DEMOCRATS WILL RALLY TONIGHT.

Blg Meeting at the Theater When Thomas Jenkins Passed Away at Case Against Co'orado Investment Leading Speakers Will Discuss Local Issues.

SLOGAN: MORRIS MEANS MORE.

Judge Powers the Principal Speaker, Preceded by Brief Talks From a Number of Others.

Tonight at the Salt Lake Theater the Democrats will fire the first big gun of their campaign, in the form of a raily in which their leading speakers will discuss local issues. It is promise'i that only problems now before the city will be touched upon, and that the issues upon which the Democrats will wage their campaign will be declared to be the necessity for a business administration of the kind that "Mayor Morris stands ready to give more of.' The slogan is "Morris means More" and it will be displayed on large banners draped across the back of the stage, and in other conspicuous places. A large force of men are at work this afternoon making ready for the convention at the Theater.

The principal orator of the evening is Judge O. W. Powers. His speech comes last on the program, and is preceded by lalks from Maj. Richard W. Young, Senator Simon Bamberger, L. R. Mar-tineau, Frank E. Stephens, Fisher Har-ris and James H. Moyle. Munic will be furnished by Held's band and the Utah

REPUBLICAN SLOGAN.

REPUBLICAN SLOGAN.

While the Democratic forces are assembled at the Theater tonight, the Republicans will loosen up with a brand new campaign cry, which is to remain as their slogan. It will be displayed in a blaze of electric lights above the buildings at Second South and East Temple street and will be lighted up each evening until the election. The slogan is "We're not ashamed of Salt Lake," and on the electric sign it is followed by a line "Vote the Republican ticket." The inspiration for the cry was furnished by Chairman Weir of the American party, who confessed in the American party convention that he and his party were ashamed of the city and had to disguise the fact that they got a living here, when away on a visit, by putting some other town down in the hotel book as the place they came from. the place they came from.
