77 years of age, was standing on the pavement nearly in front of his own home, which is at 431 east Second South street, speaking with a lady who lives next door, when he was run into by a man riding a bicycle, and knocked down. The rider was thrown from his wheel, but quickly mounted it again and rode on down town, without waiting to learn what damage he had done.

Mr. Cummings sustained several injuries and bruises of a painful but not dangerous character. The right cheek bone came in contact with the edge of the pavement, causing a severe bruise and a marked discoloration under and around the eye. The old gentleman was quite stunned at first, but soon rose to his feet and walked into his own home.

There is no excuse for the bicycle rider. His victim was standing perfectly still at the time the collision occurred, and there was plenty of room for the rider to pass. He hurried on before his identity could be ascertained.

FROM MONDAY'S DAILY, NOVEMBER 1.

Information comes from Thurber, Wayne county, of the accidental killing of John H. Safely on Wednesday night. Safely was on his way home from Loa, and according to report was somewhat intoxicated and had been creating considerable disturbance en route. During the night he drove his team into a deep wash and he and one of his horses were killed by the wagon falling upon them.

The deceased was about 60 years of age and left a wife and one child.

William Partridge of Oak City, Millard county, met with a most singular and serious accident while hunting in the mountains two or three days ago. He was passing through some timber when the gun he carried was accidentally discharged. The ram rod being in the barrel it was shot out with terrific force and passed almost through his body.

Thus wounded Partridge traveled twelve miles to his home where he received surgical attention. His condition is very serious and he may not recover.

Nephi Republic: J. W. Price of this city met with a most curious accident while driving out to a wedding reception to which he was invited. As he was going along a prickly hurr was dashed into his eye. Mr. Price suffered excruciating pain for twelve days. He sought several doctors but no relief. The other day, however, the gentleman happened to be at Mrs. S. A. Cazier's house, when that lady started in to doctor the gentleman. With a pair of tweezers the lady plucked three burr points out of his eye. Since that time the gentleman has not suffered any pain. Mrs. Cazier received the unstinted thanks of the gentleman for having afforded him the desired relief.

A brief telegram from Elder Elias S. Kimball, president of the Southern States mission, to President Woodruff, announces the death yesterday, Sunday, October 31st, 1897, from typhoid fever, of Elder Lewis Jacob Bushman. The telegram was sent from Chattanooga, the mission headquarters, but conveys no particulars beyond those given. The state and county in which Elder Bushman has been laboring is not even given. Reference to the Church records here shows that he was born at Lehi, Utah, July 16, 1872, and that he is the son of Martin B. and Lucinda L. Goodwin Bushman. He left home for his mission April 15, 1897, and held the Priesthood of a Seventy, to which calling he was ordained by President C. D. Fjelstead at the time he was set apart. It is thought that he is a married man.

Payson Globe: Hugh Wilson, for many years a resident of this city, died at his home Tuesday at noon of a grippe. He went home the Friday before he died and complained of being sick and went to bed, and never got up again. He was an honest, industrious, hard working man, and it is said that a hundred wells in this city are the result of his labor. Deceased was born in England, Jan. 1, 1838, and when a boy he left home and went to sea, where he spent several years as a sailor. He crossed the Plains with a hand-cart company in 1849. He leaves a wife and four children, two sons and two daughters, all the children being from his first wife.

The funeral services were held in the Iliff academy, Wednesday afternoon at 2:30, and the remains were buried beside the grave of his first wife over in the city cemetery.

Elder Tanner of Milford, Beaver county, dropped into the "News" sanctum this morning, having returned on Oct. 30th from a mission upon which he commenced Aug. 27, 1895. His labors were in the states of Maryland, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Missouri. He enjoyed his work very much, had good health, and returned home in the best of spirits.

Elder Edward Gunderson of Big Cottonwood, Salt Lake county, called on the "News" today and reported his return from Christiana, Norway, where he has been laboring as a missionary for the past two years. Elder Gunderson left his home Oct. 12, 1895, and returned Oct. 22, 1897. He has had much satisfaction in his labors, and reports the Gospel work in good shape in that section of the country. The people treat the Elders with respect and they in turn are making many warm friends.

Funeral services over the remains of Sister Sarah Strock, wife of John Strock, were held in the Forest Dale meeting house Sunday, Oct. 31, commencing at 1 o'clock. Bishop James Jensen presided and remarks were made by President Angus M. Cannon, George H. Taylor, Bishop of the Fourteenth ward, and Elders Joseph Bull Sr., George M. Cannon and Royal B. Young. All spoke of the integrity of Sister Strock to the cause of truth, whose aim in life had been to do good to all with which she came in contact. The Forest Dale choir under the leadership of Arthur Castleton furnished the singing, and the remains of the deceased were viewed at the residence by the Sunday school, which attended in a body, members of the Fourteenth ward Relief Society, the Forest Dale Pleasant Hour club, and other friends and acquaintances. The casket was hardened with appropriate floral emblems, and interment took place at the city cemetery.

Sympathetic friends throughout the city and State, and the public generally, will receive with profound sorrow the tidings of the death of the wife of Hon. John Clark, the Reform Party's nominee for Mayor.

The end came at 9:15 yesterday morning at the family residence in the Twentieth ward, in the presence of the bereaved husband and other members of the family who had gathered about the invalid's bedside in anticipation of the sad event. As heretofore announced in the "News," Mrs. Clark has been a sufferer for years. Her condition during the last few months, however, had improved considerably and it was not until last week that alarming symptoms manifested themselves. All that human knowledge could do was done but without avail and the spirit took its flight in perfect peace and tranquility.

The deceased was a most lovable and womanly woman, whose every act was one of unselfishness and kindly consideration for others. She leaves, in addition to her husband, three sons and six daughters, to mourn her demise. She was the sister of Bishop Nelson A. Empey and Mrs. Henry P. Richards. She was born in Osnabruck, Stormont county, Canada, December 3, 1839. Her father was William A. Empey, a Utah Pioneer, who was also a native of Canada.

A fatal stabbing affray occurred at Bingham at 2 o'clock yesterday, Sunday morning. John Anderson, a man of family, whose home is at Park City, was the victim and Matt Rosenquist, a belligerent transient who recently came to Utah from Africa, was his slayer.

The men were in the street when the trouble occurred. An Associated Press dispatch from Bingham says under date of today:

"Matt Rosenquist fatally stabbed John Anderson because of some remarks Anderson made which enraged Rosenquist. Both men were in the street at the time. Anderson is 40 years of age and is highly respected. Rosenquist is 24, and is a recent arrival here. There is some talk of lynching Rosenquist."

A telephone message to the "News" from Bingham this afternoon conveys the information that the talk of lynching has given away to a desire to allow the law to take its course. There were rumors last night of threats to string
