LOSES BOTH LEGS UNDER CAR WHEELS

Bert C. Whitcomb Misses Footing and Falls Beneath San Pedro Train.

HE ALSO FRACTURES SKULL.

Endeavors to Alight at Third South
Crossing While Coming Home
From Work at Garfield.

Bert C. Whitcomb, an employee of the Garfield smelter, is at St. Mark's hospital suffering from serious injuries being run over by a San Pedro train. Both legs were amputated as a result of the accident, and the unfortunate victim has a fracture of the skull.

Whitcomb came in from Garfield on the 6 o'clock train, and as was his custom, stepped off the car as it rather slowly crossed Third South street. He alighted from the front platform of the last car, and as he was about to step down, he was struck by the wheels of the train. He was thrown under the wheels. Both legs were completely severed, between the ankle and the knee, and one of the feet was crushed. He was lying on the ground, having been overlooked when the injured man was conveyed in the patrol wagon to St. Mark's hospital.

Whitcomb lost consciousness for a while, but came to before reaching the hospital and realized all that was going on up to the time that the operation for the removal of the injured members was begun. He talked rationally with the surgeons regarding the ordeal, and asked that his wife be sent for. She was found at her rooming house, 254 south West Temple, and went immediately to her husband's bedside, where she remained during the night.

It became necessary to amputate the right leg above the knee, so badly were the bones crushed. The other leg was removed between the ankle and knee. Whitcomb displayed commendable courage throughout the entire ordeal. He is 29 years of age and has resided in Salt Lake about a year. He is a mechanic by profession, and is highly spoken of by his fellow workmen. His condition today is said to be very favorable for recovery. The fracture in his skull not being considered dangerous, and it is thought that his wonderful powers of endurance will prevent nervous collapse.

After the arrival of Whitcomb at the hospital it was found that one of his legs was missing. Officer Taylor went to the place where the accident happened, secured the member and took it to police headquarters.

CESSATION OF RECLAMATION

Work on Some Big Government Irrigation Propositions to Be Held Up.

HE ALSO FRACTURES SKULL.

Utah's Big Undertaking, However,
Seems Not to Be Included in the Retrenchment Order.

The word that comes from Washington, D. C., to the effect that there is to be at least a temporary cessation of work on some of the projects for the reclamation of arid lands brings disappointment to many people of the west, who had hoped that the ventures that mean so much to the country at large would be rapidly pushed to completion.

To those who are interested in the subject, however, the action of the department of the interior does not mean that the Strawberry valley and a few other undertakings, that are already well under way, will be in the least interfered with or hindered.

SENATOR SUTHERLAND'S VIEW. Senator George Sutherland, when seen by the "News" today, said that he knew nothing of the intention of the department regarding the reclamation service, except what he had read in the papers. But he was not of the opinion that the reclamation project for that work had for the most part been made, and he believed that the plan was to be pushed to completion. He thought, however, that some of the other reservoirs and canals in adjacent states would be unfavorably affected by the change of policy are those barely begun, or in contemplation.

Senator Sutherland said further that if there was to be a cessation of the work of constructing the Strawberry project, every influence would be brought to bear to prevent a delay in the completion.

CARRIED TO COMPLETION. As an evidence that those directly interested in the Strawberry work do not apprehend that construction will be discontinued, Prof. George L. Swenson, chief engineer of the Strawberry project in this state, today said that work on the Strawberry project is progressing somewhat slowly, on account of the difficulties attendant upon winter weather and heavy snows throughout the country. "The tunnel is in about 1,000 feet at present," said Swenson, "and the work is progressing at the rate of about 200 feet per month. The road leading to the tunnel is in very bad shape, owing to the heavy snows, and the work has been somewhat unfavorable to the best progress of the work. However, bids on the water wheel power machinery have been opened, and the work will be resumed on the 22nd. The electrical machinery contract has already been awarded, and the work on the plant can be completed, and its construction has been authorized." Mr. Swenson said that the extension of the reclamation work outside of that already arranged for, would probably not be undertaken, on account of the small amount of money available for the Strawberry project, in his opinion would be carried to completion.

A quartet composed of Mrs. Lola Parr Smith, Miss Lila James, John James and Mr. Pratt, and Mrs. Smith and Mr. Pratt, rendered music, and the speakers were A. C. Glauque, Joseph E. Taylor, A. T. Christensen, Samuel W. Jenkins and Bishop George Deane, the latter presiding at the services.

CURED MEMORHAGES OF THE LUNGS. "Several years since my lungs were so badly affected that I could not move," writes A. M. Ake, of Wood, Ind. "I took treatment with several physicians without any benefit. I then started to take Foley's Honey and Tar, and my lungs are now as sound as a bell. I am now able to move about as usual." Write for a free trial bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar to J. C. Foley & Co., 111 N. Main St., St. Louis, Mo.

What will your rating be? WILL NOT GO TO PRESTON. The "get acquainted" excursion of the M. & M. association, planned for the 24th inst., will not go north of Logan, on account of the fact that this is considered the extreme limit for one day's travel. An invitation from Preston, Ida., was unfavorably considered by the board of directors last night, and it was decided that no excursion be run into Logan from Idaho points in order to let the people come in and see the world's fair.

The excursion now promises to be the largest ever run out of Salt Lake in the booster series, and the last one carried over 600 people. A large "gus club" has been organized, which will club, it declares, at every station till the people get "stuck on it." Recruits of the club are being secured in all directions, and an advertising feature, while many firms are preparing advertising banners and cards to scatter broadcast.

THE ORIGINAL. Foley & Co. Chicago, originated Honey and Tar as a throat and lung remedy, and on account of the great merit and regularity of Foley's Honey and Tar many imitations are offered for the general use. The genuine Foley's Honey and Tar is in a yellow package with the name "Foley's" in red letters. It is the best remedy for coughs and colds. Sold by F. J. Hill Drug Co.

TO OBLIGE THE LADIES.

New Car Rules Governing the Keeping Clear of Front Platforms.

The morning papers affect to "poke fun" at the new order of the Utah Light & Railway management relative to keeping passengers off the front platform. Manager Wells says one object of this order was to allow more facilities for women to leave the cars, and avoid their being obliged to force their way through a crowd of men packed in there, many of whom are smoking cigarettes. To allow women to leave by the front platform, an order relative to the handling of gates was necessary; and that order in full is as follows:

"Front and rear gates on closed cars on the side between the tracks must always be kept closed and securely fastened (when running on the road). On open cars the guard chains and guard rails must be kept fastened on the side between the tracks.

In other words all gates, guard chains and guard rails must be kept closed and fastened on the side between the tracks. The conductor and motorman, both facing the direction in which the car is running. On and after April 14 in addition to the rear gate to the right of the conductor when facing the direction in which the car is running, being open for the loading and unloading of passengers, the front gate to the left of the conductor must be kept closed and fastened. On open cars no change is necessary as passengers are allowed to enter or leave from any part of the car.

This rule applies at all times except when running on track located in close proximity to a building on the right of the track, facing the direction in which the car is running, in which case the regular practice will be reversed. Passengers and employees not allowed on front platform except when car is crowded.
