DR. PRICE'S Cream Baking Powder

A PURE, WHOLESOME, RELIABLE CREAM OF TARTAR BAKING POWDER

Its superiority is unquestioned
Its fame world-wide
Its use a protection and a guarantee against alum food

Cream of tartar is derived from grapes. It is used in Dr. Price's Baking Powder in the exact form and composition in which it occurs in that luscious, healthful fruit. A pound of rich, ripe grapes contains a quantity of cream of tartar equivalent to that required to make baking powder sufficient to raise a dozen ordinary-sized hot tea biscuit. The healthfulness of Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is beyond question.

Alum Baking Powders are Condemned by Physicians

Fifty-two different brands of alum and alum-phosphate baking powders were recently analyzed by an official chemist. In every one of these fifty-two different brands sulphuric acid was reported in large quantities, frequently greater than twenty-five per cent of the whole weight of the baking powder!

Chemical tests show that a portion of the alum from alum baking powder remains as such and unaltered in the bread.

Alum baking powders are extravagant. They cost but two cents a pound to make, yet they are sold at twenty-five cents a pound, or twenty-five ounces for twenty-five cents.

But, can the housewife afford, no matter at what price, to use a baking powder which puts alum and sulphuric acid in her food?

A recent issue of the Aitchison, Kan., Globe contains quite an account of the arrival there on a practice march of the Eighteenth United States Infantry from Fort Leavenworth, in full regimental marching order, with 12 companies. The narrative includes the following paragraph of local interest: "A chaplain accompanies the regiment; Chaplain Axton. The officers speak very highly of him. He has not held services on the march, so far, but the officers say he is always at work among the men, providing amusement, etc. Last night, in the camp above Rushville, Chaplain Axton started an impromptu concert. There will be another around the campfire at Forest park tonight. The first night out, the regiment camped near John McAdams's, 15 miles southwest of Aitchison. There is a little church near the camp ground, and revival services were being held. The soldiers crowded the building, and joined in the hymns, and Chaplain Axton delivered an address. He will hold regular services when the troops camp tomorrow."

WEDDING OF TOTS.

Liliputian Marriage Ceremony in the First Presbyterian Church.

There was a large attendance at the Liliputian wedding last night in the First Presbyterian church, where Miss Katherine Sweaty, the four years old bride, was united hypothetically to Master Joel Priest, Jr., future editor of the Washington Tinker. The bridal party was composed of the Misses Ruth Farnsworth, Agnes Coffey, Evelyn Francis, Priscilla Stahr, Glen Walker, Helen Hutchinson, Donald McKee, Ned Critchlow, Donald McMillan, Ross Hutchinson, John Caffrey, Andrew Caffrey, Donald Caror, George Igleheart, William Igleheart, Jr., Harold McMillan. The Sunday school rooms of the church were decorated with yellow chrysanthemums and plumosa, a canopy being arranged of the flowers and ferns beneath which the bridal party stood. An orchestra was in attendance, and played the Mendelssohn wedding march. The ushers were in full evening dress, and the bridesmaids in picturesque gowns carried bouquets of chrysanthemums, with a ring bearer leading and carrying the ring in a flower. The bride wore a full veil which covered her satin gown, and carried a large bouquet of roses. The ceremony was William Igleheart, Jr., who was "strictly into his job," and "did it up brown."

The ceremony was an exact imitation of the real article, and was much enjoyed. The remainder of the evening was occupied with a social.

"GOLD GOLD"

"Good," He Says, "But Comfort Better."

"Food that fits is better than a gold mine," says a grateful man.

"Before I commenced to use Grape-Nuts food no man on earth ever had a worse affliction from catarrh of the stomach than I had for years."

"I could eat nothing but the very lightest food and even that gave me great distress."

"I went through the catalogue of prepared foods but found them all (except Grape-Nuts) more or less indigestible, generating gas in the stomach, (which in turn produced headache and various other pains and aches) and otherwise unavailable for my use."

"Grape-Nuts food I have found easily digested and assimilated, and it has renewed my health and vigor and made me a well man again. The catarrh of the stomach has disappeared entirely with all its attendant ills, thanks to Grape-Nuts, which now is my almost sole food. I want no other." CACHE VALLEY CONDENSED MILK AND CREAMERY CO.'S EXHIBIT AT STATE FAIR.

The Cache Valley Condensed Milk & Creamery Co., of LOAN, are most certainly coming to the front in the manufacture of their new product, the Honeyuckle Evaporated Cream.

The Hansen, four star full cream cheese and Royal Butter, manufactured by the same company for more than seventeen years, are well known and are favorites, having given during these years the highest satisfaction.

The Honeyuckle cream made by the above named company has been steadily winning its way in the western markets against all competition most successfully, until at present it has a large and increasing trade. During the past few days it has been on exhibition at the Pure Food Show at the Utahia Park in competition with all the leading Creams known to the trade, it was also exhibited at the state fair, and at both places was sampled by thousands of people and is universally praised and commended. After a most careful and thorough test by the judges (who by the way was one of the judges of this product at the St. Louis Fair) the Honeyuckle Cream was awarded the first prize for the best cream manufactured in Utah and complimented as an article of the very highest class. The Fair Association awarded it the Gold Medal. The cream also carried the Z. C. M. L. special prize for the best Cream in Utah.
