

HARRIMAN'S BODY RESTS ON HILLSIDE

Funeral Private. Only Friends
Who Had Been Invited
Being Admitted.

TWO SERVICES WERE HELD.

Dr. McGuiness, His Pastor, Paid a Touching and Tender Tribute To His Memory.

Arden, N. Y., Sept. 12.—Through the quiet aisles of the Ramapo woods the body of Edward H. Harriman was carried today from the great house he never lived to see finished, and laid in its last resting place on the Arden hillside.

The rulers of Wall street came from New York to pay their last tribute, but the most prominent part in the ceremonies was taken by the men who knew him best as a country squire and master of the great estate, which covers 42,000 acres of hill and valley. His general superintendent, his master carpenter, his master mason and the managers and assistant managers of his dairies, his farms and his trotting stables were his coffin.

The funeral was private, and only those who were personal friends of the family and had received invitations from Mrs. Harriman were admitted. The out-of-town party arrived at Arden at 3:15 on a special train.

FRIENDS PRESENT.

The following were present: Mrs. John C. Nelson, John Carpenter, Charles Carpenter, William Carpenter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hare, Mrs. Frank Stevens, Mrs. Emily Underdunk, Mrs. David Murray, Miss Catherine Harriman, Mrs. Helen Harriman, Dr. and Mrs. Mercer, Hon. B. B. Odell, Jr., and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Harriman, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Harriman, Mr. and Mrs. John H. McCullough, Mrs. J. B. Harriman, Mr. and Mrs. Orlando Harriman, G. C. Clark and family, C. A. Perkins and family, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. DeForest, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Berwind, Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Trabucco, Mrs. G. W. Perkins, Remondier Weston, Alexander Miller, C. G. Tegethoff, William Mohl, J. Van Alstyne, Dr. and Mrs. George Dixon, W. S. Johnson, Thomas Price, Stephen Brooks, A. G. Hackett, Sydney Grant, W. V. S. Thorne, Chasney Stillman and Robert S. Lovett.

The first service was holy communion, celebrated at 9 a. m. by the Rev. J. Holmes McGuiness, for Mrs. Harriman and her children at their home on Tuxedo hill. At 11 o'clock came a public memorial service at St. John's church for the employees of the farm and parishioners, who, on account of lack of space, were unable to attend the funeral service later. The Harriman pews were left vacant.

Mrs. Charles D. Simons, Mr. Harriman's sister, her husband and two daughters and Orlando H. Harriman, a brother, were the only relatives present. Instead of the usual morning ser-

AFTER SUFFERING TEN YEARS

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

MARLTON, N. J.—I feel that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has given me new life.

I suffered for ten years with serious female troubles, inflammation, ulceration, indigestion, nervousness, and could not sleep.

Doctors gave me up, as they said my troubles were chronic. I was in despair, and did not care whether I lived or died, when I read about Lydia E.

Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; so I began to take it, and am well again and relieved of all my suffering. —Mrs.

Gordon Jones, Box 46, Marlton, N. J.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Comound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and today holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials are on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., from women who have been cured from almost every form of female complaints, inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion and nervous prostration.

Every suffering woman owes it to herself to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vege-

If you would like special advice about your case write a confidential letter to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

Address of Rev. McGuiness, the pastor, delivered a touching address. He said:

ADDRESS OF REV. MCGUINNESS.

"Private and comparatively small as this gathering is, I feel upon me a power both of audience and subject, which seem to weigh me down. But I know you will bear with me while I simply endeavor to draw from this solemn occasion some thoughts which may seem to make us who are so sad in some ways better men. The lesson of morality read to us here is not to us alone, but to the whole country. For this is not a thing done in a corner; this is not a burial affecting a few relatives and friends. Here we have one of the foremost men of all the world struck down. There is not an American whom this event does not reach.

"Where is the man that wielded such power as this man who is taken from us? What a tower of strength he was in the greatest undertakings and enterprises that ever spread over our land.

Rightly he received the tribute of admiration which the whole people gladly pay to whoever has done great what everyone desires to do.

"Probably no career has drawn to it or unfolded or developed as much of the characteristic ability of the nation as did the career of Edward H. Harriman. And did he labor selfishly only for himself? No. The circumstances of countless thousands were bettered by his enlightened and masterly action.

Never has he been accused of underhand dealings or has he given a shadow of excuse for anyone to say that he abused the powers of his exalted position. And you know what he has been to all of you here. If this valley and mountain could speak, would they not have a story to tell of his desire to be a neighbor in the highest and truest sense?

"As to our friend's private life—most of you who are here need not that I should recall it. But on this occasion I know you would have me speak of that which your own hearts know only too well. You know him as he walked over these hills and up and down this valley—simple, unaffected, gentle and kind. In our sorrows he took us by the hand; in our joys he entered with us, and in every event he showed himself a friend. Of his worldly achievements and distinction we know nothing from his lips. From sources entirely outside of himself we had to gain our knowledge of this part of his life. He could always be approached by us, and when we needed advice his best thought was directed to us.

"You need not have me draw upon the religious side of his nature. At the time of my arrival here he sent to every man employed on the place the following letter:

"Arden, Orange County, N. Y., Oct.
12, 1895.—To the men residents of Arden: The lack of interest on your part is discouraging to those who provide the means whereby you can have the important privilege of attending church services.

"Fair weather Christians are of no more use in a community than the same sort of laborer, milkman, dairyman, farmer, carpenter, blacksmith, railroad man or any kind of a fair weatherly man.

"It seems to me that your responsibility does not end with yourself, but extends over those with whom you have influence.

"The opportunity is given your children for religious training at Sunday school and the church for yourselves and families.

"It is not a favor conferred on anyone else than yourself and families.

"If it is not a favor conferred on any one else than yourselves, if you avail yourself of it.

"I hope by next Sunday that you will evidence more interest by attending the services. Yours faithfully, EDWARD H. HARRIMAN."

"The realization of the tremendous importance of regular attendance upon divine worship was illustrated not only in the sending out of that letter, but in the fact when his daughter was prostrated by a serious illness and during the crisis which followed he sent me a note in his own handwriting requesting prayer for her. Time and time again he declared to me his firm belief in the teachings of our holy faith. The mighty power which he wielded by his personal influence never obscured in his own mind the need of absolute reliance upon the Lord that governs the universe.

"Long after our children's children have passed the way of all the earth this trait will make Harriman's career stand out brightly in the pages of history. A distinguished American in speaking of him to me recently said:

"Mr. Harriman has done more for the development of the resources of the country and the expansion of its power than any other individual in the last hundred years."

"We are proud to know that he achieved all this distinction without violating the minutest principle of the great laws of morality. To those who malign and misrepresented him, he showed no resentment; but was willing always to allow time to prove his case, and the proof never failed. The pettiness of jealous competition never for an instant inflicted him. He remained throughout all these trying years sweet tempered, amiable, lovable.

"He was a burning and shining light God be thanked for such lives."

PRECAUTIONS FOR PRIVACY.

Elaborate precautions were taken to preserve the privacy of the afternoon service. Several scores of employees, aided by a number of policemen, guarded all roads over which the funeral procession passed, and kept watch at intervals of twenty yards around the patch of woods which includes the Harriman burial plot.

Eight carriages followed the hearse from Arden house. The first carried Mrs. Harriman with her two unmarried daughters, Mary and Carol, and her sons, Walter Averill and Roland.

Mrs. Robert L. Gerry, the married daughter, drove in the next carriage.
Others in the party were Mr. and Mrs.
Simons, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Harriman, Charles Peabody, Judge Robert S. Lovett and Dr. W. G. Lytle.

The casket—one world mass of lilacs of the valley and green vines, with an immense bunch of crimson roses on top—was carried to the altar by eight bearers clad in black and wearing black skullcaps. The regular funeral service of the Episcopal church was conducted by Dr. McGuiness, assisted by the Rev. G. Nelson, archdeacon of the cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York. A male quartet and the choir of Grace church, New York, sang "Abide With Me" and "There is a Land of Pure Delight," Mr. Harriman's favorite hymns.

The service lasted but 20 minutes.
Then the bearers carried the casket to the burial plot, 100 yards up the hill.

There was not room inside the burial ground for more than 15 or 20 besides the mourners and the two officiating clergymen. Others stood in the road outside and looked over the high stone wall.

Several hundred Harriman employes and their families stood with bare heads outside the church during the service and gathered at a respectful distance from the grave during the interment.

It was 5 o'clock when Archdeacon Nelson took a handful of earth and sprinkled it over the bed of lilacs that hid the metal casket, consigning the body of Edward H. Harriman to the earth on the spot he loved best.

Mrs. Harriman and her children drove home immediately after the ceremony.

Every one of Mrs. Harriman's friends in Arden and Turner received a remembrance of the day, when the flowers that have been arriving by every train for the past 24 hours were distributed. Altogether, the flowers would have filled three express cars.

COL. ROOSEVELT RODE ON THE COWCATCHER

Nairobi, British East Africa, Thursday, Aug. 5.—Col. Roosevelt and his son Kermit traveled to Nairobi by the ordinary passenger train on Saturday, July 24. In spite of the cool weather Mr. Roosevelt rode on the cowcatcher.

On Thursday, the 28th, Col. Roosevelt and Kermit attended the race meeting and Kermit rode in several of the races.
Later they were entertained at dinner by the stewards of the Turf club, with Lord Delamere in the chair.

On Friday Col. Roosevelt and his son were entertained at luncheon by the manager of the National Bank of India, Ltd., Mr. Lawrence. The following Sunday Col. Roosevelt attended the Presbyterian church and gave the first dedication to the Y. M. C. A. of East Africa.

On Monday he aided in the installation of officers of Lodge Harmony, the English Masonic lodge of East Africa.

On Tuesday, Col. Roosevelt and Kermit were entertained at a public banquet. The governor was in the chair.
After toasts to the King and President Taft, the governor proposed the health of Col. Roosevelt, which was enthusiastically received.

DUKE OF THE ABRUZZI ARRIVES AT MARSEILLES

Marseilles, Sept. 12.—The Duke of the Abruzzi was given an impressive reception on his arrival here today aboard the steamer Oceana. An immense crowd had gathered at the wharf to greet the distinguished explorer, about whom clings the popular idea that his trip to the Himalayas resulted from the rupture of his relationship with Miss Edkins.

The Italian consul general, count Di Savio, and the members of the Marseilles geographical societies and representatives of municipal authorities, went aboard to present greetings to the duke, who said that he was delighted with his trip.

"I am sorry that I was not able to complete all that I had planned," he added, "but the results, nevertheless, were satisfactory. I hold the record for the highest ascension in the Himalayas the previous record being held by a Norwegian, who crossed Mount Kalau at a height of 23,900 feet. My expedition reached the top of Bright Pic, in the Godwin-Austen range, at a height of 24,800 feet. I bring back reports which I believe will prove interesting in my forthcoming book."

The duke later received the correspondents, who asked him about the reported discovery of the pole by Dr.
Cook and Commander Peary. He replied:

"I am without precise information regarding this double polar expedition and therefore can give no opinion."
