THE DEMISE OF JOHN JAQUES.

Another Prominent Citizen of the State Passes Away.

HAD A VERY USEFUL LIFE.

Was Assistant Church Historian, and Once a Valuable Member of the "News" Staff-Funeral Tomorrow.

John Jaques died at his home, 520 east South Temple street, at 6 o'clock last evening of Bright's disease, after an illness of seven weeks. Prior to the attack of that dreadful malady Mr. Jaques had been a very healthy and active man, and the rapidity with which the disease sapped his vitality and laid him low, was remarkable. John Jaques was the assistant historian of the Church of Jeaus Christ of Latter-day Saints, and general Church recorder, In those positions he was eminently effi-He was born in Market Bosworth, Leicestershire, England, on January 7, 1827, and had consequently attained to a ripe old age. In his youth he joined the "Mormon" Church, and emigrated to Utah in 1818, being a member of the famous handcart company. His brave heart and cheerful nature did much towards encouraging the more desponde members of the company. When members of the company, When a young man he evinced no mean literary ability, and was given a position on the Millennial Star, then located in London. He held that position until his departure for Utah.

Soon after his arrival in Salt Lake, Soon after his arrival in Sali Lake, Mr. Jaques secured a position on the Daily Telegraph, which was published by T. B. H. Stenhouse. He followed the paper to Ogden, but subsequently accepted the position of associate editor of the Deseret News. His work was always satisfactory being a careful, painstaking writer, and at the same time forceful. After serving the "News" a few years he was called to a position in the historian's office, where he labored carefully and assiduously he labored carefully and assiduously during the remainder of his life. He rose to the position of assistant Church historian and general Church recorder,

John Jaques was a strong man, his abilities rising high above the average. He was useful wherever he was placed, and performed several missions abroad. He is the author of the catechism, a most valuable work for the children of the Saints. He was not a demonstra-tive man, and everyone did not gain access into the inner circles of his life, but those who did enjoy his confidence and who knew his heart, knew him to be genuine. A man of atrong charac-ter and one who would lay his head on the block for a conviction. He is survived by seven children, six sons and one daughter, all of whom have reached the age of maturity. The funeral will be held from the fwelfth ward chapel tomorrow at 12

Friends of the family may view the remains between the hours of 9 and 11 a. m., at residence, No. 530 east South Temple street.

TO TABERNACLE BASSOS.

Greeting-While a little tardy in replying we accept your flowery invitation for a game of baseball that appeared in the "News" some time ago and are eager to show you the kind of baseball article we have in stock.

We agree to all the conditions imposed in your challenge and would make this suggestion: That you make arrangements to have from your admirers and sympathizers, the altos, a hospital corps, to apply balm to the lacerated feelings of your bassos, when the empire cries "It is enough." While our ability to crow musically or otherwise is conceeded we will avoid any undue boasting until we lay you on the battlefield. We do think it necessary to make any wagers, as the glory achieved will be enough for the victors. We suggest that the fracus occur at the Walker's field on Monday the 11th inst at 5.30 p. m., satisfactory arrangements can be made the bassos are invited to meet with the tenors for practice at the University of campus next Tuesday evening at 6:30. Respectfully yours, THE TENORS.

PRIESTROOD MEETING.

The Priesthood of the Salt Lake Stake of Zion convened in the Assembly hall, Salt Lake City, on Friday, June 1st, 1900, at 7 p. m., President Angus M. Cannon and counselors presiding. Patriarch John Smith was present. Singing. Prayer by Elder George J.

Taylor, Singing. Roll called showing as follows:

Seven High Councilors, Elder William Asper, of the Presidency of the High Priests quorum, and ten home mission All the wards of the Stake were properly represented, excepting the Twelfth and Twenty-third wards of the city. All the quorums of Elders were represented by their presiding officers and a number of the members; the Lesser Priesthood by members from the First, Second, Fourth, Eleventh, Tweifth, Thirteenth, Fourteenth, Figure 11, Sixteenth Eighteenth, Twenth, Twen eth, Twenty-first, Twenty-fourth and Center wards; the Sunday schools and Young Men's Mutual Improvement Associations by the Stake superintendency thereof, and the German meetings of Salt Lake City by their president and both counselors.

Upon the recommendation of their cived certificates authorizing their respective Bishops five young men received certificates authorizing their ordination to the office of Elder, each one promising to bonor and magnify this calling to the best of his ability.

The Presidency of the Stake addressed the meeting, and in answer to several questions received.

ENUMERATORS AT WORK.

Census Takers Have Entered the Field -217 Men and Women.

The army of 217 census enumerators are now in the field and are working rapidly, ecording to the system that has been established every enumerator will have to work diligently. In Salt Lake City there are fifty-five enumerators, of which number twenty-five are women and thirty are men. There are a number of school teachers among them who, according to Supervisor Pratt, make very fine enumerators. are also a few letter carriers among them, who are very valuable on account of their familiarity with the streets and the people.

Every population gatherer is supplied with a badge and a portfolio, that they may be distinguished wherever they are. They are all required to report each night his day's work, one copy of the report being sent to the office in this city, another copy being forwarded to the census bureau at Weshington.

Within a few minutes after the reports are in Mr. Pratt will know the population of Salt Lake, and of Utah, but it will not be made public until done so officially at Washington. The returns can only be secured from Washington in advance of the official publication upon the application of the Governor of Utah or the Mayer of Salt

SALTAIR VISITED.

Historical Society of the University Takes Part in Anniversary Exercises.

The Historical Society of the University went to Saltair yesterday and took part in the anniversary exercises in honor of Brigham Young. The party went out early in the afternoon and after the program the students sat down to a dainty lunch, which was served by the girls. College yells were given, and in the evening dancing was the chief amusement. This is the last trip to be taken this year by the society historic spots in and around Salt ke City. The Historical Society of the University was organized in January under the supervision of Mr. S. E. Young, and weekly meetings have been held where historical subjects have been discussed. The officers where chosen from the students doing work in history and they have labored dill-gently to make the new organization a success. Mr. Arthur Adams is pres-ident and Mr. Claude Barnes, secretary. These with an able program committee have taken energetic interest in their work and have done much to create love for the many spots and objects of orical significance in our State Their work is bound to prove of much good in the educational work in Utah.

NOTED INSTRUCTOR HERE. Prof. John M. Coyner Pays a Visit to His Old Home.

Prof. John M. Coyner, the man who founded the Salt Lake Collegiate Institute, arrived in Salt Lake yesterday afternoon from St. Louis, where he has been attending the Presbyterian general assembly. He will remain here to attend the commencement exercises of the institute and the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the found-ing. He will then continue on to South-California, where he now lives, This is Mr. Coyner's first visit to Salt Lake since May 5, 1885, when he was forced to quit his post and leave the city on account of ill health. He graduated from Hanover Coilege, Indiana, in 1852, and at once took up teaching as his calling. He came to Salt Lake and in 1875 established what is now the Col-legiate Institute. He removed to Pasathe Sierra Madre College, and from 1887 to 1889 was professor of natural sciences in Occidental College at Los Angeles, but he was forced to resign on account of his physical condition. He had the misfortune to lose his wife in 1887.

POLICE SUITS DISMISSED.

Girls' Actions for Damages Against Chief Hilton are Withdrawn.

Mrs. Carney and Mrs. Dahl, mothers of two of the girls who were subjected to a physical examination at the police station some time ago, have withdrawn the damage suits instituted against Chief Hilton, Detective Sheets, Policeman Davies and Health Commissioner King. The plaintiffs demanded $2,000 each. The terms of the dismissal cannot be learned. It is known, however, that the attorneys for the plaintins, Wilson & Smith, obtained the amount of their fees from the de-fendants. The mother of Hattle Dahl says she did not receive a cent from the defendants. The suit of Pearl Kess. ler, by her mother, asking for $3,000 judgment, is still pending.

The Salt Lake Stake conference convened this morning at 10 o'clock in the Assembly Hall, President Angus M. Cannon presiding. The congregation joined the choir in singing the hymn Redeemer of Israel.

Prayer was offered by Elder A. W. Winberg.

Elder Thomas C. Griggs, stake superintendent of Sabbath schools, spoke briefly in report of the Sunday schools, which manifest an interest not only on the Sabbath day but also in their meetings during the week, and in preparing themselves for their work when they meet with their classes. They are working in harmony with the authorities of the ward. He felt to speak com-mendatory of the labors of the aides to the Stake superintendency. The spirit of the Lord attends them in their labors, and the work in the Sunday schools is advancing.

Sister M. I. Horne, president of the Rellef Societies of Salt Lake Stake said that the Rellef Society organizations in the various branches were in a very prosperous condition and the officers are progressive and desirous of accom-plishing a great work, and in every espect fully alive to their duties. The principles of the Gospel are lief Societies are becoming worn out and the speaker urged that more of the younger women join with them, and promised them great blessings if they would do so.

Sister Nellie C. Taylor, president of the Young Ladies' Mutual Improvement associations, said that the young ladies of Zion were trying to fit themselves for positions that will come to them in after life. The girls of the associa-tions are girls of fasting and prayer. Many of them have gone out in the wards as missionaries and have visited young ladles laboring in the homes of outsiders, and have interested them in the work of mutual improvement and much good had been accomplished. Sister Cornella C. Cobb, president of the Primary Associations of Salt Lake Stake, stated that much good was being accomplished among the children in the Primary Associations and genwas blessing the officers in their labors.

They were teaching the children the law of tithing and other principles of the Gospel, and endeavoring to start them out in the right path so that they would grow up to be useful men and women in the Church and kingdom of Sister Georgia Young, president f the Kindergarten Associations, stated that on account of the smallpox scare the school for the children that started in the Templeton building during the beginning of the year had been discontinued and had not been recommenced. The school that was being taught by Sister Smith, to prepare kindergarten teachers, was still being carried on with great success. The speaker urged upon the parents the necessity of having their daughters prepare themselves for kindergarten work. It better fitted them for the re-sponsibilities of motherhood, a duty which many of our young girls were seemingly inclined to shirk.

Elder John Kirkman was the next speaker. He stated that the people of the Salt Lake Stake were doing remarkably well in their tithe-paying and offerings, and an increase was being made each month. It was gratifying to the speaker to know that so many of the young people were improving in their duties in this respect, and were showing their faith by their works. Whenever the people had lived up to this duty they felt well and the Lord was blessing them.

President Joseph F. Smith was pleased to see so many present, but sorry that more of the Later-day Saints did not take an interest in the opening sessions of Stake conferences. was more interest manifested in the cutside Stakes of Zion than in Salt Lake. The people turned out in the busiest times and attended to their spiritual duties, and they were greatly blessed in doing so. The speaker assured the people that Zion was growing and he hoped that it would grow in Salt Lake Stake, and that the people would awaken to their duties. The Latterday Salnis were being wanted to go to various parts of the country to coloniza the land. People of the world look to-ward the Latter-day Saints to build up the country. They have confidence in us and whenever they want men of integrity and men skilled in tilling the soil they look toward the Latter-day Saints. The hand of the Lord is in this, and we are bound to grow and in-

The speaker told of the blessings and privileges of the people of this dispen-sation, and urged upon the people to keep the commandments of the Lord and live near unto Him. There has been great interest manifested in our speakers' contest and good in being done by that contest. It has created a desire to study and learn.

The speaker referred to the great benefit of Church school training to our young men. Those who had been trained in these institutions seldom had their faith shaken, while those who had never attended our Church schools.

never attended our Church scho and were drawn away from the Church for a season very often grew cold to-ward their faith and good works. Too many of us are looking after the things of this world and neglecting the work of the Lord. We should examine our-selves to see whether we are living as we should. We should be progressing all the time-learn something every day, and live better every year than ve did the previous year. Elder Wm. B. Freston said that the people ought not to allow anything to interfere with them in attending their conference meetings. There is a time for everything and we ought to do everything in its proper time, and not allow our business to interfere with our spiritual duties. If we fail to atour spiritual duties. If we fail to at-tend any of our meetings, we fail to receive the spirit of those meetings and the benefits of the instructions imparted at them. There are many of the at them. There are many of the Priesthood absent from this conference. They ought to be present to receive the instructions from those placed over them, so that they may the better carry on their duties.
