

MAJOR USES HIS VETO PEN.
Disapproves Report Postponing Paving of South Temple Street.

GIVES REASONS THEREFOR
Says This Work Should be Begun This Year and Proposed Reservoir Should Come Later.

Mayor Thompson late this afternoon vetoed the report of the finance committee postponing the paving of east South Temple street and setting aside $75,000 to be used this year in partially constructing the Parley's canyon storage reservoir. The veto follows in full:

To the Honorable President and Members of the City Council, Salt Lake City, Utah:

Gentlemen: I hereby return the report No. 426 and 501 in the matter of the report No. 271 from the committee on streets, proposing that paving of Brigham street be postponed until next year, and that $75,000 be set aside this year to be used later for the purpose of building a storage reservoir in Parley's canyon, without my approval, for the following reasons:

The work of paving Brigham street should be commenced at least this year. The outlay for such improvement would not be very much more than that from year to year, as it is proposed by this report or resolution.

As to the second proposed proposition, "that when the tax levy is made, one mill less be levied for the next year, and one mill added to the water department. With that and the surplus money received from water taxes and part of the money derived from the sale of the old City Hall corner, the sum of at least $75,000 be set aside this year and used for the building of the reservoir in Parley's canyon, and by so doing it can be partially used next year for storing water." By this plan is proposed to reduce the revenue for the street department, and thus practically cripple that department, so that no improvements can be made on our streets. This step I deem very unwise.

The expenditure of $75,000 or double that amount, on a reservoir in Parley's canyon of such capacity as the future needs of this city will necessarily require, could not be used next year for the storage of water. An unfinished reservoir is certainly no impracticable for the storage of water of any consequence. If this report of the committee is finally adopted, I am afraid that the paving of Brigham street, well as the reservoir in Parley's canyon will be indefinitely delayed.

A storage reservoir of one billion gallons capacity should be constructed in Parley's canyon at an early date. Such a reservoir, according to the judgment of the city engineer, would cost from $200,000 to $300,000. A storage reservoir of 1,000,000 gallons capacity would be built at the intake of the high line in City Creek canyon. The cost would be about $400,000.

In my judgment, the money for these contemplated improvements should be raised by bonds and not by direct taxation, as proposed by the resolution. The question of bonding the city for these specific purposes should be submitted to a vote of the taxpayers of the city. If the vote would be favorable, then the work should be commenced at once and rapidly pushed to completion.

I sincerely believe that the welfare of the inhabitants of Salt Lake City requires the above mentioned improvement, and prompt completion of the same to accomplish its results. I am, very respectfully, EZRA THOMPSON, Mayor.
