SECRET LEAGUES.

WE have frequently taken the position that those who seek to destroy the work of regeneration and reformation being established by the Saints not only fail in attaining their object but are finally, to use a familiar term, "paid back in their own coin." When the reimburse ment takes place the interest is compounded, the return being "hesped ance. up and running over." This may be safely accepted as a standing principle, based upon the proposition of the Savior about the measure meted out to others being returned in greatly increased quantity. It is also in accordance with an express promise by revelation, given to the Church in this dispensation.

The correctness of this proposition is suseptible of proof, so far as anything of that nature can be sustain. ed by an array of incontrovertible facts extending throughout the entire history of this community. Discomfiture, disgrace and disaster have followed at the heels of those who have sought by every contemptible means to bring trouble upon an innocent and God-fearing people. This applies to individuals and combinations of every class. Had we the space or inclination we could furnish instances almost without ing that he purposed devoting the number.

We are perfectly safe in predicting that, unless the "Secret League for the suppression of Mormonism" is itself suppressed, as an illegal and abominable institution, that secret agencies of this character will be one of the leading and most conspicuous factors in bringing destruction and distress upon the nation. They will take numerous forms, and their dark fomentations, conducted under the social crust, will burst forth in various localities like so many inextinguish able fires, spreading trouble and sor row in every direction.

Already has this threatening sage he was sent to bear, at every break the friendly tie, and our troops opportunity.
