Frederickshagen will not go to England—Attempted suicide by a lady—Divorces prayed for.

CHICAGO.—The Post this evening says, Frederickshagen having finally declined the ministry to England, the President has tendered the appointment to Senator Trumbull, who however declined, preferring to remain in the Senate.

This afternoon Mrs. Clark, a young widow lady in this city, attempted suicide, while driving in her carriage along Washington St., near State, by showing the ball entered her breast.
The physicians say she cannot recover.
Perry Jordan, an old and well-known actor, died in this city, yesterday, aged 58 years.

Proceedings for a divorce instituted in the Circuit Court of this county, yesterday, by Mrs. Jeanette Sikes, against her husband, Wm. Sikes, the well-known writer, and President of the Authors' Union at New York, a decree being asked upon the ground of desertion and failure to support his family.

A singular case was commenced in the same court yesterday, one Edward Woolfbeck praying for the nullification of his marriage, on the ground that he was married while ill and temporarily deranged, without his knowledge or consent.

NEW YORK.

Account from a Rouane General—Loss in the recent battle—Interesting correspondence to the "Tribune"—The army of the Rhine completely demoralized—Irish patriots organizing—A sight of the wounded—Germans rejoicing—Rumored reverse to the Prussians—Republicans threatening in Spain and Italy.

NEW YORK, 16.—A Herald cable special gives a letter from Gen. Beeche, commanding the Zouaves in McMahon's corps. He says he did not receive a scratch, but of sixty-five of his officers forty-seven were killed, wounded and missing. The soldiers fought like lions.
We had 35,000 against 100,000. Mc-Mahon behaved splendidly. He did all that man could do, but had not men enough. We have 500 or 600 Zouaves left, and will probably be sent to Strasbourg to reform.

A cable special to the Herald, dated London, 16th, says: "According to the last reliable advice the evacuation of Metz was delayed by the advance guard of the Crown Prince. Reports from Verdun state that a great battle is going on, but the silence of the French authorities confirms a rumor received here of the Prussian victory. Great consternation was produced in Paris by the declaration of a state of siege in Algeria."

NEW YORK, 18.—A special to the Herald, dated London 17th, says the French army of the Rhine has received a coup de grace, near Metz, and is now in disastrous retreat towards Verdun, in a shattered condition; the soldiers individually are desperate. The Emperor is believed to be yet the actual commander of the army.

A meeting of the Irish Nationalists was held last evening, and resolutions were passed requesting John Mitchell, Charles O'Connor, Richard O'Connell, Wm. E. Robinson, Chas. P. Daley, Gen. Martin McMahon, Jno. McKeon, Emmett Bryan, Lawence, Dennis Quinn and Michael Phelan to act as directors for the government of the Irish fund in America, in case complications arising out of the present European war should enable Irishmen in every clime to unite in striking a blow for their mother land.

A Tribune correspondent writes "as we neared Worth there was a constant stream of wagons, bringing down the wounded men, Prussians and Bavarians, Turcos, and Frenchmen of the line.
They bore the misery of the road in equal silence; it was rare to hear a cry, though the poor fellows' faces showed much pain. They were a sadder sight than men who lay grimly on the hill side.
Worth itself was a mere hospital, and all the inhabitants were either nursing the wounded or burying the dead. It was an evil fate for the fine picturesque little place, that more than a hundred thousand, on one side and the other, should have settled their quarrel so near at hand. Of the coming movements I must not say a word. Among the events of yesterday was the capture of the little fortress of Leuchtersburg, where a large amount of military stores are reported to have been captured.
The assailants fired heavily into the place, and we heard their guns booming all yesterday forenoon."

The German vessels in this port hoisted their flags yesterday, and the Bremen steamer fired a salute at sunrise, noon and at sunset. On account of the war news from the German army captured.
ing all yesterday forenoon."

It is reported that the house in Twenty-third St., in which the Nathan murder was committed, has been sold for seventy thousand dollars.
The World's London special says:
"We have no account of a French victory at the crossing of the Moselle but the Emperor's official dispatch; there are rumors, though to-night, that the Prussians have suffered a most serious defeat, with an enormous loss of men, and have been driven back to the river. The rumors do not come from the French government, which manifests a singular indifference to public opinion, probably in consequence of the military character imposed upon it by its head, the Count of Palikao. Disturbances in Paris have not been renewed, but there are continual rumors, traceable to the Stock Exchange, of Republican demonstrations.
From Madrid there are more authentic indications of Republican outbreaks, and there is no doubt that Italy is threatened with immediate trouble." The Tribune's cable special from London, to-day, says our special correspondent writes on the appearance of the field after the battle. He says the French loss was ten thousand killed and wounded, and seven thousand prisoners; the German loss was seven thousand.

The Tribune's cable from London today says: "Our special correspondent writes from Paris, on Monday night, that Sunday's battle was only a semblance of success, or a mitigation of disaster, the Germans having cut off all railroad communication with Metz.
Bazaine commenced a retreat across the Moselle, and proposed to follow the ordinary highway road towards Verdun, where half the army was across the river he was surprised and attacked by a large force of the enemy, who, after four hours fighting, were repulsed with great loss. From appearances the Prussians once more out-generated the French, and got round in great force to the side of the river by which Bazaine meant to retire and covered his retreat. All parties seem to concur that every consideration must give way to the necessities of the hour. The Ministry work incessantly.
The Minister of War has done wonders within a few days: He has sent enormous reinforcements to the front, and others are following as rapidly, and munitions of war of all kinds and provisions are being despatched as fast as trains can convey them. The corps en-muse proceed with immense rapidity.
Corps of free shooters are organized all over the country; those of the Vosges are beginning to torment the enemy. Preparations for the defense of Paris are progressing rapidly."

PRUSSIA.

Another Prussian Victory.—The Newspapers crowding.—Will pay the Exilesfare home.

BERLIN, 16.—The little Fort of Henry capitulated, after a short bombardment to the second Bavarian army corps; a great quantity of provisions and six guns were captured.

The following despatch is from King William to the Queen: "Henry, 15th, 7 30 p. m. I have just returned from the battle field near Metz; the advance of the seventh corps attacked the enemy, who instantly reinforced from the fort.
The thirteenth division and part of the fourteenth sustained the advance. The conflict was desperate, involving the entire line. The enemy was repulsed at all points and pursued to the confines of the detached works, near the fortress, which enabled the enemy to give shelter to their wounded. Our wounded were cared for. By daybreak the troops returned in incredible and admirable energy. I have gone among them. I have spoken to Generals Steinmetz, Sensibar and Gobel."

The following official despatch, dated 15th, at about four o'clock in the afternoon, is just made public: "Our advance, finding themselves before Metz, and believing the enemy who were encamped under the walls about to retreat, Gen.
Gais' brigade was ordered to attack the rear guard of Marshal Bazaine's corps.
A violent combat ensued. The second brigade then advanced under Oster-house, and immediately the divisions of Generals Kamecke and Wrangle participated, driving the enemy at all points; in the meanwhile the French Gen. L.
Adivault endeavored to flank the first corps, but was attacked by the reserves, which advanced with drums beating under Gen. Martensfeld. The enemy was splendidly repulsed and driven into the fortifications. Many were captured.
Our troops advanced to Belle Croix, and barely within range of the outposts."

This morning the King made a reconnaissance on the field of battle, visiting the advance post, to ensure the transportation of the wounded French and Prussians alike, to a point above Rouks, on the right of the Moselle. From this point the enemy was invisible in the folds of dust. We infer therefore that their main body has parted.

Edmond About, a correspondent of the Safr, has been heard from; he is alive and well and on the way to Paris.
General Causade, commander at Lyons, has issued a proclamation warning the people against future disturbances, and announcing the readiness of the authorities to repress them.

The Federal Council has voted to reimburse each native of Germany expelled from France the cost of his passage home.

BERLIN.—The newspapers loudly assert their belief that, if the Prussians defeat the French and reach Paris, no serious defense of the city could be made.

GREAT BRITAIN.

A Confederate soldier in trouble—Strike of miners—The Strasburg garrison repulsed—Eugene preparing for fight—The French army in a starving condition—600,000 Prussians in France—

LONDON, 16.—One Brady, a Confederate soldier, who served under Stone-well Jackson, has been arrested for attempting to kill Captain Elliott, an English magistrate; jealousy is said to be the cause.

The following recaptures are published to-day: 600,000 German soldiers are now in France, carrying the needle gun. After them come the reserves, the entire male population of able bodied Germans. This mass is distributed in three portions: the army of the Saver, the army of the Rhine and the army of the South. Frederick Charles commands the army of the Rhine; as leader of centre, on his right, advancing south-east of Luxembourg, is the first army or that of the Saar, under Gen.
Steinmetz; the Prince's left is the third, or Southern army, led by Prince Frederick William, heir to the crown. Under the latter are 250,000 men; under Gen. Steinmetz 200,000, total 450,000 men.

Steinmetz has nearly seven hundred guns. The Crown Prince six hundred and sixty and Frederick Charles six hundred and sixty, total over 2,000 guns; in other words Steinmetz has fifty battalions of infantry, forty-eight squadrons of horse, thirty-two battalions of artillery; Prince Charles has 197 battalions of infantry, 52 squadrons of horse and 110 batteries, and the Crown Prince has 192 battalions of infantry, 164 squadrons and 114 batteries.

A correspondent of the Daily News, writing from Luxembourg, says the result of Monday's battle was to force the Germans back.

The journals of Paris call upon the citizens to await, with confidence, the war news.

The growing unpopularity of the Emperor is due to his interference in army, instead of leaving it to experts.
The telegraph has been cut by the Prussians near Metz. Fighting seems to have been good for a week, with decisive results. The French are ready to fight to the end. If the Prussians approach Paris a revolution there is inevitable. The Times says the Emperor now sees how grossly he has been misled as to his war establishment, and how the public money has been squandered; he can also see how he has been misguided at the anti-Prussian feeling in Hanover, Bavaria, Saxony, &c. It is said that boxes containing Napoleon's property are arriving at Madrid. Similar stories come from Belgium.

LONDON, 17.—Last evening the Strasburg garrison made a sortie toward Oryard, but was driven back with heavy loss of men and three guns.

It is fully confirmed that the Empress Eugenie has applied to Belgium for permission to traverse that country in going to England.

The North German schooner Pfeil has been seized by a French war steamer. The Times says the French army received its finishing blow at Metz. A decisive battle will be fought at Chalons, after which English intervention.

Correspondents of the various London papers confirm the reports, previously published, that the French army entered the last conflict in a starving condition.

FRANCE.

Rumors from the seat of war.

PARIS, 5 a.m.—The Journal Officiel gives nothing fresh this morning; the Gaulois, however, states that important and satisfactory dispatches were received here yesterday. Bazaine insists on secrecy, yet it is reported that Prince Frederick Charles has demanded a truce, and an armistice to bury the dead, which were refused. There is no doubt that the fighting has been going on since Saturday, since which the French have been in great strategical movements, involving a series of engagements and operating in a place where communication is difficult. The telegraph wires were cut, and news was necessarily sent slowly. There is great agitation in the city; crowds were all night at the Ministry of the Interior and other places, where the news was posted.

REVOLUTION IN MEDICINE!

THERE is no disease but Walker's Vinegar Bitters will cure. Their great success in healing all ailments is proving to the world that doctors are the greatest humbugs of the age. Mr. Walker challenges the medical fraternity to show him a disease for which his BITTERS are not a cure, and if it can be he stands ready to donate FIVE HUNDRED DOL-LARS to any benevolent institution in the United States to be managed by the person who will prove that the above assertion is not true.
