

FROM FRIDAY'S DAILY, NOV. 2.

For Two Months.

This afternoon Milo J. Reese, the soldier who deported himself so unbecomingly the other night was before Judge Pyper for sentence. He was ordered to be imprisoned in the county jail for 60 days.

Released.

Yesterday the seven persons arrested at Blackfoot, Idaho, by the United States Marshal, for intimidating voters, were released on habeas corpus. Their cases were taken before Judge Berry, who ordered them to be liberated.

Elder Pugmire's Death.

Today Apostle F. D. Richards received a telegram from Elder Wm. Spry, president of the Southern States Mission, in response to an inquiry, stating that the cause of Elder Vincent Pugmire's death was malaria. He expired on Friday, Oct. 26. The remains are being accompanied home by Elder Humphries, and are expected to arrive in Ogden by Saturday evening's D. & R. G. train. They will be met there by a brother and a brother-in-law of the deceased, and taken to St. Charles, Idaho, for interment.

No News Yet.

Up to this afternoon no additional word had been received regarding Elder Alma P. Richards. Elders and friends were still out on the search at last accounts, and if anything can be learned of his fate or whereabouts, the information will be immediately forwarded.

Elder Richards' parents reside at Milton, Morgan County. He was their only son, and was an exemplary young man. He has a wife and two children, who, with his parents and a host of friends, are in a state of great anxiety over his mysterious disappearance.

First District Court.

Proceedings before Judge Judd, at Provo:

United States vs. Byron W. Brown; perjury; the case was given to the jury this morning, and a verdict of guilty was returned. Sentence was set for the 1st of December.

People vs. John A. Rudman; rape; after the testimony of the witnesses for the prosecution was all in, the defense attempted to prove that the crime was committed by mutual consent. Witnesses on both sides and spectators were excluded from the court room during the trial, which is now in progress.

Railroad Wreck.

Helena, M. T., October 30. — A disastrous collision and wreck of a freight train occurred last night at Arlee, M. T., on the Northern Pacific road, in which three engineers were badly hurt, one having his ribs broken, and the others being badly contused and bruised. The injured men were T. P. O'Rourke, John Flemming, and Al. Sparks. Both trains were double-headed. The accident was due to a miscalculation by the engineer of the west-bound No. 13. When he reached Arlee his engine was almost out of water, and he thought he had time to run down to the tank and take water before the other train—No. 18—came in. He was mistaken, and came in collision with No. 18 before the tank was reached. The four engines were almost demolished. There is a deep cut with a long curve at this point.

Contemplated Changes.

It is intended by the DESERET NEWS Company to make a change in the size and form of the semi-weekly edition. This will occur on or before the 1st of December, when it will be transformed from its present shape to an eight-page issue. This will enable us to give the readers of the semi-weekly nearly one third more reading matter than in its present shape.

It is also the design of the company as soon as practicable to abolish the WEEKLY NEWS in its existing form and issue it as a magazine. This will enable many of our subscribers to carry out a desire they have often expressed, to bind it in convenient volumes and thus preserve much of the matter that is valuable for reference, and of historical interest.

Justice to a Railroad.

We have seen a private letter from J. E. Lockwood, Esq., general passenger and ticket agent of the Kansas City, Fort Scott & Memphis railroad, over which the last company of immigrants destined for Utah, passed from Memphis to Kansas City. The writer thinks that an article which appeared in the NEWS on the arrival of the company in this city, and which stated that the company were not well treated over a portion of the railroad journey, reflects upon his road. He states that an agent of the road went with the company and that extra efforts were made to insure their comfort.

It is possible that the portion of the railroad journey during which the company suffered discomfort was not stated by the NEWS with sufficient clearness to avoid reflection upon railroad companies not justly blameable, and we cheerfully make this reproduction of expressions contained in Mr. Lockwood's letter. We will add that we are further reliably informed that Mr. Lockwood's road has always made special efforts to secure the comfort of immigrants for Utah passing over its line.

PLEASANT REUNION.

The Family of President Taylor Celebrate the Anniversary of His Birth.

During the life of the late President John Taylor, it was his custom, on each recurring anniversary of his birthday to assemble his family and their immediate connections to partake of such hospitality as his table afforded and to participate with him in thanks to the Giver of all good for the added lease of life, and the blessings bestowed, and in order to indulge in pleasant song and story, and by mutual interchange of thought and expression to brighten the chain of friendship that should bind them together as a family. These occasions were improved by him to impart such counsel and advice as he deemed it his duty as a patriarch to present, and were usually looked forward to as seasons of pleasure and enjoyment.

Following out the course of the good old book, "Honor thy father and thy mother that thy days may be long in the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee," the immediate relatives of President Taylor, consisting mainly of his wives, children and grandchildren to the number of about one hundred, assembled last evening at the old homestead in order to celebrate another anniversary of his natal day.

Congregious among the decorations of the main apartment was a large new portrait of President Taylor in a suitable frame, over and around which was suspended an appropriate inscription neatly inscribed on colored silk, by Brother Wm. C. Morris.

A short programme of exercises was prepared which included favorite hymns, songs, music, recitations etc., by various individuals, together with a sketch by Bishop George H. Taylor, of scenes and incidents in the life of President Taylor, with which he was personally familiar and a graphic and amusing sketch of "Life in the pen," by one who had been there, all contributed, in combination with the substantial bounties of nature, to furnish a season of enjoyment long to be remembered.

HON. JOHN T. CAINE

Has Something to Say to All Electors in Utah.

To the Voters of Utah:

For the fourth time I have been honored with the nomination for Delegate to Congress by the great party of the people of this Territory. This evidence of popular confidence and trust is very gratifying to me. It is encouraging to have this assurance of the trust and esteem of my fellow citizens, and to feel that my services, inefficient as they may have been, though

FAITHFUL AND CONSCIENTIOUS

as I know they were, were such as to inspire my friends and associates with a sentiment of continued trustfulness. I will not deny that I am proud of the honor that has been conferred upon me. I am not only that, but am sincerely grateful and appreciative, and hope in the future, as in the past, to prove by my conduct and by my devotion to the cause of those who have honored and entrusted me with the important mission of representing this great commonwealth in the American Congress, that I am not unworthy their faith and esteem. If I shall fall in this it will for lack of ability and want of intelligence.

The news of the action of the People's Convention reached me at Washington, during the closing days of the longest session of the National Legislature on record. I could not without neglect of duty and desertion of my post at a time when it would have been dangerous to leave, do more than telegraph a formal acceptance of the nomination. Returning home at the end of the session, I find that

ELECTION DAY IS UPON US.

Heretofore, on similar occasions, I have been pleased to meet the people in their precincts, and with earnest and eloquent friends, address the voters on the issues of the day. It will be understood that circumstances have made it impossible for me to go among the people before the election, and I am therefore forced to speak through the press, and in that way only.

I find that while certain progress has been made by the right in its contest for supremacy, the issue is the same that has confronted us these many years; that the people are struggling to hold their own, to maintain their rights as citizens of the Republic and the Territory against the assaults and encroachments of ambitious and unprincipled adventurers, and of men whose aim and effort are to profit from the political subjugation of the masses. While the attack upon the liberties of the citizen may have behind it less of physical force than at times in the past, it is engineered by individuals no less venomous than formerly, and is supported by a party organization as vicious, as as ever, and as desperate in its methods. That the purpose of the insidious minority is to further enslave the people is proven by its recently promulgated platform of principles, and the conspiracy appears to be approved and supported by the chief executive of the Territory, who has only this week put in an official appeal to Congress to reduce the community to a condition of political servitude, with pronounced enemies for masters. The same old cry of hate is heard in the land, though there is reason to believe that it is echoed by fewer throats. The same old slanders are reiterated by the same venomous tongues, but fewer ears are ready to receive them.

That we have retained any of our constitutional rights as citizens, that any of the features of local self government are yet with us, are due to the fact that the good people have stood shoulder to shoulder and with solid front that was eagerly looking for a weak point or a break in the ranks. The people have been united in opposing the assaults upon their precious rights of citizenship, and to that fact can we credit whatever of success has attended us, and whatever of republican government remains. In the light of the past, in the observation of the present, in the contemplation of the future, it seems to me that the intelligence and wisdom of the people will suggest to them the absolute necessity of avoiding disunion; of drawing more closely together than ever for the preservation of their liberties. Safety for the individual and for the community demands the same unity of political action on the part of the bona fide citizens, that has given us victory in the past. In fact there is danger, in disunion there is destruction. In my opinion the risk is too great, the venture too perilous for any true friend of the Territory and her noble people to think for a moment of withdrawing allegiance from the party which has made it possible for all good citizens to live here in peace and to enjoy any of the rights which the Constitution and laws of the Republic guarantee to the individual. Let us go on as we have been going, together

HAVE FACED THE ENEMY

FIGHTING WRONG WITH RIGHT, opposing evil with good, unitedly working for the supremacy of Constitutional law, and as good citizens, always vigilant in guarding our individual and our community liberties. Let us avoid giving aid and comfort to the enemy.

Again thanking the people for their esteem and confidence as expressed by their representatives in the late convention, I now ask a popular confirmation of that confidence in the only way in which it can be given, namely: at the polls. I ask the votes of all true friends of our glorious Utah, and in return will promise that if elected, I will, as in the past, perform my whole duty as best I can, working for the interests of the loved Territory which we are all so desirous shall be allowed all her political and social rights, and early take her place in the galaxy of American States, one of the brightest stars in the firmament.

Very respectfully,

JOHN T. CAINE.
Salt Lake City, Utah, Nov. 1, 1888.

FROM SATURDAY'S DAILY, NOV. 3.

Child Drowned.

Last Sunday an eighteen months old son of Lawrence and Alice Dastup, of Salina, Richfield County, was accidentally drowned. There is a deep ditch passing Mr. Dastup's residence, and this was the scene of the sad fatality. The little fellow had been left in the care of an elder sister, who was doing the housework. In her labor she forgot the child for a short time. He had been absent from the doorstep about five minutes when his sister missed him and went to bring him in. Outside on the bank of the ditch, she saw a small wagon which the child had been playing with, and on going to the place was horrified at discovering her little brother lying motionless in the water. She seized him and ran to a neighbor's, where efforts were made to resuscitate the babe, but without success.

A New Volume.

A casual examination of the November number of the Contributor shows it to be an exceptionally fine one. It is the initial issue of volume ten, which opens with a number of improvements which enhance the appearance of the magazine. The matter is more than usually meritorious, and embraces a wide variety, as will be seen by the following table of contents:

Steel engraving: Portrait of Erasmus Snow, frontispiece; The Prophet and His Successor; Trip to Edmund Kean's Cottage, Root. W. Sloan; Engraving Jerusalem by Moonlight, Jos. M. Tanner; Thoughts on Civilization, George Reynolds; Some Tollers of the Sea, C. K. in Harper's Weekly; Cleanliness and Coolness, James E. Talmage; Literary Dram-Drinking, Spectator; A New Witness for God, H. B. Roberts; Art Sketches of the Yellowstone, Alfred Lamborne; Erasmus Snow (Biographical); Last Discourse of Apostle Erasmus Snow; The Religion of Robert Burns, I. Horatio; Editorial: The World's Unbelief, The Course of Heading; Truth—a poem, Orson F. Whitney; Association Intelligence.

Forcing the Law.

H. J. Christiansen, of Ogden, was before the commissioner on Wednesday, on the charge of unlawful cohabitation, and bound over to await the action of the grand jury. The defendant has been away for over three years, but has corresponded with the alleged plural wife, which was construed by his honor as cohabitation.

To-day O. N. Liljenquist had an investigation on the same charge, and the case was dismissed for the lack of evidence. An agreement had been made years ago between defendant and his wives to live according to the law, and this agreement had been strictly adhered to.

Hans J. Nielsen, of Logan, was also arrested Wednesday night and brought before the Commissioner next day on the charge of unlawful cohabitation. He has been away for over two years. He pleaded not guilty. The alleged plural wife was placed upon the stand, and testified that she was married to defendant about nine or ten years ago, at Salt Lake City. Mr. Nielsen went on a mission some two years ago, but had been away for some time previous to that; she had a home of her own, but had lived with his first wife while he was away. He came home about a week ago. She holds the deed for the property she lives on, and had made an agreement with defendant about three years ago to keep the law. Mr. Nielsen was bound over to await the action of the grand jury.

Peter Nielsen, of Logan, was arrested on Thursday night for unlawful cohabitation. He was placed under bonds to await preliminary examination.—Ogden Standard.

First District Court.

Yesterday's proceedings before Judge Judd:

United States vs. John Buchanan; unlawful cohabitation; order postponing sentence till next term.

People vs. Wm. Broadhead; killing cattle; trial, and verdict of not guilty.

People vs. Charles Hyde; grand larceny; demurrer overruled; plea of not guilty entered.

People vs. Wm. Gillis; grand larceny; defendant ordered to file bill of exceptions in twenty days.

Allen G. Campbell vs. Horace Holt; foreclosure of mortgage ordered.

People vs. Chas. Baker et al.; grand larceny; by suggestion of the District Attorney the defendants were found not guilty without the hearing of any witnesses.

People vs. Ed. Jones et al.; rape; demurrer sustained; defendant held on a new indictment.

James Tucker vs. W. C. McLaren; foreclosure of mortgage ordered.

The civil calendar will be set tomorrow.

Business transacted at Ogden by Judge Henderson:

In the case of Mary Grant vs. the Union Pacific Railway Company, the motion to relieve costs was denied. The case of Nels Jensen vs. the Union Pacific Railway Company, suit for damages for stock killed, was concluded and given to the jury. A verdict in favor of plaintiff, assessing his damages at $260.66, was rendered.

The following defendants are ordered to appear and plead on Nov. 9th: Unlawful cohabitation—Daniel Hill, Robert Baxter, Wm. H. Maughan, Charles Bailey, Willard Hansen, Richard Thoru, Henry Barran, Samuel Obery, Thomas Obery, Oliver Smith, Asablon Woolf, Wm. T. Higby, Henry Brown, Sr., and Hans Nielson.

Perjury—Wm. Evans.

Adultery—James Kemp and John Girard.

Fornication—Catherine E. Graehl.

Assault with intent to kill—Lewis Cunningham.

Malicious mischief—John W. Taylor, Lars Johnson and John Deo.

Two jurors were excused for the term, and the others were excused on Thursday, Nov. 8th, the court stating that on Monday they would probably wish to attend the laying of the depot corner stone. Tuesday was election day and on Wednesday some of them would probably be "too sober or too something else" to feel like attending court.

PRIESTHOOD MEETING.

The Priesthood meeting held in the Assembly Hall today was largely attended; all the wards of the Stake being represented by their presiding officers with the exception of the Eighth Ward of the city, and Sugar House, Big Cottonwood and Brighton of the country.

Ten quorums of Elders were properly represented, as were also officers of the Lesser Priesthood belonging to the Eleventh and Sixteenth wards of this city, and Sugar House, Mill Creek, Big Cottonwood, Granite, North Jordan, Brighton and Hunter. Seventeen young brethren were recommended to be ordained Elders, and the meeting endorsed the ordination of twelve more that had been ordained during the last two months, some of whom had departed on missions.

As is the usual custom all of the brethren were interrogated with regard to honoring their positions in the higher Priesthood before their ordination to the office of Elder was authorized. It having been reported in the meeting that some brethren did not attend their quorum meetings as faithfully as they should after being ordained Elders, while others absented themselves entirely from them, the question was asked what was to be done with such members particularly the absentees.

Prest. Angus M. Cannon said: Where men, young or old, are indifferent with regard to their calling in the priesthood, Teachers should be sent to labor kindly with delinquents and if they fail to make an impression upon them or get them to sense their position, prefer a charge against them to their Bishops and let them be dealt with if they will not then repent. It is a serious thing to make promises here or with each other, and then turn around and ignore them. A man that will break his covenants and degrade his priesthood is not worthy the name that he hears, no matter what his position may be. Labor faithfully with the erring, and when we have exhausted all the power that God has given us to reclaim them, let the law governing such cases take its course. Covenants made here cannot be violated with impunity.

There is another subject that should not be lost sight of; that is that every man be honored in his position, no matter what his calling may be. Any Elder that is derelict in his duties is responsible, and if the presidents of quorums are as wide awake as they should be they would call these transgressors to account in the manner provided. If any member of a quorum stays away from his meetings two or three times, and is remiss in his duties in other directions, ascertain the cause, as I have stated, and act as the case justifies.

A word concerning recommends to the houses of the Lord. Let every Bishop see to it that the brethren's names be prefixed by the word Elder in every instance. Keep this in view always. I again ask you, as I have on other occasions, when recommending men to be ordained Elders, state what office they hold in the Lesser Priesthood, for, as a rule, brethren are not prepared to officiate as Elders until they have magnified the Aaronic Priesthood and given evidence of their worthiness to be promoted.

Bishop John R. Winder exhorted the brethren to be faithful in discharging every duty required at their hands. The meeting then adjourned for one month.

POLITICS IN IDAHO.

Prosecuting Persons who have Withdrawn from the Church.

POCATELLO, Idaho, Nov. 2. [Special to the DESERET NEWS]—The political situation in Idaho is decidedly unique, so far at least as the "Mormon" population in this Territory is concerned. The infamous test oath, which has worked so successfully heretofore in preventing the "Mormon" element from exercising the rights of franchise, is now being wrestled with in a spirit of determination and even desperation. Your readers are already aware that the late ruling of Judge Berry forbids every eligible voter belonging to the Mormon Church from voting. Therefore, if the "Mormons" would enjoy their civil rights, there remains but one thing for them to do, so it is said, namely: to withdraw from membership in their Church.

From what I can learn, quite a number of "Mormon" voters have

SACRIFICED FELLOWSHIP in their church, rather than remain
