The New Mint Question

CHICAGO, 4. — A Washington special says that Dr. Linderman, director of the mint, has returned from a thorough examination of the western mining facilities, and after having digested, in a measure, some of the interesting facts gath-ered in his tour, he has given a few of the results of his observations referring to the troubled question of the settlement of the new mint. He refuses to say anything at present; however, it is now quite certain that Chicago is the place to be selected. The capacity for refining and parting at all of the mints is not equal to the present bullion production, and considerable bullion is refined by private enterprises. The capacity o the mints for coining fine bullion into coin is sufficient for all the gold produced in the country and something over one-half of the silver. The chief source of the bul-lion production at the present time is the Comstock lode at Virginia ity, Nevada; the mines in this lode turn out about $4,000,000 worth of bullion a month, of which 60 per cent. is silver and 40 per cent. gold.

In speaking of the future prosperity of the country, he says the evidence

OUR DISTINGUISHED VIS-## ITORS.

THE transition from the generally narrow-streeted, tucked up cities of the plains and the mountains, to this city, with its generous spa-ciousness of streets and its embowciousness of streets and its embowered, villa-like general appearance, is always of the nature of a pleasant surprise to visitors, to say nothing of the facts as to the ad-and the hearty reception by the people of our distinguished visitors. The people were out in large numbers upon South Temple Street, in the vicinity of the depot, and elsewhere, eager to catch a glimpse of the visiting party and to ex-press by their cheerful counte-nances the cordial welcome which nances the cordial welcome which from time to time to Constantino-ple; and information from them this great country.
